BARK SAILS INTO SAUSALITO

Marinites awoke today thinking the Balcutha had returned from San Francisco to Sausalito, but it was the three-masted bark, Carthaginian, which sailed in last night from Honolulu. The black-hulled vessel used in the movie, "Hawaii," ran into anchorage problems, however. Madden and Lewis yacht harbor said the ship could not tie up at their pilings because she draws nine feet. The Army Corps of Engineers said she couldn't stay in their waters. All agreed, "she's a beauty!"

McNamara Sees More Viet Strife

Hanoi's Plotting Blasted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara predicted today that more internal political turmoil probably is ahead in South Viet Nam.

He told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that Viet Nam, like other underdeveloped nations, is undergoing "a period of birth pians.

McNamara said American troops would not be used to try to stop the Communist Viet Cong if they seek peacefully to participated in upcoming elections.

But he said it was "not conceivable to me that the Viet Cong will try to participate."

FREE ELECTION

He added that the American goal in Viet Nam is to let the people choose the kind of political and economic institutions they want, even if the Vietnamese choose some form of government "other than democratic."

The defense secretary's discussion of the Vietnamese political situation was prompted by a complaint by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, that government instability in Viet Nam is confusing to Americans already concerned about the war there.

HANOI ROLE

Earlier, McNamara said Communist forces in South Viet Nam are taking their orders "not only day to day but hour to hour" from Hanoi.

The Vietnamese war, he said, stems from flagrant Communist aggression and intervention.

He offered that description of the Asian struggle after chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., asked whether U.S. treaty commitments cover intervention in a civil war.

McNamara said if Fulbright was implying the Vietnamese struggle is a civil war "I strongly dissent.

FLAGRANT CASE

"That is one of the most flagrant cases of outside intervention and outside aggression in the past decade."

McNamara said that before U.S. combat troops were sent into South Viet Nam thousands of Communist North Vietnamese had infiltrated into the South.

Today, McNamara said, 20,000 or more North Vietnamese

Dixie School Tax Increase Voted

Voters in the Dixie School District yesterday approved by 1,621 to 1,023 a proposed 90-cent increase in the district's general purpose operating tax limit to permit a levy of $3.35 per $100 assessed valuation in this category.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis reported that it was a turnout of 38 per cent. He said this was "good for this kind of election."

The measure, needing only a simple majority for approval, carried at all but two of the 10 polling places.

The total district tax next fiscal year will go from $3.125 to $4.025 per $100 assessed valuation. This will include over-ride taxes and payments on loans and bonds.

Trustees asked for the increase to maintain the present level of education, particularly class sizes, and to cover maintenance and build up reserves.

Voters in the Don Timoteo School precinct were against the tax increase 119-117. In the Mary E. Silveira School precinct, they were against it 154-78.

Total unofficial vote reported by Willis today included absentee ballots. There were 14 absentees in favor and 10 against.

The total at other precincts, all in favor, was:

Bernard Hoffman School, 176-127; Dixie School, 249-69; Lucas Valley School, 218-72; Miller Creek School, 109-93; Nova Albion School, 136-78; Santa Margarita School, 252-119; Vallecito School, 39-32, and Terra Linda Recreation Center, 233-149.

West Marin School Bonds Given Nod

Voters in the West Marin School District yesterday overwhelmingly approved a $246,000 bond issue to provide a library and four classrooms at West Marin School.

Unofficial vote total was 428 for the measure and 79 against, which meant that slightly more than 84 per cent of those voting favored the bond. A two-thirds majority was needed for passage.

Supt. Howard F. Brose said 62 per cent of those registered turned out for the special election.

Voting was held at the Inverness and Point Reyes Station firehouses, with two precincts in each location. Voters in Inverness—who traditionally tend to be against such proposals—cast 209 votes for the bond issue and 43 against. In Point Reyes Station, the vote was 219 for, 36 against.

Legislators' Pay Increase Faces Delay

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie today dropped his legislative pay bill, then immediately submitted a new measure designed to insure that no lawmaker gets a pay boost this year.

Waldie, D-Antioch, said the new bill makes sure that if the public approves a constitutional amendment now pending before the Senate, a pay hike can't go into effect until Jan. 1, 1967.

Both the original and new bills would triple lawmakers' pay to $18,000 a year. But critics claimed the first measure would have gone into effect in November of this year, providing a $2,000 cash windfall to legislators this year.

On Tuesday, the Senate Rules Committee changed the constitutional amendment to make sure the pay raise wouldn't go into operation before next year.

Reapportionment Bill Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to undo the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote ruling in apportionment of state legislatures failed today to win Senate approval.

The Supreme Court ruled 6-3 in June, 1964, that both houses of a state legislature must be apportioned on the basis of population.

The amendment proposed by Sen. Everett M. Dirkson, R-Ill., would have permitted geography and political subdivisions, in addition to population, to be taken into account in apportioning one house if a majority of the votiers approved in a statewide referendum.

State Worker Bonus Expected

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Routine Assembly acceptance of amendments and Governor Brown's signature were the only obstacles left today for a bill giving state clerical workers a pay bonus.

The measure, passed once by the Assembly, cleared the Senate unanimously yesterday.

It allocates $914,200 for 27,000 employees of the state whose pay lags behind private industry. It is retroactive to April 1. The employees also will get a pay boost on July 1, along with most other state workers.

County Board Expands Minority Hiring Staff

Marin County supervisors yesterday authorized hiring of another employment councelor and a stenographer to help find jobs for minorities.

The action cut recommendation of County Administrator Alan Bruce by more than half, putting the annual cost at $21,479 rather than the $54,376 Bruce estimated for another counselor, two employment aides and a senior administrative analyst.

The board's reluctance stemmed partly from the report Monday by community relations director Walter Bremond that Marin City High School dropouts would not work for $1.25 an hour. He held up a Neighborhood Job Corps application on his own initiative because it called for such pay.

"I think it's a disgrace," Supervisor William A. Gnoss said. "I used to work for a dollar a day."

"I believe the draft board might find them jobs," Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said. "It would be about the same pay."

Kettenhofen said he was going to recommend some "pretty drastic" changes in the program and did not want to see the board locked in with anything as extensive as Bruce proposed.

Monday, the board turned down the administrator's proposed department of community services which would have included fining jobs for minorities and the work training program now under the social serviecs department.

In yesterday's action, employment counselor Marjorie Ward, hired to help find jobs for minorities soon after the board of supervisors adopted a clause in the Hall of Justice contract calling for cooperation in minority hire, was transferred from social services to the personnel department. This loses the county a federal subvention of 75 per cent of her salary.

Supervisors yesterday agreed that a 50 per cent unemployment figure earlier given for Marin City was not valid. Board Chairman Byron W. Leydecker said a Congress of Racial Equality survey showed 53 per cent unemployed "among those interviewed."

Alcoholism Held A Major Disease

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Health, Education and Welfare Department ranks alcoholism with cancer, heart disease and mental illness as one of the nation's four major health problems.

This was revealed in testimony today before a House Appropriations subcommittee by officials backing a $7 million 1967 budget request for programs on alcoholism.

They said there are nearly 5 million alcoholics in the United States, with 200,000 new cases each year. About 2 million of these are job holders. Officials testified wages lost to alcoholism total some $2.5 billion annually.

Former Marin Doctor Faces Theft Charge

A former Novato pediatrician was charged today with swindling the County of Marin by over-billing for county-referred patients and charging for medical services never given.

The complaint, filed by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, charges Dr. Henry Chaker, 33, with one count of grand theft of over $200 from the county, and three counts of presenting false claims to defraud the county.

Bales said the doctor, who had his offices at 1305 Grant Avenue, Novato, for two years but apparently left the county on March 21, may have swindled the county and private patients of "several thousand dollars."

He said investigation revealed that Dr. Chaker, believed to now be in the Lake Tahoe area, reportedly had a monthly income of from $5,000 to $7,000, while practicing in Marin County.

According to Bales, Dr. Chaker, a bachelor from Lebanon, obtained county-referred patients from the Marin Medical Department. He allegedly padded those patients' bills, adding professional visits which were never made, and instructed his office to automatically bill every such patient for a $4 "throat culture," whether he received it or not.

Bales said investigators determined that Dr. Chaker did not even have "throat culture" medical equipment in his office.

He said investigation started when a private patient complained to the State Department of Professional and Vocational Standards that he was over-billed. That office notified Bales' office.

Bales said the swindles allegedly occurred from June 1965, to last month, and that the false claims were for services rendered Jan. 21 and 28; and Feb. 1, 14 and 25, all of this year.

He said Dr. Chaker took medi-

South Vietnamese youths broke up an American pacifist news conference in Saigon today; a Buddhist leader charged that the military government was plotting to renege on its promise to set up civilian rule; guerrillas made a hit-run attack on U.S. airbase in the central highlands, and U.S. jets eluded four Soviet-built missiles while bombing near Hanoi, North Viet Nam.

Meanwhile, Roman Catholics in Da Nang demonstrated against the Buddhists, and terrorist struck the third time in a week, hurling a hand grenade against an American billet. In Los Angeles, a South Vietnamese diplomat said his countrymen at present oppose bombing Hanoi itself.

Angry Vietnamese youths hurled rotten eggs today at a group of six American Pacfists, broke up their scheduled news conference and told them to leave the country. The anti-war group blamed the government for the outburst.

Bradford Lyttle, chairman of the New England Committee for Non Violent Action (CNVA), said the government alerted the students, gave them access to the public address system and "even had microphones set up for them.

"At the (news) conference we saw nothing but totalitarianism and violence and all of the things that Americans should not be supporting throughout the world," he said.

Buddhist leader Thich Thien Minh told a rally of 10,000 of his faithful tonight the government was plotting to stay in power prevent return to civilian rule. It appeared the current truce with the government might be short lived.

In Da Nang, more than 2,000 Roman Catholics held an anti-Buddhist demonstration, adding fears of a religious strife to the already tangled political crisis.

The developments raised fears of another bloody religious war like the Buddhist-Catholic conflict of 1963 which was touched off by civilian incidents.

U.S. jets dodged Russian-made antiaircraft missiles and struck into North Viet Nam's industrial heart for the third straight day. They knocked out a vital highway bridge only 10 miles from Haiphong in the closest strike of the year to the vital Communist port.

Braden 'Guts' Slogan Rapped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The campaign posters of Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor Thomas Braden, which show his picture and the single word "guts," fail to impress James W. Halley, vice chairman of the GOP State Central Committee.

Halley said yesterday that the billboards "strike a new tone in California political advertising."

Halley added that if Braden "had the guts he says he has he would have run against (Superintendent of Public Instruction) Max Rafferty and "taken his beating like a man."

Braden is chairman of the California Board of Education and is a frequent critic of Rafferty.

South Vietnamese youths broke up an American pacifist news conference in Saigon today; a Buddhist leader charged that the military government was plotting to renege on its promise to set up civilian rule; guerrillas made a hit-run attack on U.S. airbase in the central highlands, and U.S. jets eluded four Soviet-built missiles while bombing near Hanoi, North Viet Nam.

Meanwhile, Roman Catholics in Da Nang demonstrated against the Buddhists, and terrorist struck the third time in a week, hurling a hand grenade against an American billet. In Los Angeles, a South Vietnamese diplomat said his countrymen at present oppose bombing Hanoi itself.

Angry Vietnamese youths hurled rotten eggs today at a group of six American Pacfists, broke up their scheduled news conference and told them to leave the country. The anti-war group blamed the government for the outburst.

Bradford Lyttle, chairman of the New England Committee for Non Violent Action (CNVA), said the government alerted the students, gave them access to the public address system and "even had microphones set up for them.

"At the (news) conference we saw nothing but totalitarianism and violence and all of the things that Americans should not be supporting throughout the world," he said.

Buddhist leader Thich Thien Minh told a rally of 10,000 of his faithful tonight the government was plotting to stay in power prevent return to civilian rule. It appeared the current truce with the government might be short lived.

In Da Nang, more than 2,000 Roman Catholics held an anti-Buddhist demonstration, adding fears of a religious strife to the already tangled political crisis.

The developments raised fears of another bloody religious war like the Buddhist-Catholic conflict of 1963 which was touched off by civilian incidents.

U.S. jets dodged Russian-made antiaircraft missiles and struck into North Viet Nam's industrial heart for the third straight day. They knocked out a vital highway bridge only 10 miles from Haiphong in the closest strike of the year to the vital Communist port.

U.S. officials said today the Navy A4 Skyhawks from the USS Ticonderoga sighted four

Braden 'Guts' Slogan Rapped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The campaign posters of Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor Thomas Braden, which show his picture and the single word "guts," fail to impress James W. Halley, vice chairman of the GOP State Central Committee.

Halley said yesterday that the billboards "strike a new tone in California political advertising."

Halley added that if Braden "had the guts he says he has he would have run against (Superintendent of Public Instruction) Max Rafferty and "taken his beating like a man."

Braden is chairman of the California Board of Education and is a frequent critic of Rafferty.

GLIDER MODEL—This is a model of a new Air Force space glider set to launch in November to lead the way for future manned spacecraft able to land at airports on returns from orbit. Plans were unveiled yesterday at Cape Kennedy, Fla. (UPI Telephoto)

Air Force Plans To Test Glider To Return Spacemen To Earth

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Air Force plans to rocket a miniature space glider 100 miles high in November for a soaring sweep back to earth in a preview of returns for manned spaceships of the future.

Four scientists took the wraps off the 80-inch, 890-pound delta-shaped craft yesterday in a highly detailed paper presented to a space conference of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

The Martin Co., is building four of the gliders for an Air Force program called Prime. It is designed to lead the way toward development of larger craft that one day may enable astronauts to land at jetports on return from space.

"This program is expected to produce technology that could be applicable to manned, maneuverable re-entry," the scientists said. They pointed out that the glider's flight will simulate conditions that would be encountered on a return from low earth orbit.

Such craft, called "lifting to produce lift like an airplane in earth's atmosphere, would do away with costly ocean recovery fleets like those now needed for present manned spacecraft with little maneuvering ability.

As a bonus, the paper said, "these vehicles are potentially reusable with minimum refurbishment and are economical, reliable and have growth potential in payload capability and size."

Pauling Libel Suit Dismissed

NEW YORK (UPI) —State Supreme Court Justice Samuel J. Silverman yesterday threw out Nobel Prize winner Linus Pauling's $1 million libel suit against William F. Buckley Jr., editor of the magazine National Review.

Pauling had based his suit on two articles in the National Review, one of which had referred to him as a "fellow-traveler."

The six-week trial put in direct confrontation two of the country's leading exponents of the liberal and conservative viewpoints. Pauling has been awarded Nobel prizes for biochemistry and for peace. Buckley ran for mayor of New York City on the conservative party ticket in 1965.

Silverman based his decision on a U.S. Supreme Court ruling which held that public officials are limited in recovering damages for libel unless they can prove actual malice or reckless disregard of the truth. In effect, he extended the ruling to cover public figures as well as public officials.

"It is clear that, if any private citizen has, by his conduct, made himself a public figure engaged voluntarily in public discussion of matters of grave public concern and controversy, Dr. Pauling has done so," Silverman said in his 13-page decision.

Without ruling on the truth of the National Review article, Silverman found Pauling had failed to prove that there had been reckless disregard of whether the article was false or not.

Comedian Sentenced On Heroin Charge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Comedian Lenny Bruce drew a one-year suspended county jail sentence, two years' probation and a $250 fine Monday on his conviction for possession of heroin.

Bruce's attorney said he would appeal the sentence.

Lower Lark Fares Are Proposed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The State Public Utilities Commission's staff recommended yesterday that the Southern Pacific Co. trim fares and increase service on its Lark trains.

Urging that the commission reject S. P.'s plea to discontinue the night trains between San Francisco and Los Angeles, the staff urged that the fare be cut to a flat $10. The far is now $12.50 in coaches and $22 in first class cars.

The trim would make S. P.'s rail fare less than plane fare and equal to bus fare.

Its report also urged the commission to reject S. P.'s petition to discontinue train service between Bakersfield and Los Angeles on its San Joaquin line.

Floods Kill Eight

TEHERAN, Iran (UPI) — Flash floods in Iraq yesterday killed eight persons and left hundreds homeless. A government spokesman said many cattle and sheep were killed and farmlands extensively damaged.

Lynch Hails Colorado River Water Accords

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California has reached agreements settling the historic controversy over the Colorado River with upper and lower basin states, state Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch said today. He called this "a monumental achievement."

But, he warned, final solution to the southwest's water shortages depends on reaching an accord with the Pacific Northwest and this is encountering stubborn resistance.

Settlement among the Colorado River states in the last 16 months has put the "spotlight on the last great inter-regional water controversy—the Columbia River Basin versus the Colorado River Basin," Lynch told the annual conference of the Irrigation Districts Assn. in San Francisco.

Lynch said the Northwest continues to oppose congressional authorization of a western regional water study, despite agreement among the Colorado River water states including California to amendments which could protect water supplies in the areas and states of origin.

"I serve notice today," Lynch said, "that California will resist any attempt to misuse the proposed National Water Commission to delay the crucial western regional study now pending in Congress."

Lynch said:

"California needs water for existing projects.

"Arizona needs water to preserve an economy built on ground water overdrafts.

"We all need water to permit the government to fill and operate Lake Powell and Lake Mead as conceived and planned."

Lynch urged that proposals to bring West Texas into the Colorado River Basin be dropped.

Farm Cash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cash receipts from farm marketings this year probably will be about $2 billion higher than the $38 billion estimated for 1965, the agriculture department said today.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Given Death

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Two Iranian Communist leaders were sentenced to death by an army tribunal today for plotting against the shah's regime. Parviz Hekmatjou and Ali Khavarian were caught at the border trying to cross into the Soviet Union with six other outlawed Communist party members. The other six were sentenced to prison terms.

Soldier Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon acknowledges that 30,000 or more U.S. soldiers may be withdrawn from Europe to help form new combat units in the United States and to train draftees and recruits. But the Defense Department stressed that the net reduction would not exceed 15,000.

Highway Miles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 41,000-mile interstate highway system, begun in 1956, is about half completed with 21,377 miles of the dual-lane, limited-access roads open to traffic as of March 31, Commerce Undersecretary Alan S. Boyd said yesterday.

Paris Strike

PARIS (AP) — Lights went out and gas pressure went down today as Frenchmen struggled through their second 24-hour gas and electric strike within a month. Tomorrow transport workers will strike for 48 hours. All want more pay.

Temperature Range

NEW YORK (UPI) —The highest temperature reported yesterday to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Hawaii and Alaska, was 98 degrees at McAllen, Tex. The lowest reported this morning was 4 below zero at Casper, Wyo.

Rejects Offer

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Juan Bosch has rejected the Castroite 14th of June Movement's offer to back him in the presidential elections if he agreed to reject all U.S. aid. The movement's estimated 25,000 votes would only harm the interests of his Dominican Republican party, Bosch said. The election is scheduled for June 1.

Drug Prohibition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has prohibited drug manufacturers from claiming products containing nitrates or nitrites are effective for any heart condition other than angina pectoris. Officials said 180 manufacturers produce one or more of the products, known as "coronary vasolidators."

Wreath In Warsaw

WARSAW (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador John A. Gronouski yesterday laid a wreath at a ghetto monument here on the 23rd anniversary of the Jewish uprising against German occupation forces in 1943. Similar wreaths were laid by Polish organizations and by Israeli embassy officials.

Defense Apathy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States' civil defense program is encountering increased public apathy. Citizen concern has not escalated to match the pace of the Viet Nam war. Administration aides said public interest has sagged steadily since the 1962 Cuban missle showdown.

Space Signals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency says its little Pioneer 6 spacecraft, launched last Dec. 16, is returning information over millions of miles which will help predict outbursts of solar radiation dangerous to future manned flights.

Auto Smog Curb Passes One Test

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly's version of an auto exhaust smog control bill has cleared its first committee test on the way to the lower house floor.

The measure by Assemblyman Tom C. Carrell, D-San Fernando, was sent by the Assembly Transportation and Commerce Committee yesterday to the lower house Ways and Means Committee.

It would empower the state to require the exhaust device on 1955 and later used cars sold or transferred, if the Public Health Department determined that pollutants in a county had reached a dangerous level. The Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board would enforce the law.

Survey Says Park Would Help Economy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Del Norte County would be better off financially by 1975 if Redwood National Park becomes a reality, a research firm told the National Park Service yesterday.

President Johnson has endorsed creation of a 45,000-acre park in northwestern California, but the proposal is opposed by lumber companies.

"Before 1975, wages and salaries will be less if the park becomes a reality," the Arthur D. Little, Inc., report continued. "After that year, they will be higher with a park than without it" because of the money spent by tourists.

In 1983, the county's total unemployment would be 10,035 with the park or 8,370 without it, the firm predicted.

In 1973, there would be 7,660 employed with the park and 7,910 without it, the survey continued.

Having 10 per cent of its available lumber land removed from commercial use for the park would not seriously affect the county's tax returns, the survey said. It said federal grants and other aids for government-owned land yield more to a county than real estate taxes would.

The company predicted that by 1973 some 1.2 million persons would visit such a park. By 1983 the figure would be 2.5 million, it added.

Airlines Find More Cracked Boeing 707s

NEW YORK (AP) — Some hairline cracks in the tail assembly of Boeing 707 jets have been found as airlines around the world checked their 707s on orders from the Boeing Co. and the Federal Aviation Agency.

The checks were ordered after the second fatal crash involving 707s in six months—the March 5 crash of a British Overseas Airways Corp. 707 in Japan in which 124 persons were killed.

The Boeing Co. said in Seattle yesterday that hairline cracks were found in the plane that crashed in Japan. The cracks had nothing to do with the crash, the company said, and the cause of the tragedy has not been determined definitely.

The Boeing statement said minute cracks were caused by metal fatigue in some of its older planes, but none was dangerous.

A spokesman for Boeing said the inspection order sent to the airlines was "routine," and repair of the cracks is a minor operation.

State Body Discusses Work Furlough Idea

A work furlough program for state prison inmates was discussed by members of the Correctional Industries Commission meeting at the Marin County Civic Center today.

Robert Lawson, industries director, reported on the possible drop in prison time through the use of centers where a man could be gainfully employed.

Walter Dunbar, director of the State Department of Corrections, agreed the idea should be studied.

"It's our responsibility to be innovators," he said, but he warned, "We must move with care."

Also discussed by the commission today was the possibility that correctional industries take over dairies now operated by mental patients under the State Department of Hygiene. Correctional industries is also in the dairy business, selling milk back to the institutions.

Minority Races Get Mayor Posts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Negroes and a Chinese-American are among the newly elected mayors in Southern California.

The three, William D. Soo Hoo of Oxnard, DuBois McGee of El Centro, and Thomas Yarborough of Elsinore, were elected to their respective posts last night by their fellow councilmen.

Soo Hoo, 42, is the owner of a Chinese restaurant in Oxnard, and is starting his second four-year council term. He is believed to be the first mayor of Chinese ancestry in California.

McGee and Yarborough also are among the first of their race to be elected to mayoral positions.

McGee, 54, is manager of a credit union and is beginning his third four-year council term.

Yarborough, 58, a retired upholsterer, was first named to the city council 16 years ago.

Court Relents On Witness List Order

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court yesterday discharged an order for attorneys of murder suspects Jack R. Gorman and Marc Charles Osuna to show why they should not be held in contempt for not producing names of expected alibi witnesses for the May 9 trial.

The magistrate said here was no evidence that the attorneys, Jerome Durham, public defender, Thomas P. Boyd and Richard Tarrant, have such a list. He added, however, that if alibi witnesses are called by the defense in trial without their attorneys having supplied the prosecution with names and addresses beforehand, the contempt motion can be renewed.

Osuna and Gorman are charged with the murder on Labor Day of San Rafael bartender Mario Ferrari at the Mission Inn.

Man Fined In Alcohol Case

James R. Whiting, 29, of 75 Del Casa Drive, Mill Valley, was fined $110 and placed on two years probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for furnishing alcoholic beverage to a juvenile.

Two charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor were dismissed March 25 by Judge Peter Allen Smith on recommendation of the district attorney's office when Whiting pleaded guilty to the other charge.

Whiting was arrested Feb. 10 by Belvedere police who said he bought liquor for a 17-year-old youth at a dance. Five youths also were cited on charges of drunkenness and possession of alcoholic beverages.

Girl Is Pulled From Bridge Railing

A 17-year-old San Rafael girl was in emergency detention at San Francisco General Hospital today after she was pulled from the rail of the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday afternoon.

Highway patrol Officer Robert E. Borzone reported Carol King was taken from a midspan rail on the east side by bridge employees after motorists notified the toll plaza officers of her behavior. He said the girl had become depressed over family problems and had taken a bus to the bridge about 2 p.m.

Kennel Club Supports Pet Theft Crackdown

Letters urging passage of federal legislation cracking down on the pet theft racket will be sent to California congressmen and senators, and to the American Kennel Club, members of the Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club decided at a meeting last night in the courthouse in San Rafael.

Plans were completed for the club's annual "fun match" June 5 at St. Peter Channel Seminary, San Rafael.

Church Being Investigated On Finances

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The state attorney general's office is investigating the financial condition and background of the First Christian Church, which wants to put in a study institute and home development on the Brazil Ranch next to Mount Tamalpais State Park.

"I asked the attorney general to look into church organization and the many corporations affiliated with it," said Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael. "The attorney general said his office was already alerted to the matter."

The Brazil Ranch has been recommended by the State Division of Beaches and Parks for state acquisition to expand Mount Tamalpais State Park.

Bagley said he had asked officials of First Christian Church, by letter and by telephone, for a copy of the church's over-all development plan, but he has received no reply.

The First Christian Church was incorporated in 1964, with headquarters in Beverly Hills. Among its officials are James R. Blakeney, president of Consolidated Financial Corp., and Norman G. Booth, vice president.

Airman Robbed In Bar Visit

A 38-year-old airman, who stopped at a San Rafael bar for a final drink before leaving for Viet Nam, was drugged and robbed of his wallet, he told San Rafael police today.

Robert W. Berryhill of Florida, stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base en route to Viet Nam tomorrow, said he called in at the Patio Club, 869 Fourth Street last night and ordered a few beers.

He said he remembered nothing from 10 p.m. until waking up in the hallway at 881 Fourth Street about 5 a.m. today. A back pocket had been slashed and his wallet stolen.

Berryhill said he never drank anything stronger than beer and believed he had been drugged.

The wallet contained $60, his identity card, immunization records and his Geneva Convention card.

Annexation Talk Set By District

West Marin property owners will have a chance to protest a proposed major annexation to the North Marin County Water District at a meeting at 8 p.m. May 9 at the old Marshall School.

The water district board set the meeting date yesterday.

Board members were informed that the district's new offices will be ready for use May 2, rather than April 16 as earlier planned.

A monthly report to the board showed that water consumption in March jumped 14.3 per cent over the previous year, and the number of new customers increased 10.7 per cent.

Novato Car Clouter Steals Two Garments

A thief smashed the wing window of a parked car in the 600 block of Arthur Street in Novato yesterday, and took a sweater and coat from the rear seat, butane tanks which had lines auto, and used a cirgarette to burn the seat, Novato police reported.

Also missing from the auto of Edward B. Benedetti of 1105 Via Escondido, Ignacio, were the rear hubcaps.

Satellite Launched

MOSCOW (UPI) —The Soviet Union today launched the 115th unmanned satellite in its Cosmos series, the Tass news agency announced.

fighting men are in South Viet Nam.

McNamara told the committee the nation's military strength is so great it has been possible to commit 325,000 men to the Viet Nam war without calling up Reservists or controlling the economy.

"Never has any other nation —never has the United States — carried such great military strength with so little burden on its society."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said today that a "disasterous management decision" by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has led to a ship shortage that is hampering the Viet Nam war effort.

Ford told a news conference he stood "forthrightly" behind his statement last week that the administration is guilty of "shocking mismanagement" in running the war. His Senate counterpart, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Tuesday that the Ford charge "went pretty far."

Ford brushed aside questions by newsmen about Dirksen's remarks and said he and the GOP Senate leader would meet on the subject within the next day or two.

"Much of the present problem is attributable to the fact that several years ago Secretary of Defense McNamara decided that he could reduce the role of ships in the defense picture," the GOP statement said.

Homeowners Want Utilities Underground

Members of the Marin Country Club Estates Homeowners Assn. last night voted to ask help from the State Public Utilities Commission and the City of Novato in having electrical and telephone lines pput underground in the subdivision.

The city now requires undergrounding for all new subdivisions, but Marin Country Club Estates was built before that ordinance was adopted.

The members, at the association's quarterly meeting, also voted to spend $125 on landscaping a miniature vista park in an open space on Fairway Drive, after they learned Mrs. J. B. Rice had offered to donate a California spruce in memory of her late husband

Before the meeting, John F. Musser, assistant county clerk in charge of elections, demonstrated use of the county's new voting device, to be used in the June 7 election.

Mrs. Mary Johnson, twilight golf chairman, announced golf tournaments, followed by dinners, would be held the last Friday of each month, May 27 through September.

Scuffle Results In Fine, Probation

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court yesterday placed Russell E. Fabian, 23, of 407 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, on two years probation and fined him $83 for malicious mischief and battery on a San Rafael police officer Jan. 1.

Fabian broke a car window in the 700 block of Fourth Street in San Rafael, then scuffled with San Rafael Patrolman Terrance Lucchesi. He pleaded guilty to both counts March 22.

Marin Poodle Wins

Champion Wycliffe Dudley, black standard poodle owned by Charles S. Wills of 578 Virginia Drive, Tiburon, won best of variety honors at the Sacramento Kennel Club dog show Sunday.

WAR

surfave-to-air missiles streaking through the air toward them as they made their low-level bombing runs late yesterday.

All returned safely, but a military spokesman said three other planes were shot down during the past three days while on raids in the North. One pilot was rescued, but the other two were missing and feared dead.

In the ground war, Viet Cong guerrillas staged a sneak attack on the An Khe airbase, home of the 1st Air Cavalry Division and the main U.S. air base in central South Viet Nam. About 15 guerrillas infiltrated the base's defense perimeter last night and opened up with machine guns. Other Viet Cong lobbed mortar shells from outside.

No one was injured, but two U.S. planes were destroyed.

South Korea's "Tiger Division" trapped a Viet Cong force near Tinh Hoa village about 10 miles north of Qui Nhon and killed 32 guerrillas in what a spokesman called "face-to-face" fighting.

While the U.S. jets edged closer to Haiphong, giant B52 bombers blasted a suspected Viet Cong infiltration and base camp only five miles south of the demilitarized zone dividing North and South Viet Nam. Results of the strike were not immediately known.

The majority of South Vietnamese people do not favor bombing Hanoi at this time, Vietnamese Ambassador to the U.S. Vu Van Thai said yesterday in Los Angeles.

Addressing Town Hall civic group, the Ambassador stated that there are a great many non-communists "caught" in the North Vietnamese capital and subsequently the U.S. should avoid air strikes against the city "unless it is necessary for our survival."

Terrorists in Saigon hurled a hand grenade at a U.S. military hotel last night. The explosion wounded four Vietnamese.

U.S. military police said two men on a motorbike hurled the grenade at the American armed guard outside the Illinois Hotel billet.

Sanitary Board Explains Annex

The Richardson Bay Sanitary District board last night met with several property owners on Sky Road in the Strawberry area to discuss possible annexation to the district.

Stanley G. Bennett, president, said the meeting was to inform the residents of the steps necessary to join. He said the board would meet with the owners at an adjourned meeting May 4 to discuss the matter further.

The district board also called for bids to be opened May 17 on construction of a 12,000-square foot maintenance shop at the Trestle Glen treatment plant, estimated to cost $20,000.

Firemen Save Sausalito Yacht

Fast action by Sausalito firemen was believed to have saved a 45-foot cabin cruiser, Sea Breeze, in Madden and Lewis Yacht Harbor last night.

Firemen received a call at 11:09 p.m. that the vessel, owned by Jack Harvey of Sausalito, was on fire. Firefighters cooled butane tanks which hd lines leading to the hot water heater, preventing the fire from spreading to the tanks.

Fire, caused by the overheated heater, caused $100 damage to a storage area.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY in the Heart of our County

Marin pioneers chose a site in the heart of our county as a final resting place for their families. Today this location—at the west end of Fifth Avenue in San Rafael—is still convenient to all Marin points.

Marinites who choose Mount Tamalpais do so with the assurance that its beauty will grow with the years. The interest from a quarter-million dollar endowment fund—twice the legal requirement—is dedicated to the constant care and improvement of this 57-acre site.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you wish to make your own final arrangements to spare others difficult decisions. If so, we invite your inquiry or a personal visit.

Hub Council Reverses On Rezoning

With three confused votes, the San Anselmo City Council last night decided not to rezone a lot at 20 Tamalpais Avenue from a commercial fire building zone to that for residential buildings.

Over the protest of the planning commission, councilmen had rezoned the lot the previous month from commercial to apartment residential. This required "fire zone one" protection.

Developers Hageman, Thomas and Eklund, Inc., of San Rafael said this would make a residential building impractical.

Fire Chief Frank Sousa said the lot is in the midst of a commercial area. He recommended the whole area be put in fire zone one.

Councilmen got confused over just what they were voting on, but on the third try, turned down the requested fire zone change, with Councilmen Woodrow V. Capurro and Arthur W. Smith voting for denial, Councilman Duane C. Ragan dissenting, and Mayor John M. Reichmuth and Councilman Robert M. Scott abstaining.

British Scientist Scoffs 'At UFOs

BOSTON (AP) — A leading British space scientist, Sir Bernard Lovell, says the current furor in the United States over unidentified flying objects is "incredible nonsense."

"The UFOS," he said last night, "are natural phenomena or hoaxes. The people who see them must be tremendous emotionalists."

Sir Bernard, director of the Jodrell Bank Observatory and here on a speaking tour, added:

"Besides, does it ever occur to them that we have sent up a lot of things and that some of them might be coming back, such as nose cones and rockets?

"Could anyone be seeing those?"

cal training at the College of London, in Egypt, and served as an intern at the French Hospital in San Francisco in 1959-61, and was a resident doctor at Kaiser Hospital in Vallejo prior to moving to Novato.

Dr. Chaker had staff medical privileges at Novato General Hospital. In 1964, he gained temporary staff privileges in San Rafael General Hospital for several months, according to Bales, but the privileges were dropped for failure to provide required medical references.

Bales said he would seek a warrant for the doctor's arrest this afternoon and request that $5,000 bail be set.

Inmate Convicted On Knife Charge

A Marin Superior Court jury took only 30 minutes deliberation yesterday to find Ruben Morales, San Quentin inmate, guilty of possession of a knife Aug. 7.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson scheduled sentencing May 16.

Morales, serving time for an Aug. 3, 1961, conviction in Fresno County for furnishing marijuana, began trial Monday. He fashioned a foot-long blade from a piece of metal, officers said.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony prosecuted. Morales was defended by Richard Breiner, representing the public defender's office.

Mill Valley Pupils To Hear Musicians

There will be two special school assemblies for Mill Valley School District pupils in connection with Public Schools Week, which starts Monday.

The Pacific Dance Guild, Mill Valley branch, will present Dick Ford and his accompanist, Le Roy Miller, for first through third graders of Strawberry Point, Alto and Park schools at 9:30 a.m., Monday, at Park School. On May 2 there will be a similar program at Old Mill School for Old Mill, Marin Terrace, Tamalpais Valley and Homestead Valley school children.

OBITUARIES

Joseph E. Ridder Dies At 80

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Joseph E. Ridder, 80, chairman of the board of Ridder Publications, died at his home here early today. He had been ill for more than a year.

Born in New York City, April 4, 1886, Ridder was one of the designers of the Intertype composing machine, and formerly was publisher of the Journal of Commerce, New York.

Joseph Ridder joined his brothers, Bernard and Victor, in management of the Staats-Zeitung, New York, upon the death of their father, Herman Ridder, in 1915.

Corte Madera Seeks Beautification Funds

The Corte Madera Town Council last night agreed to seek federal funds to get an urban beautification program underway.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher estimated projects undertaken in the first year would cost $83,537; with the federal share $35,362.

A "good share" of the cost to Corte Madera would be in the use of the town's labor force, Usher said.

Among projects contemplated in a three-year program are completion of the town park, landscaping around the public safety substation east of Highway 101 and the civic center and of islands on Paradise Drive, and a scenic path along Corte Madera Avenue from the old sector of town to the top of Corte Madera Grade.

Usher said the town must apply for federal funds each year. He estimated the projects would cost $70,000 in the second year and $71,000 in the third year.

He described the program as work that would be done by the city eventually, but can be done sooner with the aid of federal funds.

Usher said the program could run to five years, including tree planting along streets.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

1. Introduced a 25-page amendment to the town zoning ordinance including changes in sign regulations, non-conforming lots and accessory structures and uses in various districts, and set May 2 at 8 p.m. for a public hearing on it.
2. Set for May 2 at 8:30 p.m., public hearing on an appeal by Ruth W. Beatty of planning commissione denial of rezoning of a 20,000 square foot lot at 35 Deer Run Road from single family to duplex.
3. Set for May 2 at 8 p.m. a public hearing on rezoning of three acres at the southwest corner of Conow Street and Casa Buena Drive from administrative-professional to highway commercial, as requested by the Chrysler Motor Corp. for an auto sales and service agency.
4. Rezoned a parcel south of the former McGraw-Hill Book Co. building from light industrial to highway commercial by a 4-0 vote, with new councilman Holmes S. Norville abstaining. The rezoning was requested by Belmar Investments Co. of Hillsborough.
5. Heard a report from Usher that there are tentative plans for dedication of the public safety substation on Paradise Drive at 2 p.m. May 7.
6. Set for April 25 at 7:30 p.m. a special meeting to consider the town employee salary schedule for fiscal 1967.
7. Authorized Police Sgt. David L. McIntosh to attend the California Peace Officers Assn. conference in Long Beach, May 1-4, at a cost of $200.

Sewer Woes Criticized In Kentfield

Directors of the Kentfield Civic League Monday night voted to ask the county public works department that something be done about waters which pop through manhole covers with nothing more than a high tide in the Berens Drive and McAllister Avenue area.

Eight families were evacuated from that area during the Jan. 4 and 5 flooding in Kentfield and Larkspur.

Directors also voted to ask that a ditch along McAllister Avenue be covered and a sidewalk placed there for children walking to and from Wolfe Grade School. They also asked for more street sweeping along College Avenue.

Directors voted to hold a regular meeting on the first Monday of each month, Secretary Kenneth L. Wiltz reported.

Valuable Whistler Masterpiece Harmed

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI) — The director of the Glasgow Municipal Art Gallery said Monday a vandal had slightly damaged a portrait by the 19th century American painter James Whistler valued at $28,000.

Dr. Stewart Henderson said that as a result, all of the gallery's valuable oils would be encased in glass to protect them from damage of this sort.

Stop Signs Asked To Halt Speeding

Residents of winding, hilly Corte Madera Avenue asked the Corte Madera Town Council last night to take steps to halt speeding and other traffic violations along the avenue.

A petition submitted by George Bloeser, secretary-treasurer of the Corte Madera Avenue Home Owners Assn., with 44 signatures asked more traffic patrols along the avenue.

Petitioners also suggested that center line "buttons" be placed along the roadway, that there be striping along the side to regulate parking and that there be use of radar to catch speeders.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher reported that the city doesn't have enough police manpower to increase patrols, or man radar.

There is money in the fiscal 1967 budget for center line "buttons" for the roadway, and striping along the sides is planned, he said.

The pedestrian problem won't be solved until there is a pathway or a roadway constructed, Usher said. The city is contemplating a pathway from the old sector of town to the top of the Corte Madera Grade in a long-range beautification program, he reported.

Council members agreed to look into the possibility of lowering the 25-mile speed limit along the avenue.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said, "Twenty-five miles an hour may be too fast for that road."

Peter Belden, association president, said residents in the area could take a survey to determine when the worst periods of speeding occur, and report their findings to the city. Councilmen agreed this would be a help.

Jack Haehl, association member, said, "This is a woefully undermanned police force." He said there was an accident on the hill last month and no police officer arrived for a half hour.

Councilmen asked Usher to check out the reason for the delay.

Usher said sometimes the city has only one police car out and other times two cars are out.

The council also got a petition with 34 signatures requesting a stop sign at Sausalito Street and Sunnyside Avenue.

After some discussion, councilmen instead authorized a yield sign on Sunnyside Avenue, at the northeast corner of the intersection.

Eastern Railroads Hard Hit By Continuing Coal Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Railroads say they have lost millions of dollars since the soft coal strike began 10 days ago.

"The coal industry is our biggest customer," explained a spokesman for the Pennsylvania Railroad yesterday who said his firm was hauling only 70 per cent of its normal 100,000 tons of coal per day.

Hundreds of train crewmen have been idled by this strike, he said. During a firemen's strike last month, the Pennsylvania lost $300,000 a day in revenue, he added.

Major industrial users of soft coal, with their minimum 30-day stockpiles, said the strike had not yet affected their operations. Steel companies and electric power companies are big users of coal.

The glacial scenery which we see was produced by the last ice advance which destroyed much of the evidence of the previous ones.

RED TAG DAYS

TAKE IT AWAY ON RED TAG DAYS

It's a big hoist for bargains and a big lift for shoppers during San Rafael's Red Tag Days, tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. Merchant Jack Marshall gives the "take-it-away" sign while Lois Sens steadies the big package, representing the heavyweight bargain to be offered at participating stores during the all-around-the-town sale. Red Tag Days is a semi-annual bargain event sponsored by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce. Today's Independent-Journal contains a Red Tag Days section advertising value being offered.

Roads Debate Sidetracks Rezoning Vote

A much-debated request for apartment zoning on 10 lots on the west side of Merrydale Road in Los Ranchitos was debated again before county supervisors for two hours yesterday, then sent back again to the county planning commission.

This time supervisors want to know if a motel might be a better use for the property than apartments.

Several weeks ago, supervisors held up the rezoning from single family to multiple residential pending completion of a study on revisions in Las Gallinas general plan. The revisions, presented the board yesterday, were nothing more than the proposed extension of Merrydale Road to link with Los Ranchitos Road north of Mount Olivet Cemetery, and extension northward of the frontage road along the east side of Highway 101.

LEYDECKER AGAINST

Supervisors approved these over the dissent of Chairman Byron W. Leydecker, who argued the changes would "lock in" state plans for interchange farther south at San Pedro Road.

State plans now show off and on ramp serving Merrydale north of San Pedro Road. William Pator, president of the Rafael Meadows Improvement Assn., told the board this would require two left turns against traffic to reach the Civic Center from southbound lanes of the highway.

NO CLOVERLEAF

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said that a cloverleaf to provide Civic Center access from that direction is not feasible because of the grades required. He said Los Ranchitos Road will eventually be extended under state plans so that it will give local traffic access to San Rafael without getting onto the highway. The road will cross over Puerto Suello hill, parallel to the highway.

Leydecker said he was "very disappointed" that the plan revisions did not provide a "framework" for consideration of the zone change request.

It was Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen who sugegsted the property might be better suited for a motel. This succeeded in bringing the debate to an end with the request that the planning commission study the motel idea.

Boxing Age May Be Lowered

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Another try was scheduled for late today at winning approval of a measure that would allow boys 16 years old to compete in next year's National Amateur Athletic Union boxing championships in San Diego.

The bill got a 16-12 favorable vote in the Senate yesterday, but that was five short of the 21-vote majority needed.

The sponsor received permission to try again for passage. California's legal amateur boxing age is 18. The bill wouldn't lower that, but would let any boxer who can fight in his home state at 16 take part in the California event.

Board Sets Hearings On Home Fire Safety

Marin County supervisors yesterday scheduled a hearing for May 10 on a proposed revision in the county building code which will require non-combustible backing on partitions less than half an inch thick.

The change was recommended by Hans J. Berge, the county's chief building inspector. He was asked to study the code after a fire March 22 which killed 7-year-old Rebecca Ellen Fong in her Lucas Valley home.

Supervisors also set for May 10 a hearing on a proposed revision in the code that will require electrical installations for swimming pools be done only by those holding an electrical license.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen told Berge he wanted information on "the many electrocutions" in California that Berge said had occurred due to faulty wiring. He wanted assurance that the law was not being changed just to favor licensed contractors.

Patrick Criticizes Brown For 'Practicing Waste'

"We are being taxed out of our homes by Pat Brown, who preaches economy and practices waste," William Penn Patrick of Tiburon told the Marin Federated Republican Women at a Corte Madera luncheon yesterday.

Describing the Republican Party as "the hope of California," the Marin cosmetics manufacturer called on Republicans to "nominate a candidate who is acceptable to the entire party."

Patrick is waging an uphill battle against Ronald Reagan and George Christopher for the Republican nomination for governor.

Patrick continued his blast at the Brown Administration this morning in a talk before the Sonoma County Federated Republican Women in Santa Rosa.

"We need business leadership in Sacramento, not professional politicians who cannot even balance a check book," he declared.

Youth Sentenced For Brant Club Burglary

Richard Warren Becker Jr., 20, was sentenced to 60 days in county jail and placed on two years probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court following his earlier plea of guilty to second degree burglary Feb. 16 of the Brant Club on Limantour Bay near Inverness.

Becker and Gerald David Flowers, 21, both of Spaletta Ranch 14 miles west of Inverness, were arrested Feb. 20 by sheriff's officers. Flowers pleaded innocent to three counts of burglary April 5. Jury trial is Sept. 12.

College To Present New Magazine

A magazine featuring human interest photographs of College of Marin instructors and students, on and off campus, will be published for the first time in May, according to its editor, Christine Lytle of Kentfield.

Mrs. Lytle, who said this marks the first attempt at a photo-journalism magazine by College of Marin students, is working with a staff of six. They are: Jackie McDermott of Corte Madera, Luisa Sofaer of Kentfield, Joan Miller of Larkspur, Allen Kelley of San Rafael, Raymond Valconesi of Tomales, and chief photographer Fred Lockett of Fairfax. College instructor Paul Miller is the magazine's adviser.

Rusk Ties Treaty Group Need To Red World Moves

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the Central Treaty Organization nations today their alliance is still needed because the Communists have not renounced world revolution.

"Although they differ among themselves, our adversaries have not renounced the Communist world revolution," Rusk said. "They are bent on destorying the type of world community framed in the charter of the United Nations.

"Indeed, some Communist leaders openly advocate the use of force for this purpose, as we have learned through bitter experience in Southeast Asia."

Rusk spoke at the opening session of a two-day conference of CENTO foreign ministers.

Seniors To See Films

Movies of the Orient will be shown at a senior men's stag night dinner for men over 50 years of age, sponsored by the Center Senior Advisory Board at the San Rafael Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets, at 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Motel Planned Near Heliport

A motel, coffee shop and cocktail lounge have been proposed on Richardson Bay near the present helicopter landing pad.

Application for architectural supervision under the county planning department was signed by Alexis Tellis of Commodore Aviation in San Francisco.

The motel is to be to the west of the present location of commodore Helicopters.

There would be two buildings, under plans drawn by architect Robert M. Ridgley and Associates of Encino. Closest to the frontage road would be the combination coffee shop and cocktail lounge.

Kansas, Illinois Towns Ripped By Tornadoes

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A cold and violent spring storm showed signs of weakening today after lashing portions of the West, northern Plains and the midlands. It brought snow, frost and freezing temperatures, hail, rain, strong winds and tornadoes that caused damage in excess of $1.5 million.

A residential section of Overland Park, Kan., a suburb just southwest of Kansas City, Mo., and the Valley View subdivision of Lombard, Ill., west of Chicago, suffered extensive damage from the tornadoes. Other tornadoes touched down in rural areas of north Iowa.

There were no deaths. Five persons suffered minor injuries.

In Washington, the cherry trees have bloomed before, during and after the National Cherry Blossom Festival, despite the use of a host of chemicals to inhibit, prolong or accelerate the flowering.

Novato Council Approves Pole Replacement Plans

The Novato City Council decided last night to replace seven wood utility poles with three wood poles in the area of the Diablo Avenue widening project between Highway 101 and Novato Boulevard.

Cost to the city will be $900.

The poles will have no crossarms; the six electrical wires and four telephone wires will be hung directly from the poles in a vertical line to reduce their bad appearance, city officials explained.

Councilmen heard that federal funds are not available to the city for development of Lions Club Park at Stafford Lake as the city does not own the land or have a long-term lease on it. Further study was asked to find if the owner, North Marin County Water District, might gain federal funds for park work.

An 135-year-old pear tree in Illinois still blooms and bears fruit.

Whiskey Branded Cancer Culprit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Smoking a pipe or cigars may increase the risk of mouth cancer, but if you drink whiskey straight you're really taking a chance, says a leading cancer researcher.

"Not all cancers of the mouth are due to tobacco," said Dr. Jens J. Pindborg, professor at Denmark's Royal Medical College.

"Smoking a pipe or a cigar increases the risk, but not so much as hard liquor. If you take six shots of whisky a day, it will increase 10 times the risk of mouth cancer."

Pinborg made the statements to newsmen Monday at the 96th annual meeting of the California Dental Assn.

Berkeley Cracks Down On Rallies

BERKELEY (AP) — Berkeley's city council formally declared yesterday that unauthorized public assemblies will not be tolerated. A Viet Nam Day Committee demonstration staged last week without a permit resulted in arrests and scuffling with police officers.

In aresolution the Council declared the requirement for parade or public meeting permits will be continued.

"If a permit is denied. . .or no permit is applied for, the police department shall enforce the applicable ordinances, using all necessary means," the resolution said.

Super-Agency Discussion Turns To Marin City-County Thoughts

Discussion of County Administrator Alan Bruce's proposal for a superagency to handle health and welfare services yesterday turned to something even more super for a few minutes: A City and County of Marin.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors was discussing the idea of calling in an outside consulting firm to study the superagency idea. Bruce was opposed. He said he had worked for such a firm in the past

But, he said, such a firm might be hired to draw up a model government of a combined city and county covering all of Marin County, "with clear instructions to maintain local control, and maybe enhance it."

"That's the best suggestion you ever made," said Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

Bruce said no more to explain how a single government for the county would increase local control, and discussion turned again to the superagency.

The proposal was offered by Bruce April 2, for a single county department to include the present six departments of social services (welfare, health, medical, community mental health, probation, and veterans services).

There would be a new department of community services to handle war on poverty and human relations. A citizens advisory commission would be established to recommend on policy for the new agency.

Leydecker said he wanted the agency to be studied by an outside group. Bruce said outsiders would spend most of their time learning what present employees already know.

Leydecker said he was enthusiastic, in general, about the idea of consolidating county departments, noting that Bruce now has about 30 persons reporting directly to him.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr warned, however, "If we're not careful, we can drift into something we don't want."

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen suggested three major county departments for "people, physical and fiscal matters"—each headed by an assistant county administrator.

Bruce said state law calling for elected officials made this impossible.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss suggested it would behoove the board to make haste slowly on any reorganization.

Personnel Rules Change Not Voted

The Marin County Personnel Commission yesterday came to no conclusions on proposal to extend the probationary period for county employees from six months to one year.

The proposal was put forth by County Administrator Alan Bruce, along with a suggestion that new employees go on the retirement plan at once rather than being made to wait until they complete the probationary period.

The commission will meet again to discuss the proposal May 10.

New York News Mergers Facing Union Difficulty

NEW YORK (AP)—Bertram W. Powers, president of New York Typographical Local 6, announced a breakdown in contract negotiations today and expressed the opinion that three merging newspapers would be unable to publish next Monday as scheduled.

Asked if the breakdown in the talks meant a strike against the new corporation on its first day of scheduled publication, Powers said: "There'll be no compositors working in the composing room."

No publisher representative was available for comment at the office of the Newspaper Publishers Assn. of New York City, where Powers reported to newsmen.

The newspapers planning to merge are the Herald Tribune, Journal-American and World-Telegram and Sun.

Powers talked with newsmen following a closed conference with the printers chapel, chairmen of the three newspapers. He reported to the chapel chairmen after an eight-hour session with publisher representatives.

He told the newsmen that efforts to reach agreement on a contract broke down over the union's key demand for additional severance pay for printers who lose their jobs in the merger. The printers' current contract provides for three weeks severance pay.

Spokesmen for all 10 unions in the newspaper industry here have said their members would not work without a contract with the new corporation. Negotiations affecting all 10 unions have been going on.

The automobile starter was patented in 1902.

Bay Napalm Plant Brings Protest, Ballot Demand

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — A citizen's group opposing napalm production says it has enough signatures for a referendum, but whether such an election will be held depends on the city council.

The city attorney said the city charter does not authorize a referendum election on city council approval of a plant lease.

The Redwood City Committee Against Napalm said Monday it had gathered between 3,100 and 3,200 signatures on the petition, although only 2,400 are needed for referendums.

United Technology Center, a division of United Aircraft Corp., subleased a plant in the city's industrial area from the Standard Oil Co. of California. UTC said it signed a government contract to produce 100 million pounds of napalm.

Dominican's Land Sought For School

The San Rafael Elementary School District has begun negotiating with the Dominican Sisters to buy enough land to put six new classrooms at Coleman School.

If the deal goes through, assistant supt. William C. Jordan has proposed that five classes of kindergarten, first and second grades be moved for a year to the new Bahia Vista School while the classrooms are being built.

The plan will probably come before the San Rafael Board of Education Tuesday night.

Jordan said construction would be completed in time to permit the five classes to return to the school a year from September. It would also allow the return of about 40 youngsters living in the Coleman School area who now go to San Pedro School.

The school now has 13 classrooms, but 35 of the present 517 pupils are housed in a portable sixth grade classroom. Jordan said he rejected a plan to erect three more portable classrooms so as to bring back the pupils from San Pedro. Projected enrollment would have climbed to 566 youngsters under such a plan, he said.

The three portables, however, would have interfered with construction of more permanent classrooms.

Thus, said Jordan, he will propose that a kindergarten, a second grade class and three first grade classes — complete with pupils, teachers and equipment — move to Bahia Vista next September.

While they were gone, enrollment at Coleman would drop to 466 pupils.

Jordan said the district has enough unsold bonds left from its last bond issue to build the six classrooms.

Civilian Is Honored

Harold W. Weddell of 268 Sausalito Street, Corte Madera, has received the Department of the Army outstanding performance award at the Presidio of San Francisco for his work as a communications advisor with the Sixth Army.

Senator Contends Cash Was A Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd has informed the Senate Ethics Committee that $100,000 raised at two dinners given for him was in the form of tax-free gifts and was not campaign funds, the Washington Post said today.

Associates of the Connecticut Democrat, the newspaper said, explained that Dodd takes the position that there is a legal distinction between a dinner designed to raise campaign funds and one to raise funds for a public official's personal use.

Campaign funds diverted to personal use are taxable as income. Money raised at a testimonial dinner is not taxable.

Dodd, who was unavailable for comment, reportedly received $54,000 from a dinner in 1961 and $47,000 from one in 1963. The Ethics Committee has been investigating charges by newspaper columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson that Dodd diverted campaign funds to his personal use.

Airman Sentenced On Robbery Charge

A/3 Kyle Robertson Shakesnider Jr., 18, was sentenced to four months in county jail and placed on three years probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court for robbery.

He had pleaded guilty March 28 to snatching the purse of Mrs. Lee Newman, 24 Latham Street, San Rafael, on Sept. 30. Shakesnider is stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Trial Date Set For Sausalitan

Jury trial for Marc Torvend Ford, 18, of Sausalito and San Francisco, was scheduled yesterday in Marin Superior Court for Sept. 19.

Ford is charged with attempted grand theft, receiving stolen property, and using stolen credit cards to obtain four automobile tires.

He was arrested Dec. 29 by San Rafael police.

County Officer Lists 16 Strep Infections

Cases of streptococcus infection in Marin County last week totalled 16 according to figures issued by Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Other communicable diseases reported were four cases of measles, three outbreaks of infectious, hepatitis and two of salmonella.

Silver Bullion Theft Ring Smashed By FBI

CHICAGO (UPI) —The Federal Bureau of Investigation has broken a ring of crime syndicate-connected road agents who specialized in hijacking silver bullion shipments. The thefts totaled more than $1 million.

The FBI said yesterday it had arrested 11 men in the Chicago area and one in Staten Island, N.Y. The agents were armed with federal indictments naming 18 men—the result of a painstaking two-year investigation.

The indictments, which charged kidnaping, theft and conspiracy, specifically involved the theft of $380,000 in silver bullion from a truck in La Grange, Ind., last Oct. 7 and the kidnap of the driver; the theft of $330,000 in silver bars in suburban Hillside, Ill.; and the hijacking of a truck containing $230,000 in silver in suburban Cicero, Ill., April 19, 1965.

Also covered in the indictments was the $104,000 theft of photography equipment Aug. 24, 1964, from a truck in Melrose Park, Ill.

The indicted men included Willie (Potatoes) Daddano, 53, Riverside, the reputed syndicate boss for Chicago's West Side; Ernest (Rocky) Infelice, 47, Melrose Park, a reputed syndicate hoodlum; John (Johnny the Bug) Varelli, 40, River Forest, a suspected syndicate muscleman; Morris (Mashie Baer), Saleko, 51, Chicago and a reputed lieutenant of Daddano, Albert (Lupi) Cardenas, 38, of near Elgin.

Michael J. (Mickey D.) d'Alessio, 53, described as a self-employed real estate dealer, was arrested at his home in Staten Island, N.Y. He was charged with conspiracy, allegedly in connection with helping dispose of stolen goods along the East Coast.

Foreign Car Defect List To Be Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff says foreign automobile manufacturers "with significant distribution" in the United States will be asked to supply a complete list of product defect warnings issued since 1960.

The Connecticut Democrat said the Senate executive reorganization subcommittee he heads is preparing the requests. American car makers have said they will comply with a similar request made by Ribicoff two weeks ago.

AIRPORT BOOSTERS ASK USE OF BASE

Committeeman Chides Chairman Over Rushing Ideas To County Supervisors

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Marin County Airport Commission last night gave its seal to a plan by chairman Benjamin R. Ostlind to seek top Air Force brass permission for the joint use of runways at Hamilton Air Force Base—the county's only all-weather airport.

This will not in any way affect plans going forward to improve and enlarge Marin County Airport at Novato. The county board of supervisors has given approval to improvements at the airport and matching funds are being sought from the Federal Aviation Agency.

Support for the chairman's parallel runway plan at Hamilton came after members had gently rapped his knuckles for talking to the supervisors about his project behind their backs.

Supervisors had heard arguments from Ostlind that joint use of runways at Hamilton "would be of equal benefit to the Air Force" and granted their permission for the commission to take further action.

Although commission members said they were in agreement with the joint-use idea in principle, they felt Ostlind should consult them in future before speaking in public in their name.

Said Richard Nave, "We're with you in this but we don't want you to say anything none of us can live with."

"We must work as a complete board. We must know what is going on," added David B. Vail.

Joseph W. Wright claimed some members had not seen the correspondence between Ostlind and the supervisors.

SLIGHT ARGUMENT

"You have to be with the commission or be without it," declared Nave.

Ostlind retorted, "I might just do that." He said that when he contacted the supervisors he was not aware he was doing something the commission had not already agreed on.

He added: "There is a long, hard, rough campaign ahead to get this thing through. I have been dedicated to this thing for a long time."

Ostlind asked for a vote of confidence but instead got the commission to support a subcommittee, headed by Vail, which was set up to pursue the joint use idea.

The chairman spoke of the progress made in this direction and the conversation took on strong overtones of a thriller.

He spoke of a "nameless person" who he had talked to and believed could open up a "direct pipeline to the White House." He said he had been given advice as to the best way to approach the Air Force if talks were to be a success.

Tris M. Coffin commented, "We have studied this before and I can tell you the Air Force will tell you a few things. Our little organization has not the guns to fight against these people."

Ostlind said the commission had to see the right people and take advantage "of the inputs we make. If we get the right audience we can get this thing through."

NOVATO PLANS

The commission shifted into top gear when it came to discussing details of the airport at Novato.

Ray W. Foreaker, consulting engineer, estimated the aircraft population at the airport would increase from 125 in 1967 to between 180 and 252 in 1982. He estimated the traffic would justify a Federal Aviation Agency tower in five years or less.

Chef Werner Epstein Brings Dishes From Southern France

By LOIS SENS

A French chef who was born in Berlin, Germany, and held captive for three years by the Gestapo in Auschwitz concentration camp, Poland, now resides in Marin and daily prepares an impressive list of French menus at Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia.

Werner (Bernard) Epstein of San Rafael worked at the Maurice Dobrin Restaurant in Berlin as an apprentice in fish and pastry dishes at the age of 13. He attended school two days a week and worked at the restaurant three days, moving from first assistant to second chef.

WHEN THE war begin in 1939, he crossed the border to Belgium, passing through Cologne and Aachen, where the SS troops gave him permission to leave Germany. He worked on a farm near Brussels for six months before the Belgians sent him to a concentration camp near St. Cyprien, France.

When the Germans arrived, he was arrested and sent to a Toulouse prison for three weeks. From there Bernard was taken to the concentration camp at Auschwitz for three years.

When the Rusisans released him in 1945, he went to Odessa for processing. From there he traveled to Berlin and then flew to Paris. In Paris, he was hired as second chef at the Dominique Restaurant for three years, then promoted to head chef for 12 years. During his tenure at Dominique, he specialized in French and Russian cuisine.

IN 1963, Bernard came to the United States, pausing briefly in New York on his way to San Francisco. He then became chef with La Petite Auberge Restaurant in San Rafael.

In January, he transferred to La Chalet Basque as chef for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Coscarat, a Basque couple who own the Santa Venetia restaurant. Bernard and his wife, Yvonne who is from Vienna, make their home in San Rafael.

LAST FALL while working at La Petite Auberge, Bernard entered in competition with 500 chefs at the Culinary Exposition held at the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco. He worked on his entry for three days, using his free momnts to complete it. The result was that "Coulibiak Aux Saumon" (Salmon In Crust) was awarded the second prize plaque in its division.

COULIBIAK AUX SAUMON
(Salmon In Crust)
(Serves 15)
CRUST

- 7 eggs
- 1 pound butter
- 2 cups cream
- 1 cup oil
- 1 cup water
- 6 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt

Blend beaten eggs, softened butter, cream, oil and water in a large mixing bowl. Add flour, baking powder and salt and blend. Roll ⅓ of the dough to the approximate measurements of the salmon and place on baking pan which has been greased with butter.

SALMON AND FILLING

- 10 to 12 pound salmon
- 1 quart white wine or dry sherry
- 4 quarts water
- 1 bay leaf
- chopped onions
- sliced carrots
- 3 to 5 teaspoons salt (to taste)
- 4 cups cooked rice
- 6 boiled eggs
- 10-12 mushrooms
- 1 small can tiny shrimp
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup cream
- ½ cup brandy

Begin by deboning and skinning salmon. Roll the fish in a towel and place in a large casserole containing wine, water, bay leaf, onions, carrots and salt. Boil the fish slowly in the cobouillon for 18 minutes on medium heat. Remove and allow to cool. Cover the casserole and refrigerate for one day.

Next, mix the rice, eggs, mushrooms and shrimp for filling. For the gravy, add a small amount of flour to the cobouillon liquid mixture to thicken. Shortly before serving, add 2 beaten egg yolks to the gravy and one cup of cream. Mix thoroughly. Add 2 cups of the gravy to the filling mixture. One-half cup of brandy may also be added.

Arrange on crust in layers—first the filling, then the salmon and top with the filling. Roll the remaining dough and cover the mound of filling and salmon, tucking in edges around the bottom as with a pie crust. Seal the crust by brushing 2 beaten egg whites over the entire surface. Bake in 350 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes.

PREPARING THE popular Antiques Show Chutney which will be featured at the Marin County Antiques Show and Sale beginning tomorrow at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito are Mrs. John Linker, left, chairman of the Grandmother's Cupboard, and Mrs. Ehrling N. Carlsen, chairman of hostesses.

Antiques Show Chutney Always Popular Item

One of the outstanding favorites of gourmet food devotees who attend the annual Marin County Antiques Show and Sale is the Antiques Show Chutney, which is sold in the popular Grandmother's Cupboard section.

This exotic relish has a variety of uses in addition to complimenting East Indian menus . . . it can be served over hamburgers, or with cold cuts during the summer, and used with crackers as a tasty and different hors d'ouevre.

This year's show will be held at the IDESST Hall, 511 Caledonia (off Bridgeway) in Sausalito beginning tomorrow and running through Sunday. Hours are noon to 10 p.m. daily, noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday. This event is sponsored by the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

ANTIQUES SHOW CHUTNEY

- 6 lbs. chopped fruit (plums, apricots, bananas, in equal proportions)
- 1 lb. raisins
- 1 lb. currants
- ⅛ cup salt
- 2 lbs. granulated sugar
- ½ lb. green ginger, cooked
- ⅛ lb. garlic, chopped
- ¼ lb. mustard seed
- ¼ lb. red chili peppers, chopped
- 1 qt. cider vinegar
- ½ tsp. each cinnamon, allspice and cloves
- 2 onions, minced

Put all ingredients into a large pot and simmer until thoroughly cooked, about one hour. The Antiques Show Chutney, when finished, should not be runny. This recipe yields approximately four quarts, and may be doubled exactly with excellent results.

A Superb Ground Beef Dish

Along with a lot of other cooks, we think it's a good week when we turn up a ground-beef recipe that results in a dish interesting and delicious enough to serve to supper guests.

Called Picadillo, according to a Spanish cook book it's a simple hash of onion, green pepper, fresh tomato and chopped cooked pork or veal plus olive oil and seasonings. But in Mexico and the West Indies, cooks have their own version of Picadillo—one that is more piquant—and it's this recipe we are giving you.

PICADILLO

- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 medium green pepper, chopped
- 1½ pounds lean ground beef
- 2 cloves garlic, peeled and minced
- 1 can (1 pound and 3 ounces) tomatoes, undrained
- ½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
- ½ cup raisins, rinsed in hot water and drained
- 2 tablespoons drained capers
- 1 to 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¾ teaspoon ground cumin
- ⅛ teaspoon ground allspice
- Hot cooked rice
- 1 hard-cooked egg (finely chopped) and extra sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives, if desired.

In a 10-inch skillet, heat the oil. Add the onion and green pepper; cook gently, stirring often, until wilted and golden but not brown. Add beef and garlic; mash with a fork until meat loses its red color and is in crumbles. Stir in tomatoes, ½ cup sliced olives, raisins, capers, salt, pepper, cumin and allspice. Cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, for 40 to 50 minutes. If you like, garnish with chopped egg and extra sliced olives; serve over hot rice. Makes 6 servings.

'Pudle-Peshers' Will Enter Belvedere Lagoon Day Parade

By MOLLY MARIN

Owners of the amusing "Pudle-Peshers," small craft operated by bicycle-like pedals, will be entering the opening day parade on the Belvedere Lagoon Sunday with their membership increased. New to the lively fleet are Rear Admiral and Mrs. Marvin Evenson, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Love, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Temby, who were recently welcomed at a cocktail gathering of the "Pudle-Pesher" group at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Smolen.

AMONG those couples entertaining preceding the Ross Parent-Teacher Assn.'s variety show on Friday evening are the Jules Beckers of Ross who will have as their guests the Harry Luchetas, Herman Muellers and Dr. and Mrs. John Severinghaus. Mr. and Mrs. James Lill will entertain Messrs. and Mesdames William Hilldeburn, Edward Elliott, Harry Orrick, Peter Fisher and Mrs. John Robinson. The John Weavers will have as their guests the Dave Greggs and Harold Sonnenbergs. Attending a dinner party at the Henry Grandins Jr. will be Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Hogan, Robert Wilhelm, Edgar Lindner, Dr. and Mrs. Ted McCarthy and the Mesdames Donn Douglass and Rena Safford. On Saturday night Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Zulch will have as guests, Dr. and Mrs. Martin Guttman, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Oslar and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robbins. The Purn Vorhees will entertain the William Carewes, Kim Allisons and Henry Martens. Invited to the home of Dr. and Mrs. William Monahan in Larkspur are Messrs. and Mesdames Peter Bogardus, William Spencer and David Jackson.

LISE WEISSISH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Weissich, was honored Saturday at a luncheon and pool party given by her mother at their San Rafael home, in celebration of her 13th birthday. Lise's guests included Misses Katie Abbott, Margaret Costello, Meg Dufficy, Christina Cliff, Lisa Bettini, Michelle Bledsoe, Terry Di Gangi, Jane and Nancy Thelen and Allison Sargent, all classmates of Lise's at San Domenico School for Girls.

MR. AND MRS. Donald L. Blinco of Sausalito have returned home following a trip to Montego Bay, Jamaica, San Juan, Puerto Rico, and St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands.

MR. AND MRS. Frederic F. Coolidge of Kentfield attended a dinner honoring M. Adolphous Cheek, headmaster of the Cambridge School of Weston, Mass., Monday night at the San Francisco home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bolles. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Peter MacGowan of Tiburon, whose son, Paul, is a student at the Cambridge School.

GATHERING SATURDAY at the J. J. Rutkowski home in the Reedlands, Tiburon, were Marin Phi Mu alumnae and their husbands, who hosted the San Francisco members and their husbands. Assisting with the party were Messrs. and Mesdames Walter Thierbach of Tiburon, Stanley Moore and J. Dean Irons of San Rafael and Mrs. Mildred Montgomery of Greenbrae.

Arts Group To Entertain For Mill Valley AAUW

An original sketch presented by the Lively Arts Group will be the program for Tuesday's annual luncheon meeting of the Mill Valley Branch of the American Assn. of University Women.

It will be held starting at noon at the Alta Mira Hotel, Sausalito, in the Fiesta Room.

The program has been kept a secret by those participating, Mesdames William B. Allen, Leonard Downing, Paul F. Geerlings, Jerry W. Lloyd, Carl Massey, and Krieg S. Vezie.

Members have been asked to wear their most extravagantly decorated hats to add to the festive occasion.

Mrs. Elgar Hill, vice president and program chairman, announces business will consist of annual reports of officers and chairmen and election of officers. Nominating committee chairmen Mrs. Edward W. Simons will again present the slate of officers recently announced. Four current officers have been nominated for a second one-year term.

Luncheon reservations chairmen are Mesdames Hill and Geerlings.

Maguire School Drama Students To Present Play

Mill Valley's Edna Maguire School drama students and the Parent-Teacher Assn. will sponsor the three-act play "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough tomorrow and Friday at 8 p.m. in the Park School Auditorium, Mill Valley.

George Muldoon, drama instructor, actor and composer is play director.

Spring Event Set In San Geronimo

The Women's Guild of the San Geronimo Valley Community Church, United Presbyterian will sponsor the annual spring luncheon on Saturday at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Brook Robinson is general chairman of the event and Mrs. Forrest Wagner, program chairman. Miss Sara Howard will perform and offer "Youth In Dance" as the principal presentation. As a special feature throughout the luncheon, background music will be played by Fae McNally.

The kitchen committee includes Mesdames Eldon Halseth, Alfonso Molina, Jene Chadwick and Charles Orr. Girls of the church's youth group will assist in serving under the supervision of Mrs. Vernon Gilstrap.

Flowers and dancing paper dolls will accent the spring event according to Mrs. Tom Ingersoll, chairman of decorations and co-chairman Mrs. Fred Webster.

Publicity chairman is Mrs. Mark Tuel.

IN AN ORIENTAL SETTING

Members of the Presidents Assembly donned Oriental garb for a luncheon and card party yesterday at the San Rafael Improvement Club to raise funds for the assistance of a Marin student to continue her education. From left are Mesdames Paul Hammer, scholarship chairman; William MacKay and Richard D. Hardin, chairman of the event. (Independent-Journal photo)

EARLY MARRIAGE TRENDS

New Affluence Contributes To Teen Matrimony, Divorce

Second of a series of articles on the just-ended weekend symposium on teen-age marriage and divorce at the University of California Medical Center, sponsored by the Continuing Education in Medicine and Health Sciences, San Francisco.

By BARBARA HOSMER

America's new affluence is a strong contributor to the frequency of earlier marriage and divorce, says economist Dr. Eli Ginzberg of Columbia University.

"Affluence means that people can increasingly have an experiential culture. They want to have all experiences and they think, why not try marriage too?"

Dr. Ginsberg, who is a professor of economics and director for Conservation of Human Resources at Columbia, sees in America's new prosperity heretofore unknown chances to make choices and options about life.

"Lives used to be sequentially ordered. Now the process is not nearly so clear-cut. You can marry and return to school, for example. Marriage used to be viewed as something you did after you reached maturity, and divorce was not considered as a real possibility. Now marriage is suggested as a way one matures," he said.

PROSPERITY TODAY allows young people to set themselves up in their own apartments, they can take part-time jobs and continue school and there has been a revolution in financing education so that scholarships and loans are more available and contribute to people's ease of marrying earlier, Dr. Ginzberg said.

A wife's ability to work and the increasing wealth of the middle class so that it can help support early marrying children are further economic contributors to the marriage trend, and the armed services have added jobs for the young man, Dr. Ginzberg stated.

"Also, we have a debt-approving society in this era of prosperity," he pointed out.

But after marriage a wife or husband may have to terminate schooling to work, shooting down plans for full development into a career, he said.

Prosperity has also allowed divorce to become more of a possibility for the middle class (The poor still use desertion as a way out of an unsatisfactory marriage) and a woman can earn her own living by getting a job, he explained.

Dr. Ginzberg contends that what is happening now is that the first marriage is actually a trial marriage, and that there is no more family instability than before in this country, just changes in the notion of it.

Now a series of wives are considered all right as long as they are married and divorced, he said.

"A legal bum is okay," it's marriage Hollywood style, Ginzberg said. But, he pointed out, in previous centuries American men's wives died and they would marry again, sometimes several times.

"It used to be John Doe and his four wives. Now it's Jane Smith and her four husbands—Today you don't get rid of wives by death but by divorce."

As to teen-age behavior, Ginzberg says that society will have to tolerate premarital sex or it can expect even more teen marriages—now the only socially sanctioned way.

"We're just at the edge of a worldwide birth control revolution and, with the pill, can create new opportunities for people, the full import of which we don't yet know," Dr. Ginzberg stated. "For the first time girls will have the same freedom from responsibility that men have. We're only at the beginning. The problems that society will be confronted with will really be something we can't even know.

"This has more 'pregnancy' for very fundamental changes on a world-wide basis. A fair amount of early marriage now is the result of a trap by inefficient birth control. We are in for profound changes in the functioning of society when most of this slippage stops," the economist stated.

He pointed out that today persons who have disatisfactions with life in general turn to their marriage for total happiness.

THIS PUTS A STRAIN on marriage that is all out of proportion—we expect it to do what no institution could do.

"We are in a psychology-psychiatry revolution in which people have come to believe that each must have his share of happiness—this opens up the expectations—and the Freudians believe that happiness depends on the family and the interpersonal relationship within it."

He said that this is a very narrow point of view and doesn't even attempt to understand some very real problems such as race or poverty.

'THE HUSBAND-WIFE and parent-child relationships are invested with too much pressure," Dr. Ginzberg said. New options beside early matrimony and looking to marriage for all salvation will be needed, he predicted.

Arlene Anderson To Become Bride Of Michael Brock

Mr. and Mrs. Verner B. Anderson of Larkspur are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Arlene, to Michael L. Brock of Tiburon.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Mrs. James Fisher of Santa Barbara, is a senior at Redwood High School. Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Anderson of San Anselmo are her grandparents.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Brock of Tiburon, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. He is the brother of Mrs. Floyd Linton of Petaluma, Mrs. Carl Ebbeson of Tiburon and Jerry Brock of Mill Valley. Mrs. Rosemary Brock of Mill Valley is his grandmother.

An August wedding is planned.

By HELEN BOTTEL

Jealous Neighbor Wants To Drop A Hint For Her Birthday Present

DEAR HELEN:

What do you think of a man who, after 20 years of marriage, gives his wife black lingerie for her birthday? — JEALOUS NEIGHBOR

P. S. Please print this—maybe it will give my husband a hint. He buys me garden trowels and things like that.

DEAR NEIGHBOR:

He's either telling her she measures up, or suggesting that she could, with a little effort. Either way it's a gift that will pay great dividends.

P. S. To your husband: Trowels are for laying on compliments with, not birthday presents. And you'd better believe me—but you won't.

DEAR HELEN:

Help! Who's right? My husband is 45 years old. I am 21, and we have been married for two wonderful years. The problem? He feels we should buy a home first and then try to have children. I say we should try for children NOW before he becomes unable. To buy a home I would have to continue working at least three years, as he says we must put a third down on a house costing $27,000.

Which is worse, a home with no children or a child living in an apartment? My husband claims we can have one or the other but not both.—NEVER TO BE MOTHER

DEAR NEVER:

If all couples waited for the exactly right financial time, there would be a lot fewer children —and marriages, too. Your husband won't be "unable" in three years, but he'll be older: Past retirement age before your child is grown, and, while this suits Bing fine, it doesn't work so well for most men.

Also, few people put a third down on their first home—$4,000 will move you in on FHA, and your payments will still be comparable to apartment rent in your area — if you choose a longer loan.

Come on, take a chance: Try now, pay later.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Your advice to "Victim" was all wrong. The clerk who got fresh with her never did receive a phony phone call, saying she was "willing." The jerk made that up as a stock phrase and in most cases it worked for two reasons: Which girl or woman does have such a clean conscience, and don't most women enjoy a little outing? If she refuses his advances, he can fall back on the phone call excuse.

But what is worse: This man is obviously a sex maniac, possibly an offender on parole who has learned how to approach women with made-up lies about their calling him up. Once he gets something on a woman, he may even try blackmail.

You should have told her to contact his employer at once and assume there was no phone call from an unknown prankster. She might save others from his wiles.—E. B.

DEAR E.:

Aren't you assuming quite a lot about a man who waited 10 years to make a pass? That was his length of employment, it says in my letter.

However, you could be right and thanks for the tip. But let's don't call him a "sex maniac." Opportunist is a better word. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I had a baby before I finished school. Since then I met and married a wonderful man who loves my child as if it were his own. He wants to adopt her. I've heard this costs a large sum of money, and I don't know how to go about it. We aren't very well off. Helen, where do you go?—ONE WHO WONDERS

DEAR ONE:

You should consult a lawyer, but it won't cost a large sum of money. Ask and you'll see. — H.

REMINISCING ABOUT her forty years as a registered nurse is Mrs. Jean Casarotti of Novato who retired last month as surgery supervisor at San Rafael General Hospital. (Independent-Journal photo)

Flight With Rickenbacker Among A Nurse's Memories

A flight in an open plane with the famous aviator Eddie Rickenbacker as pilot and two pneumonia patients as fellow passengers is among the memories of Jean Casarotti of Novato after 40 years as a registered nurse.

Mrs. Casarotti, who retired last month as surgery supervisor at San Rafael General Hospital, vividly remembers the flight in the early 1930's.

"I was spending the summer as a private duty nurse on an island off the coast of Maine," she recalls. "Both my patient and her daughter contracted pneumonia, and I telephoned for help. Eddie Rickenbacker, who was a friend of the family, flew up in a single-engine amphibian plane to take us to the hospital. We bundled up my patients and made the filght, which took about four hours, to Boston, where we landed on the Charles River between two bridges, near Massachusetts General Hospital. Both patients recovered."

Another time, Mrs. Casarotti flew from Boston to the New Hampshire mountains to pick up two Harvard boys who had broken their legs in skiing accidents.

Not all of Mrs. Casarotti's experiences in nursing have been so dramatic, but she says she "wouldn't trade any of them".

Mrs. Casarotti, a native of Nova Scotia, Canada, received her training as a nurse at Jordan Hospital in Plymouth, Mass., where she was second in her class and taught surgery nursing techniques and nomenclature during her last six months as a student.

She came to the West Coast in 1937, worked as a floor supervisor at Mills Memorial Hospital in San Mateo and from then as director of nursing at Ross General Hospital. She came to Cottage Hospital, now San Rafael General, in 1946.

Mrs. Casarotti's first assignment at the San Rafael hospital was in the obstetrics department, and she recalls her first Christmas there as "very busy, with 25 babies." She was head of the department when it was closed in 1960, and then became surgery supervisor.

Mrs. Casarotti, although retired as a nurse, won't be idle. She and her husband, Ernest, will have more time to travel, and plan trips to Canada and Mexico and perhaps later, after he retires, to Switzerland.

She is an ardent gardener and as in nursing, "like challenges", such as growing plants that are difficult to grow, from slips. She likes to sew and do needlepoint, to cook and collect cookbooks. She reads a great deal, from politics and history to novels, particularly historical novels, and mysteries.

Nursing, Mrs. Casarotti says, is "a marvelous career" and "very rewarding" for a woman. She highly recommends it.

Volunteer Bureau Installs Officers

The Volunteer Bureau of Marin installed new officers for the year at its annual luncheon today at West End Villa in San Rafael. Mrs. Harvey N. Black Jr. of Mill Valley is the new president. Other officers are Edmond C. Ward of San Rafael, first vice president; Dr. Roy Mikalson of San Rafael, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Dagley of Mill Valley, secretary and William P. Murray Jr. of San Rafael, treasurer.

Three Awarded Bridge Masters

Three more bridge players have joined the growing ranks of Marin County life masters.

They are Allen Arnold of Mill Valley, Claire Cooke of San Anselmo, and Lou Sasselli of Corte Madera. They were honored Sunday night by the Marin Unit of American Contract Bridge League at a gathering at the Marin Jewish Community Center in San Rafael.

Also honored were Karen Casey of San Anselmo and Harmalene Lindsay of Fairfax, junior players who won the most points during the Marin sectional tournament held at Bermuda Palms two weeks ago.

Style Show Set At Cook School

The spring "Sew-It-Yourself" fashion show at Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo will be held tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the multipurpose room.

Mothers of the school will serve desserts at the event which will benefit the school assembly fund.

Mrs. James Spencer is chairman for the event. The committee includes Mesdames Howard Hall, Charles Leitzel, Perry Smith, Donald DeMoss, Ralph Hendricks and Ronald Hill.

Lynwood P-TA Sets Playday Saturday

A playday will be sponsored by the Lynwood School Parent-Teacher Assn. on Saturday at the school in Novato.

Activities will begin at 10:30 a.m. with the showing of a color movie, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer."

Game booths will open at 12:15 p.m. and refreshments will be on sale. Mrs. Lee Avilla, ways and means chairman, is in charge of the event.

Thorn-Harrison Wedding Planned

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Diana Harrison of Fairfax and William Henry Thorn of Novato.

The bride-elect, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harrison of Fairfax, is a senior at Sir Francis Drake High School. She is the sister of Mrs. Barry Nall of Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. Peter Baird and James Railey both of Fairfax. Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Suttle of Saratoga are her grandparents.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thorn of Novato, was graduated from Novato High School and is serving with the U.S. Army at Ft. Ord. John and Janice Thorn of Novato are his brother and sister and he is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Conant of Mill Valley.

The wedding will be a July event.

Boredom Leads To Career In Natural History Film-Making

By BARBARA HOSMER

What do you do if your husband's consuming interest and avocation leaves you bored and at a loss to enjoy his excursions? Laurel Reynolds found herself in this situation some years back and parlayed it into a fascinating profession — the photographing and narrating of travel, natural science and adventure films.

Mrs. Reynolds is well known in Marin for her films on the Point Reyes National Seashore area, "An Island in Time," and the "Audubon Canyon Ranch" film of that area on Bolinas Lagoon.

Her husband, Dr. T. Eric Reynolds of Piedmont, aside from his vocation as a physician, is an avid naturalist, and Mrs. Reynolds would find herself alone with nothing to do while he busied himself in his interests.

"Finally, we both knew that something would have to be done, so I suggested maybe I could look at things through a camera more interestingly," she explains, "and he told me to get whatever I needed. It came to quite a lot. . . . First, I used the trial-and-error method and the pictures were nothing to brag about."

Next she began taking a little instruction and by the end of the first year she had some film the University of California wanted to show.

WELL KNOWN in Marin for her films of the Point Reyes area and Audubon Canyon Ranch, Laurel Reynolds will narrate her recently completed film on Baja, "Mexico's California," tomorrow at the College of Marin's Olney Hall as a scholarship fund benefit sponsored by the Explorer's Club of San Francisco and the Associated Students at the College of Marin. She is currently making a film about San Francisco Bay for the Save the Bay Assn.

"I STARTED with subjects in our back yard in Alameda County," Laurel Reynolds explains. "Birds were my first subject. Now I film all of nature, from insects to whales, people and places. . . ."

She has photographed subjects throughout the Western Hemisphere and some of her footage on water birds was used in the Walt Disney nature features made a few years ago.

Laurel Reynolds started with movies and has stayed with them—at first, her husband did the narrating. "I made him talk, I didn't want to. But when World War II came and he was gone, I had to do it." Now it is she who makes the film-lecture circuit showing the films she and her partner, Mindy Willis of Pasadena, photograph.

THEIR LATEST FILM, on Baja California, to be shown tomorrow at Olney Hall, College of Marin, at 8 p.m., they finished a year ago.

"But we almost had a disaster," she comments. . . . As the two women finished weeks of filming, they headed to the town terminal, left their cases, including all the exposed film, and went off for a leisurely lunch. When they came back the cases were gone.

"It was a real James Bond thing to get them back," she said, but they finally turned up anonymously at the designated place, and the two women eventually recovered their precious cargo.

The resultant film is of a cruise to Baja California and the outlying islands as well as several cities. It also contrasts life in the remote villages with that of the luxury hotels being built for sport fishermen.

THE TWO WOMEN, who have worked together for 10 years, carry light equipment — "one camera or two each"—and are used to carrying 25 pounds along. "We put on a sportsman's vest and use all the pockets," Mrs. Reynolds explains with a laugh.

Once the actual filming is finished—they shoot about three times the footage that is actually used in the final film—it may take months to do the editing, the narration and synchronization.

"We commute," explains Laurel Reynolds, as Mrs. Willis, whose husband is a geologist and mining engineer, lives in Pasadena. Currently, Mrs. Reynolds has just finished a lecture tour in the East and is now making a film for the Save the Bay Assn., but it is causing her trouble.

"There have been shocking developments along the bay, and it's difficult to find anything attractive. Also, you are not aware of the smog until you go to look for a clear day. So there's been smog and fog and I've been busy," explained the photographer who is also a housewife. "This is just something I squeeze into my life."

LAUREL REYNOLDS' films are shown on television adventure series such as Col. John Craig's, in which the photographer also must appear as narrator. This series is not shown in the Bay Area, however. Often she goes to cities which have adventure film series for appearances.

"I'm not preaching in these films," she cautions. "The motive is to stimulate people to enjoy the world around them. I hope that it will lead them to an interest in conservation—but mainly I hope they will enjoy the films and take an interest in nature.

"America is getting awfully ugly except where there are national parks," she believes. Since the President's emphasis on preservation of natural beauty, Mrs. Reynolds notes an increased interest in natural history films and adventures in the natural world.

WHERE DOES SHE go to make films?

"Any place I can go and stay for an extended time, but not on a quick trip as a tourist. In fact, most film makers will tell you that you have to go to a place twice to make films. To me, it is just as good to make a film in our back yard as in Europe, if it is satisfying.

"It's as much of a boot to photograph a spider as a leopard, if you've made a beautiful picture and told something."

Winners In Essay Contest Are Announced By Auxiliary

Winners in the American Legion Auxiliary Americanism Essay Contest conducted by Twin Cities Unit 313, Larkspur, in the Corte Madera and Larkspur area were announced this week by Mrs. Francis M. Fugate, Americanism chairman.

Receiving honorable mention were Nancy Reichard, Jana Barto, Sally Wieland, Janet Mahood, Tom McClendon and Crystal Molyneaux.

Three top winners in the same category for Neil Cummins School included Cynthia Jorgensen, Karey Zuschin and Michael Kralka. Receiving honorable mention were Debbie Cohen, Andrea Fischer, Robert Rickard, Nancy Lubamersky and Julie Vogel.

San Clemente School winners for first, second and third place were Linda Franks, Doug Matsui and Alice Simon, respectively. Placing for honorable mention were Joann Martigopoulous, Janice Havens, Camilla Bergeron, Holly Eastman and Chris Vargo.

Winners for Henry C. Hall School were David Richards, Janet Rice and Tamy Richards. Receiving honorable mention were Chris Mardakis, Heide Osterlye, Brett Wallace, David Warner and Kathleen Shaff.

Henry C. Hall School winners in the seventh and eighth grade division with essay, "Americanism Begins in the Home," included Jane Monroe, Roger Smith and Tom Marker. Placing for honorable mention were Rodney Sloan, Ruth Smith, Jo Ann Hurley, Lynne Volk and John Rasmussen.

All essay winners in the top three placings will receive silver and bronze medallions. Certificates of Merit will be presented winners for honorable mention.

The Americanism Essay program of the American Legion Auxiliary is conducted annually throughout the state of California. First place winners on the local level compete for district and state cash awards.

Improvement Club Benefit On Tuesday

The San Rafael Improvement Club will hold a benefit bridge luncheon on Tuesday at the clubhouse in San Rafael.

Mrs. J. J. Fisher is chairman assisted by members of the executive committee. A hot luncheon will be served at noon followed by cards.

Mrs. W. C. Cornwell is reservations chairman.

Redwood Friends Plan Lunch, Fashion Show

A luncheon and fashion showing will be sponsored tomorrow at the Masonic Temple in San Rafael by the Redwood Friends. Mrs. James D. Ellis is chairman of the show and Mrs. Lillian Walker is chairman for the luncheon.

The event will begin at 11:30 a.m.

Nursery School Names Officers

Mrs. Jenny White Marshall has been elected new president of the San Rafael Cooperative Nursery School for the coming school year.

An amendment to the by-laws was introduced to enable an earlier election to take place. Other officers elected were Mesdames Gary Bond, vice president; David Seivers, secretary; Jack Rowe, treasurer; James Halligan, assistant treasurer; David Holmes, parent education; Norman Erickson, schedule chairman; Robert Moore, ways and means; Donald Brower, building chairman; Robert Sitzman, equipment; and delegates to Marin council, Mesdames Bert Hartman and Martin Murray.

San Pedro Plans Fun Day Saturday

Homemade cookies, cakes, jams and candies will be one of the features for the annual food and fun day to be held on Saturday at San Pedro School from 11-2 p.m. According to Mrs. Larry Friedman, chairman of the day, there will be pony rides for the smaller children and booths featuring new items, white elephant booth, all types of games including a baseball throw, nail pounding, balloon popping and a basketball toss at the Parent-Teacher Assn. sponsored event.

Clean Up Easier

Performances will be held on Friday and Saturday of this week and next week and on May 6 and 7, with curtain at 8:30 p.m. The play is directed by Ursula McCarthy.

Nature Films Showing Set In Mill Valley

Two films, "Wild Rivers" and "Glen Canyon," will be shown by the Homestead Valley Improvement Club at 8 p.m., April 29, at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Money from donations at the door will benefit the Brown's Hall building fund. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Eugene Spitler, 4 Rhonda Way, Mill Valley.

"Wild Rivers," according to Martin Friedman, club conservation chairman, won the top award for best cinematography at the fifth annual New York International Film Festival in 1965. "Glen Canyon" depicts scenes from the Colorado River canyon.

Dr. Daniel Luten of the University of California will give a short talk on the threat to dam the Grand Canyon. Don Harris, former club president, will describe legislation to safeguard some rivers.

Free Concert Booked For Renaissance Octet

The Renaissance Octet will present a program of 15th and 16th Century choral music, including madrigals, motets, a mass and other musical forms, in an 8 p.m. concert Friday in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Part of the college's spring semester concert-lecture series, the performance is free to the public.

The octet is composed of seven Bay Area professional singers: Two tenors, a bass and four sopranos, and director Robert Gartler. Included in the group is Fairfax resident George Baker, bass soloist.

The octet will do works by Brahms, Thomas Morley, Juan d'Espinosa, Jacques Arcadelt, Joaquin des Prez, Orlando di Lasso, Robert Jones, Thomas Tallis, Ludwig Senfl, Clement Janequin and John Dowland.

Tenor soloist Conrad Knipfel, accompanied by soprano Eleanor Cohen, will sing works by Brahms, and George Baker, accompanied by Miss Cohen, will perform numbers by Brahms, Claude le Jeune, William Byrd, Thomas Morley, Thomas Tallis, Jacobus Gallus-Handl and Francis Pilkington.

Choral Concert Set

The Winifred Baker A Cappella Singers and the Madrigal Singers of the Dominican College of San Rafael will give a free choral concert at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor, San Francisco, May 1 at 3 p.m.

Film Showing To Aid College Scholarships

Laurel Reynolds will narrate her new color film "Mexico's California" tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall, College of Marin.

The showing is sponsored by the Explorers Club of San Francisco and the Associated Students of the College of Marin. Proceeds will help provide scholarships for students.

San Anselmo Police Gain A Spokesman

Robert M. Scott, top vote getter in the San Anselmo City Council election last week, opened a new campaign at San Anselmo City Hall last night—for the benefit of the city's police.

"I visited our police station this weekend and found we send our police on emergency calls to Marin City, at high speeds on the highway, with retread tires, no bullet-proof windshields, a crash helmet for one officer when there are two in the car," declared Scott.

ASHAMED, ANGRY

"I am ashamed and angry at what I have learned."

Scott later told City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt, "the tires on our police cars seem a very poor place to economize."

Flautt answered that many cities use retreads on police cars and said they are often found safer than new tires.

"Would you trust retreads if you were driving at emergency speeds on Highway 101?" Scott asked. "Yes," replied the city administrator.

At the opening of last night's council meeting Shell Oil Co., seeking a use permit for a service station at 805 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, found that the second time around can be the happiest.

The application, denied twice by the planning commission and once by the city council, was finally grated last night by 3-to-7 vote. Councilmen Woodrow V. Capurro and Duaine C. Ragan dissented.

STIPULATIONS

The approval carried four stipulations: That Shell deed a 15-foot right of way in front of the station to the city for widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, that the station be well landscaped and maintained, that Shell's existing station at Sequoia and Red Hill avenues be razed within a year, and that final plans for the station be submitted to the planning commission for approval.

San Anselmo City Council also:

1. Unanimously approved the final map of the Sunny Hills subdivision, which includes the new orphanage site and the site of the Sunny Hills Shopping Center now under construction.
2. Established a green parking zone on Tamalpais Avenue at San Anselmo Avenue, at the freight entrance to Toy Circus.

Carr Appointed To Bay Committee

Francis J. Carr of Sausalito has been appointed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown to the Pilotage Rate Committee for San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun bays.

A Democrat, he is to serve a four-year term as public member on the five-man committee which makes recommendations to the Legislature on such matters as rates for bar pilots.

Carr, a utility lawyer, is manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. tax department, San Francisco. He succeeds Bert W. Levit. Carr, formerly counsel for the Collier committee of the California Legislature, lives with his wife Edythe, and two daughters, Barbara and Dorothy, at 110 Hivista Road.

Plaque On Building Stolen Second Time

A plaque in the form of a shield and crossed swords has been stolen from the front of 1380 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, for the second time since the office building was opened about three months ago.

The plaque was an architectural decoration valued at about $70 by building owner George R. Dryer. It measured two feet by four feet.

Supervisors Approve City Street Projects

Marin County supervisors yesterday approved $171.450 in street projects within cities under the urban thoroughfares program for next fiscal year.

Also slated for funding next year, but not included in the total, is widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Ross. Ross will contribute $8.965. Fairfax will put up $14.568 from its share of urban thoroughfare funds, and San Anselmo will put up $16.467 from its share.

The $171.450 total will cover five projects: Paradise Drive extension in Corte Madera, $34,468;; Sir Francis Drake widening in Fairfax, $20,000;; Magnolia Avenue improvement along the railroad right-of-way in Larkspur, $45.739; Diablo Avenue, widening and bridge improvement in Novato, $36,017; and Bridgeway improvement in Sausalito, $35,225.

Frost noted next fiscal year will be the last in the present five-year agreement with cities. A new agreement will probably be made with modifications, he said.

Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

1. Turned down Supervisor Thomas T. Storer's request that he be allowed to chair the next hearing on the West Marin master plan. No date for the second hearing has yet been set.

2. Endorsed the application of the Bay Area Social Planning Council for a grant from the Rosenberg Foundation to finance preparation of a community mental health plan.

3. Approved lease of library space in the Civic Center, formerly occupied by the supplementary text library, from the county library district to the county for use by the social services department at $4,800 a year. This figures out to 25 cents a foot a month.

4. Approved an agreement with the Marin Municipal Water District under which the district will supply water to Sea Cape subdivision and Muir Beach.

5. Approved an agreement with the State Division of Highways for the extension of Lucas Valley Road widening for another half mile. The improvement now stops 2.5 miles west of Highway 101.

6. Awarded contract to the Union Oil Co., lowest of six bidders, for regular gasoline at 19 cents a gallon and ethyl at 20.88 cents a gallon, and to Shell Oil Co., lowest of five bidders, for diesel oil at 10.4 cents a gallon.

7. Approved $413 expenses for board Chairman Byron W. Leydecker to go to Washington, D.C., May 2 and 3 to testify before the Senate aviation subcommittee against a bill that would cut federal allocation for improvement of small airports.

8. Denied the claim of Harold Brown of 3 K Street, San Rafael, for $5,000 damages allegedly suffered April 23, 1965, when his hand was caught in an elevator at the Civic Center, and the claim of Jane A. Fairweather of 80 H Lane, Novato, for $11,260 damages allegedly suffered when she fell in an open trench on Bugeia Lane near Novato.

9. Called for bids for opening at 10 a.m., May 16, on correction of the Ocean Parkway slide at Bolinas.

10. Approved a small annexation to the Tamalpais Lighting District after a public hearing which brought no protest.

11. Re-appointed George Goheen Sr. to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency for a four-year term.

12. Deferred action on a proposed pedestrian path along Tennessee Valley Road, estimated to cost $3,900, to learn whether Frouge Corp., developer of Marincello, will pay all or part of the cost.

13. Promoted Claude B. Burton from apprentice at $362 a month, to assistant mechanic in the county garage at $486 a month, and Leroy Thomas from apprentice at $345 a month to senior engineering aide, survey crew, at $486 a month. Burton faces a misdemeanor charge for allegedly obstructing an officer in the April 4 Marin City riot, but County Administrator Alan Bruce said the department head recommended the promotion prior to that time.

Larkspur To Host County Historians

Two long-time residents of Larkspur will describe early days in the community when the Larkspur Historical Society palys host to the Marin County Historical Society at 2 p.m. Sunday at Henry C. Hall School.

Speakers will be Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner and Mrs. Catherine Pixley Robson. Judge Gardiner was reared in Larkspur and served as the town's city attorney until he was named to the bench. Mrs. Robson's family owned a 160-acre estate which later became the Chevy Chase section of the city.

The audience will be permitted to question the speakers and to display historical pictures or documents about Larkspur.

Annual banquet of the county historical society is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the West End Villa, San Rafael.

New Sports Bird

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state department of fish and game has announced plans to raise and release the crested tinamou, an Argentina bird which grows about as big as a hen pheasant and is expected to thrive in the state's semi-arid regions.

Teen-age Girl Lauded As Hero

CHICAGO (AP) — Last fall 13-year-old Gloria Cassidy of New York City rescued 3-year-old twin brothers from an apartment fire.

Yesterday she became the first person to be named "Heroine of the Year" by the Girls Club of America.

Gloria suffered burns on her hands, face, arms and legs and is still convalescing.

SAC Crew Launches Titan Missile

VANDENBERG AFB (UPI) — A Strategic Air Command combat crew from McConnel Air Force Base, Kansas successfully launched a Titan II ICBM here today at 12:44 a.m. PST. The launch was one in a series of tests of both missile and crews that have been on alert in SAC's deterrent force since June, 1963.

Preliminary reports indicated that the missile was on course for a selected target in the Pacific.

Assault Charges Levied Against Hell's Angels

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Six members of the Hell's Angels motorcycle club arrested after a fight in a Sacramento home March 30 have each been indicted by the county grand jury on two counts of assault and one count of burglary.

Police charged the men after officers reported they entered the home of Alvin Price, 21, carrying chains, clubs and a gun. Price drew a revolver and shot three Hell's Angels.

One club member, Wyman McNeal, 22, was reported paralyzed from the shoulders down at Sacramento County Hospital. The others injured were Gary Moore, 23, and Edward Rajotte, 22.

Also indicted yesterday were Johnithan Sawyer, 28, Dale Kanzler, 27, and Jacques Martin, 27.

Lagunitas Drops Woodacre Site

Trustees of Lagunitas School District last night decided to abandon their controversial plan to build a new school in Woodacre.

They approved a statement to go on the June 7 ballot saying they will buy a 10-acre site in Forest Knolls if voters approve a $200,000 bond issue and $400,000 state loan.

Opposition to the Woodacre site was largely responsible for the defeat of an identical bond and loan proposal Feb. 15.

The ballot statement, which the district will submit as its official argument in favor of the twin proposals, also commits the district to buying another 11 to 14 acres to expand the site of the present Lagunitas School.

The district will not expand the school until later, said Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff, but will start to plan for the project soon. Construction on the Forest Knolls site would begin right away.

McCunniff said the Forest Knolls school will be built on property known as the "Tamal Road site" between Tamal and Arroyo roads, north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Trustees re-hired the entire faculty, with no change, for next school year. Action came after an hour-long closed session in which McCunniff gave his evaluation of each teacher's performance.

Scheduled discussion of the proposed $312,775 budget for fiscal 1967, and a report on the school's science program, were postponed when the hour grew late.

Health Research Centers Rapped

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dr. James Z. Appel, president of the American Medical Assn. said yesterday federal proposals for regional health research centers "could lead to absolute socialized medicine."

Speaking before the California Dental Assn., he said the proposed centers, if confiined to research, would be an asset to medicine.

"But some proponents look upon this system as a means of instituting coercive programs with at present unpredictable results."

"I have always called this the big sneak because this is the system that could lead to absolute socialized medicine if the proponents want it," he said.

San Anselmo Scholar Wins Academy Chance

Danny Lee Orr, 18, son of Police Capt. and Mrs. Chester Orr of 33 Carlson Avenue, San Anselmo, has been accepted for the United States Coast Guard Academy in New London Conn., his mother announced yesterday.

Orr, a senior at Sir Francis Drake High School, is to report to the academy June 27. He will be commissioned an ensign on graduation and have an obligation of five years active duty in the Coast Guard.

Kindergarten Signup

Registration for kindergarten classes in the Sausalito School District will be held next week from 1 to 4 p.m., Monday through Wednesday at Bayside School, and 1 to 4 p.m. Thursday and Friday at Manzanita School. From May 2 to 5, additional sessions will be held 7 to 9 p.m. at Manzanita School.

Budget Deadlock Gets Tighter In Sacramento

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Senate-Assembly fight over a 1-cent sales tax increase and heightened Republican opposition to Brown administration fiscal bills tightened the legislative financial deadlock today.

Chairman Virgil O'Sullivan, D-Williams, of the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee said he opposes the tax hike passed by the Assembly yesterday.

And Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, reacted angrily to State Finance Director Hale Champion's assertion that the GOP will support a new administration bill to raise $25 million by closing loopholes in the bank and corporations tax law.

Champion had said Republicans told him they would support the change and provide enough votes for the 54 needed for lower house passage.

But Monagan said "we're not going for any 54 votes" unless the administration accepts the entire package the GOP unveiled yesterday as its terms for ending a budget blockade that has lasted more than two weeks.

Aircraft Maintenance

Airman Richard P. Hilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Hilton of 132 Bothin Road, Fairfax, has been selected for training at Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., as an aircraft maintenance specialist. He recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Unruh's Tax Bill Backed By Bagley

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, voted with the majority yesterday in approving Jesse M. Unruh's bill to raise the state sales tax and reduce local school district property taxes.

The vote was 50 for the bill and 20 against.

Bagley spoke in favor of the bill, saying "this bill changes the incidence of the tax burden away from the overburdened property taxpayer."

Chicago Fights Rats

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $1.9-million grant for a comprehensive rat control program in Chicago has been approved by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Legislature's fiscal deadlock tightens in Assembly-Senate fight over a 1-cent sales tax hike and Democratic-Republican clash over how to balance the budget without taxes.

Major smog legislation clears first Assembly committee test.

Assembly committee kills Senate-passed legislation to put controls on hallucination producing drugs LSD and DMT.

Gov. Brown signs bill putting $275 million school bond for local construction on June 7 ballot.

Bonds — Lowers vote needed for passage of local school bonds in primary or general elections from two-thirds to 60 per cent; AB 36, Garrigus, D-Reedley.

Salaries — Increases by four per cent salaries of state clerical workers and personnel of university and state colleges for fiscal 1966-67 to begin April 1, 1966; AB 46, Z'berg, D-Sacramento.

Lion's Owners To Battle Ban

PIEDMONT (AP) — Simba, Piedmont's friendly neighborhood lion, has been outlawed by the City Council. But not without a roar from his owners.

"He has never done any harm to anyone or any damage in the neighborhood," says Art Quaife, who shares a three-bedroom house with the big cat's co-owner, Pete Clay—and the lion.

Quaife and Clay, young graduate students in mathematics at the nearby University of California Berkeley campus describe the lion with such adjectives as "lovable," "cool" and "lion-hearted."

The Piedmont City Council describes Simba as a potential danger. They passed an ordinance last night banning lions throughout Piedmont.

Bridgeway Tram Plan Is Aired

A trackless tram consisting of three 21-foot long cars and a tractor to carry tourists up and down Bridgeway in Sausalito was proposed last night to the city council.

Gordon Townsend of Mill Valley made the proposal, applying for a franchise. He said, by letter, the train would run between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. on week ends and holidays and seven days per week in the summer.

The "elephant train" would load and unload on El Portal and Park Street. Streets bordering Vina del Mar Plaza, and go as far as the American Distilling Co. at Nevada and Bridgeway. Fare would be 25 cents round trip, 15 cents one way. The city would get 10 per cent of gross income.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said a number of legal problems might arise regarding the franchise and this should be looked into. "We will try to decide on the request at our next meeting, May 3," said Mayor Jan Paul Dyk.

Plans for 175 apartments, to be built on pilings over the bay in Sausalito's Marinship area, were revealed when Sausalito Boatdock Apartments Inc., builders, appealed a denial by the community appearance advisory board. Denial was mainly on the basis of density.

Thomas E. Flowers, vice president of Sausalito boatdock apartments, claimed density is within standards set by the zoning ordinance and the design is in the "best solution possible at the allowed density." Councilmen set May 17 for hearing of the appeal.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

1. Agreed to discuss May 3 a proposal from Sausalito art festival committee on the annual art show.
2. Introduced an ordinance granting Sausalito Community TV a franchise for the entire city except for "old town."
3. Set for May 3 discussion of a proposal that councilmen meet with department heads from time to time "for smoother relations."
4. Approved a 10-minute parking zone in front of Sausalito Dry Cleaners, 218 Caledonia Street.
5. Agreed to discuss May 3 Assembly Bill 135, which would allow creation of local assessment districts for undergrounding of overhead utility lines.
6. Acknowledged receipt of an electric heater from Welcome Wagon, to be used for scout meetings in the recreation house at Cloud View Park. Mayor Dyk also asked the park be closed and locked at sunset.
7. Discussed possible traffic lights on Bridgeway in the area between Harbor Drive and Ebbtide Avenue and agreed that city staff members will meet with county officials to discuss traffic channelization. Councilman Melvin S. Wax said he is worried that someone will get killed in the area.
8. Consented to the city undertaking proceedings to acquire and construct a sanitary sewerage system near Waldo Point under an assessment district.

Sea Lion Is Saved For Sake Of Art By Sausalito Council

Art had its way last night in Sausalito, city of artists.

The city council agreed to contribute $1,400 toward total cost of $3,750 to re-cast in bronze the crumbling cement sea lion statue near Tiffany Beach. The rest of the money will be paid for by the Sausalito Foundation, which has already raised $1,401, reported Foundation president Jack Wagner.

Muir Beach artist Al Sybrian, who designed the original lion and has the molds, will deliver them to a foundry for $1,250. Need for early action on the lion was needed, said Wagner, since Sybrian is moving to southern California and he will do some work on the art object.

Councilman Earl F. Dunphy claimed the $1,400 could be better spent in other spots but favored spending $500 of city money. He cast the lone vote against the expenditure.

Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin said the city should think not only in terms of "housekeeping items" such as fire trucks, but in terms of permanent esthetic qualities.

Councilman Alexander R. Imlay said he found it difficult to assess what value a sea lion has compared to a fire engine but would support spending the money for the lion.

An artist in the audience opposed the project. Serge Truback, artist who was an unsuccessful city council candidate said "it's too small." He feels the lion should be of granite.

Left unanswered were "does the city own the present seal?" and "what will happen to the new seal when Bridgeway is widened?"

Air Force Reports Theft Of Handgun

A .38 caliber pistol is missing from the locked Air Police gun cabinet at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The pistol, owned by A/2 James W. Click, was discovered to be missing on April 11, said Air Force officials who have asked law officers and pawn shops to be on the lookout for the weapon. There was no evidence of the cabinet having been forced open, investigating officers said.

Personality Wins A Title

Peggy Robertson, official sweetheart of the Tomales chapter, Future Farmers of America, won fourth place in the "Miss Personality" contest at the annual FFA field day in Fresno Saturday.

The chapter's dairy cattle team placed ninth, earning 1,164 points. Tomales High School junior Terry Zimmerman ran up the dairy team's highest single score, 399.

Tomales youths also came in third in Guernsey and ninth in Holstein judging. Senior John Stout was highest single scorer in the livestock judging with 314 points.

Members of the chapter will next compete in the state judging finals May 7 in San Luis Obispo.

Fairfax Teachers' Pay Up To Voters

The Fairfax School District Board decided last night that a proposed 4 per cent increase in pay for district teachers and classified employees will have to depend on the outcome of a July 7 vote on an increase in the district tax rate, and on this year's assessed valuation in the district.

District voters will vote on a proposed increase in the district "general operating" tax rate limit from $2.05 to $2.70, July 7. The district's total tax rate this year was $2.64 per $100 assessed valuation.

Supt. Homer Sisk said the school board decided that the increase for teachers from a range of $5,400 to $10,000, to $5,616-$10,400 could not be made unless the tax increase is voted or there is sufficient increase in assessed valuation.

The raise proposed for teachers is 4 per cent at every level, and the raise proposed for classified employees is "about 4 per cent," Sisk said.

The board re-adopted the 1965-66 salary schedule last night, with provision for an increase if possible.

The board authorized Sisk to continue negotiations with Marin Municipal Water District on an acre of water district property adjacent to Deer Park School.

The school board also:

1. Received a letter from Mrs. Gertrude Cherry, deputy probation officer for Marin County, saying that a former district teacher, Mrs. Francis Borresen, convicted of embezzlement of district funds, has made the first two payments toward repaying the district the $7,000 involved. They payment will be made over a four-year period.

2. Continued an agreement with the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum for museum use by school classes.

3. Granted M. Farr Associates a slope easement on the site of the new White Hill School in exchange for an equal amount of land.

4. Accepted resignations of two Manor School teachers, Joanne Brady and Kathleen Stephens, effective at the end of the school year.

Marin General Hospital Prepares For Blackouts

Marin General Hospital will have planned power blackouts for up to four hours this weekend while electricians work to replace equipment on the hospital's main electrical panel, according to hospital administrator William W. Turner.

Turner told the Marin Hospital District board that, except in certain key areas, all parts of the hospital will be without power from noon to 2 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday while workers replace breaker contacts on the main electrical panel.

Key areas will be shut down for only 10 minutes to switch to emergency standby power.

"We are doing this now so that we can control the necessary electrical shutdown and prevent future equipment failure which could eliminate power in the hospital for days," Turner said.

The hospital district board also set criteria for a replacement for Turner, who has resigned from the hospital as of May 20 to direct Mound Park Hospital in St. Petersburg, Fla., with salary and retirement benefits totalling $27,500 annually.

The board, which has already received two dozen applications to replace the chief administrator, agreed to meet in closed session every Tuesday and Thursday, starting tomorrow, from 8-10 a.m. to review them.

The Marin Hospital District board also:

1. Heard from chief of staff T. Scott Strathairn that the hospital is planning to set up an interim psychiatric unit with seven beds at a cost of $5,000, to operate until the community mental health center is completed.

2. Heard that the Mill Valley Record has raised $450.53 for a respirator for the hospital through a subscription campaign.

Bishop Scolds Card Burners

RENO, Nev. (AP) — The Episcopal bishop of California says the act of burning a draft card is indefensible and should be punished.

Speaking last night at the University of Nevada, the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike said, "This act strikes at the very roots of the principle of law and order."

Bishop Pike said draft card burners should not be drafted in retaliation because the "Selective Service is not a judicial agency."

"But I think these people should be cited for a misdemeanor at the very least and pay a fine or the price of getting another draft card typed out," he said.

Youths Blamed For 27 Thefts In Terra Linda

Arrest of two 16-year-old Terra Linda High School youths by sheriff's officers has cleared up 27 burglaries and a dozen more attempted burglaries, all in Marinwood.

Sheriff's Juvenile Inspectors William Johansen and Charles T. Prandi said the pair, apprehended after a lengthy investigation and information from a Petaluma youth, had taken over $500 in loot including cash, transistor radios, jewelry, phonograph records and guns from last September to last month.

Procedure, the officers said, was to ring doorbells of homes on weekends, usually from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. If no one answered, the pair would seek unlocked doors and windows.

In one case, they took a .22 caliber pistol, kept it three days, then secretly returned it.

Johansen said the burglaries and attempts were on 11 different streets, but heaviest hit was Blackstone Drive, where seven burglaries occurred.

Almost all cash and articles taken were given away or spent by the pair, he added. The youths have been cited to the county juvenile probation office.

Novato Dachshunds Win In Sacramento

Champion Del Akers El Capitain, a long haired dachshund owned by B. K. Simpson of Novato, was named "best of variety" at the Sacramento Kennel Club dog show Sunday.

Blairhaven Silk Masterpiece and Blairhaven Mini Von Getz both earned points toward champion cups. Both are from Blairhaven Kennels, Novato.

Film Is Scheduled

A film dealing with the work of Dr. Ray O. Creager, director of the Child Guidance Clinic at Kalamazoo, Mich., will be a feature of a meeting called by the Marin County Chapter, California Assn. for Neurologically Handicapped Children, tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Davidson Junior High School, San Rafael.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

8:34 a.m. San Anselmo—False alarms at both Sunny Hills orphanage and the First Presbyterian Church, Kensington Road. Report from the church was caused by a faulty automatic alarm system.

1:40 p.m., San Rafael—Wash down after an auto accident on Fifth Avenue between A Street and Court Street.

6:01 p.m., San Rafael — Inspected scene of a small fire in a cardboard container at 520 D Street. Fire, probably caused by juveniles, put out with extinguishers half hour earlier.

11:09 p.m., Sausalito—Fire, caused by overheated hot water heater, caused $100 damage to 43-foot cabin cruiser, Sea Breeze, owned by Jack Harvey of Sausalito. Boat tied at Slip 205, Maddon and Lewis Yacht Harbor.

San Anselmo Schools Salary Increase Voted

San Anselmo School District trustees last night granted across-the-board raises to teachers and classified personnel which will cost the district an additional $56,524 in fiscal 1967.

Trustees granted the teachers a 5 per cent across the board increase, raising the salary range from $5,292-$10,308 to $5,557-$10,823. Cost of this raise will be $51,224, according to Supt. Stephen Parodi.

Classified employees were granted a $15 raise. Parodi said this will constitute a 3.15 per cent increase on the total non-teaching payroll and cost the district $5,300.

Trustees also discussed the possibility of raising the maximum operating tax rate (the present rate in this category is $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation).

Also discussed was a $500,000-$600,000 bond issue for completion of Red Hill and Hidden Valley schools.

"The board concurred that something will have to be done," Parodi said. "I think they favor working for the bond issue first, then the tax rate. They agreed to think of people who would help in election campaigns and to discuss the matter at practically every meeting."

San Anselmo School District board also:

1. Called for bids on addition of five classrooms, locker facilities, a library, teacher room, material center room and principal's office at Hidden Valley School. Architect Martin Rosse estimated construction cost at $212,733. Bids will be opened at 5 p.m. May 10.

2. Called for bids for paving at Red Hill School, with cost estimated at $22,000. Bids will be opened at 4:30 p.m. May 10.

3. Agreed to a new policy calling for tuberculosis checkups annually instead of biennially for all district employees starting next year.

4. Agreed on assignment of pupils to elementary schools next year. All sixth and seventh graders now at Brookside and Sleepy Hollow schools will attend Hidden Valley School. All sixth and seventh graders now at Isabel Cook and Wade Thomas schools will attend Red Hill School.

Novato Club President Is Named Joe Jacobs

Joe Jacob has been elected president of the Novato Community Club.

The Independent-Journal, in yesterday's edition, spelled Jacob's name incorrectly in two different versions.

Rabid Skunk, Dogs Tangle In Novato

A rabid skunk was killed by a Novato police officer last week, the Marin County Health Department revealed today.

Dan R. Pelz, health education officer, said the department has quarantined two dogs owned by Jodi Esparza, 11, of 195 Los Robles Road, and will have to destroy them if the boy's parents cannot prove the animals have received rabies shots.

Pelz said Jodi and a friend, Randy Litscheim, 11, of 7 Dusel Court, saw the skunk behaving strangely Thursday in a lot across from Jodi's home. The skunk was cornered by Jodi's pet dachshund and terrier and the youngsters put it in a bag and took it home.

Novato police came and shot the skunk, then sent it to the health department.

Tests confirmed yesterday that it was rabid.

Office Eqiupment

Airman Howard K. Beade II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard K. Beade of 2060 Carolyn Way, Novato, has been selected for training at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo., as an office equipment repairman. He recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Legislator Pay Bill Modified

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A provision in a proposed constitutional amendment that might have given a $2,000 windfall to current legislators has been eliminated by the Senate Rules Committee.

The measure, which would clear the way for a companion bill raising legislative salaries from $6,000 to $18,000 annually if approved by voters, was amended to state flatly that any raise could only come next year.

Some legal experts had said that its previous wording could have meant that the pay hike would take effect the day of the election, Nov. 8, if voters approved the amendment.

Campus Newsmen Quit In Protest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Charging censorship of campus news, three top officials of Loyola University's student newspaper have resigned as an outgrowth of a protest demonstration earlier this month.

Steve Lefevre, 21, the editor, said the dispute grew out of a student demonstration at the archdiocesan chancery office this month protesting the removal of a chapel altar by James Francis Cardinal McIntyre.

Lefevre said the newspaper's faculty moderator, The Rev. James Markey, S.J., refused to permit several stories about the demonstration.

Here Are 10 New Marin Mayors

MELVIN S. WAX
Reporter becomes mayor

SAUSALITO

Melvin S. Wax was elected mayor of the city of Sausalito last night, by the city council, taking over the gavel from Jan Paul Dyk, mayor for two years.

Wax, a reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle, has served as councilman two years and prior to that was chairman of the city planning commission. He was formerly vice mayor.

Dyk then nominated councilman Earl F. Dunphy as vice mayor and Dunphy was elected unanimously.

Ballots from last week's council election were canvassed by City Clerk Miriam B. Ansell, who then administered oaths of office to councilmen Dyk and Dunphy. The incumbent councilmen received the highest number of votes in balloting in a field of six.

First action by Wax as mayor was to appoint Dyk as finance committee chairman and Councilman Alexander R. Imlay, as finance committee member.

JOHN S. HOFFMIRE
Tiburon's second mayor

TIBURON

John S. Hoffmire became Tiburon's second mayor last night.

He was nominated by outgoing mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge, who refused to be considered for the post again. Thomas E. Drohan, who led a field of eight candidates in last week's election, was chosen vice-mayor.

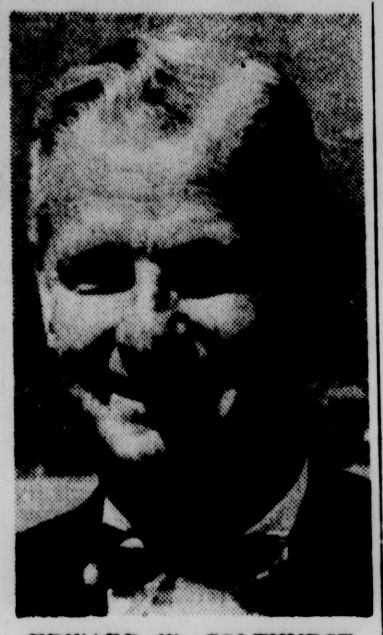
Drohan and William R. Bremer were seated as new councilmen. The third new member, Branwell D. Fanning, missed the meeting because he was toastmaster at a business dinner in San Francisco. He was sworn in later last night by City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose.

Hoffmire, 42, is a partner in the Triple S Tire Centers of San Rafael. He lives at 583 Virginia Drive and has been a Tiburon resident for eight years. He, like Strawbridge, was elected to a four-year term in 1964.

Last night, Hoffmire pledged the new council to progress in solving Tiburon's problems.

Strawbridge said it had been a "singular honor" to be the city's first mayor, and praised defeated councilman Anne L. Ellinwood, who was fourth in the poll, for her "quiet help to me and the community." He said as a councilman instead of mayor, he would be able to speak out more often.

Strawbridge was presented with a "citation" by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court. Judge Smith, who was the city's first city attorney, read that Strawbridge must "show cause why judgments should not be made in certain matters," then extolled Strawbridge for his term as mayor.



EDWARD W. COLTHURST
Fourth year in the chair

CORTE MADERA

Edward W. Colthurst was re-elected mayor of Corte Madera at the reorganization meeting of the town council last night, starting his fourth year in the chair.

Colthurst, a member of the council since 1958, previously served as mayor from April, 1960, to April, 1961, then was elected to the post again in 1962 and 1964.

The vote for Colthurst was 3-1, with Charles F. Pendleton dissenting. Colthurst abstained. Pendleton last year had urged that the mayoralty be rotated among council members.

Pendleton was unanimously elected vice mayor after he was nominated for the post by Colthurst.

Sworn in as new council members were Holmes S. Norville and Harold B. Wagstaff. Taking the oath for a new term was Colthurst, who was re-elected.

Norville and Wagstaff succeeded Albert E. Kogler and Norman R. Barnett, who lost their bids for re-election.

Colthurst, 56, is superintendent of manufacturing operations of Mipro Metal Products Co., South San Francisco. He is a director of the Marin Transit District and chairman of the advisory board for the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Zone.

The new council made no change in commissioners or appointive officers.

PETER R. ARRIGONI Jr.
Assumes Fairfax mayoralty

FAIRFAX

Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., a 34-year-old stockbroker, was unanimously elected mayor of Fairfax by the city council last night.

As mayor, Arrigoni succeeded Frank L. Lawrence, who was defeated in his bid for re-election April 12.

Councilman George R. Pagni, who nominated Arrigoni for mayor, was unanimously elected vice mayor.

Two new council members, Frank J. Egger and Mrs. Adelaide P. Wilson, and Councilman Robert R. Souza, who was re-elected were given the oath of office.

Egger and Mrs. Wilson filled seats left vacant by Lawrence and Waldemar E. Radtke, who did not seek election.

Arrigoni and Pagni, who were elected in April, 1964, are now senior members of the council. Souza was appointed in May, 1964, to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Freeman Blake.

A canvass of the April 12 balloting revealed no change in the totals which gave Mrs. Wilson her council seat by one vote over Stanley W. Little, 557-756.

Arrigoni served as chairman of the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission before he was elected to the council.

Utility Wires Talks Coming

Marin County supervisors yesterday appointed Chairman Byron W. Leydecker to meet with San Rafael city officials to try to resolve a disagreement over undergrounding utility lines in widening San Pedro Road.

The San Rafael City Council has approved "streamlining" on the entire length of the widening project from Embarcadero to the Porto Bello pumping station. Srteamlining is wires on light standards with service lines underground.

The board of supervisors wants the lines entirely underground. As the project is a joint city-county project, the two jurisdictions must agree.

Tops vote, named mayor

BELVEDERE

The Belvedere City Council last night elected John R. Moore, high vote-getter in last week's election, as the city's new mayor.

He succeeds Merritt K. Ruddock, who remains as a councilman. Thomas S. Price was elected vice-mayor.

Moore, 46, lives at 32 Golden Gate Avenue. He is an investment broker in San Francisco and has lived in Belvedere 19 years.

He and Mrs. Sally Matthews were re-elected for four-year terms. Fifth member of the council is Edwin J. Drechsel.

JOHN M. REICHMUTH
Returns to mayor's chair

SAN ANSELMO

San Anselmo city councilmen elected John M. Reichmuth as mayor and Arthur W. Smith as vice mayor last night, after seating newly elected council members.

This will be Reichmuth's second term as mayor. He chaired the council in 1962.

He is a computer programmer for the Army at Fort Mason, and resides at 405 Redwood Road.

Sworn in for four-year terms were outgoing Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro and the two successful challengers in the city election—Duane C. Ragan and Robert M. Scott.

William Fanchini, an eight-year veteran of the council who did not seek reelection, and Cedric E. Clute, appointed to the council three and one-half years ago and defeated in last week's election, stepped down from the council.

Ragan resigned from the planning commission and the council appointed Kenenth Anderson, president of the San Anselmo Homes Assn., to replace him.

City administrator Douglas J. Flautt reported that Edward L. Nordmann's term on the commission has expired and suggested that Reichmuth talk with Nordmann before making an appointment, "because his attendance at commission meetings has been irregular for some time."

Reed Schools Offer Kindergarten Signup

Reed School District parents may register their children for fall kindergarten Monday through Friday next week, Superintendent Edward Pino said today.

Registration will be held all day at Reed, Bel Aire and Granada schools and from 9 a.m. to noon at Belvedere and Tiburon schools. To be eligible, a child must be five years old by midnight Dec. 1, 1966.

FREDERICK S. ALLEN
Retains Ross mayoralty

ROSS

Frederick S. Allen, 53, was unanimously re-elected mayor of Ross last night at the reorganization meeting of the town council.

Roy Farrington Jones was unanimously elected vice mayor. Both were elected for two-year terms.

Allen and Jones, who ran unopposed, were re-elected to the council April 12.

Allen, who is now semi-retired, was appointed to the council in October, 1960, to fill the vacancy created by resignation of James McNab, and was elected to a four-year term in 1962.

He was elected mayor in 1964, succeeding Harry C. Scott.

ALBERT E. WHITE
Doctor becomes mayor

MILL VALLEY

Dr. Albert E. White, 38, was elected mayor of Mill Valley, succeeding Michael Wornum, at the reorganization meeting of the city council last night.

George E. Wickham was elected vice mayor.

Rodric L. Robinson and Dean N. Meyer, who were elected April 12, were sworn in as members of the council. They succeeded Joseph E. Sheeks and William M. Secor, who did not seek re-election.

Dr. White, a member of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs and the Marin Conservation League, was elected to the council in 1964. He is physician-in-chief of Permanente Medical Group clinic in San Rafael.

WAYNE WOMACK
Back as mayor after lapse

NOVATO

Fellow Novato councilmen last night elected Wayne Womack as mayor, the second time he has headed the city government.

Womack, a dry goods store proprietor, was among councilmen elected when the city was incorporated in 1960 and was voted mayor. He served for a two-year term and declined to run again, instead trying for a county supervisor post, for which he was defeated. He was again elected to the council in 1964.

M. E. Silva and Harley McAskill were sworn in as councilmen last night, replacing Mrs. Lucile Cannon and Robert D. Carrow, who did not run in the April 12 election.

Silva is another of the original city council, serving from 1960 to 1964 when he was defeated. McAskill was named the first chairman of the city's planning commission in 1960.

Douglas M. Merrill was voted vice mayor last night.

Sleepy Hollow Sets Talk On Youth Woes

Narcotics, vandalism and juvenile delinquency will be the main topics when the Sleepy Hollow Homes Assn. holds a quarterly membership meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sleepy Hollow clubhouse.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, Drake High School Principal Harold Allison and others will speak to the group.

President R. Bryant Miley said the discussion probably will include an effort to seek ways of ending a recent wave of vandalism and burglaries in the community.

VAUGHN M. MARKER
To Larkspur top spot

LARKSPUR

Vaughn M. Marker, managing engineer for the Pacific Coast Division of the Asphalt Institute in Berkeley, is the new mayor of Larkspur.

Marker was unanimously elected mayor last night at the reorganization meeting of the Larkspur City Council.

He succeeded Neil R. Brixon, who nominated him for the post. Councilman Earl J. O'Grady was unanimously elected vice mayor.

Brixon, who was re-elected April 12, and Alfred Malvino, furniture store owner, newly elected, were sworn in as members of the council.

Malvino filled the seat left vacant when former councilman Robert J. Smith did not run for re-election.

Marker, 44, was appointed to the council in June, 1963, to succeed Daniel Allen, who resigned, and was elected to a four-year term in 1964.

Prior to serving on the council, Marker was a member of the Larkspur Planning Commission for five years.

Court Reporter Raises Predicted

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—A bill setting Marin County court reporters' salaries at a flat $12,000 per year instead of the present $35 per diem will pass the State Assembly this week, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, predicted today

Bagley introduced the bill (AB-139) at request of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, with agreement of the court reporters and judges. He said the new salary "is in accord with the pattern throughout the Bay Area."

SALES CAREER MEN AND WOMEN Are You Dissatisfied?

Would you like to be your own boss? Would you like to increase your earning possibilities? Would you want to represent only quality products? Would you like the prestige of working with a reputable and stable organization? If so, we can offer you

1. RECOGNITION — Our representatives are the most important people in our company.
2. SECURITY—Our field tested programs work and our stock sells at an all-time high.
3. SATISFACTION—Our customers welcome us back and thank us for accepting their order. Our company leads the field selling home education programs — by appointment only.
4. EARNINGS — We GUARANTEE A MINIMUM OF $440.00 PER MONTH against earned commissions, however, our representatives earn far more than that.

If you are between the ages of 21 and 65 with your own car—if you are energetic and industrious — you'll like being with our Company. Any of our Representatives will welcome the chance to discuss this position with you after you complete some short aptitude tests. Call between 9:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. and arrange for an interview with Tom Smullen. He will be glad to tell you all about our Company and products to help you decide whether ours is the place for you to establish your sales career. Call now—992-1723 or 992-4447.

What You DON'T Have to Do for $160 PER MO.
(ONLY $5.33 per day!)
at THE MEADOWS of Terra Linda

You DON'T have to

- Drive your laundry to the laundromat
- Mow your lawn
- Park your car in cramped places
- Pay the water bill
- Drive miles to a superb putting green
- Go more than a few yards to dinner or cocktails (you have your own excellent dining and cocktail lounge!)
- Drive miles for a refreshing swim. (Swim in one of the three pools right here!)
- Wait hours at a public tennis court. (Play on your own championship courts!)

. . . in fact, our monthly social calendar provides many hours of leisure activities for your pleasure . . . when and if you WANT them!

But . . . you're invited to look at what you may WANT to do . . . !

- Take time to enjoy pleasant surroundings and relax with your family
- Enjoy a trouble-free home
- . . . and enjoy your leisure, for a change!

These important features are not extras . . . just some of the many features included in the relaxed living at

The Meadows of Terra Linda

May we introduce YOU to the wonderful living at The Meadows . . . . ? Drive out today and see it for yourself!

. . . at Terra Linda Turn-off, Hiway 101, at the end of Manuel Freitas Parkway (Just North of San Rafael)

CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO

RESOLUTION NO. 31-66

RESOLUTION GIVING NOTICE OF PROPOSED ANNEXATION TO THE CITY OF NOVATO OF UNINHABITED TERRITORY DESCRIBED HEREIN AND DESIGNATED "IGNACIO BLVD. ANNEXATION =2" AND GIVING NOTICE OF TIME AND PLACE FOR HEARING OF PROTESTS THERETO.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO:

1. That it has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Novato, and this Council finds, that it would be for the best interests of said City and of the residents of the contiguous area herein described to alter the boundaries of said City by annexing thereto and incorporating therein as a part thereof under the provisions of the annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939, as amended, certain property situated in the County of Marin, State of California, hereby designated "Ignacio Blvd. Annexation =2", and described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof.

2. The reasons why the City of Novato desires said annexation are as follows:

(a) Said territory because of its location and other features should be governed in its development by the same zoning and planning regulations which govern territory within the City of Novato.

(b) Because of its location, said territory will receive the benefit of and should therefore participate in supporting the municipal services of said city.

3. The City of Novato has heretofore filed with the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County, a notice of intention to annex the territory more particularly described in Exhibit "A". Said notice contained the specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed. The description of said territory was submitted to the Marin County Boundary Commission, and the attached description is in accordance with the report of said Commission. Thereafter, the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County after public hearing did approve said proposed annexation.

4. That Tuesday, May 24, 1966, at the hour of 8 o'clock P.M., in the Council Chambers, Novato Community House, in the City of Novato, County of Marin, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where any person owning real property within the uninhabited territory above described and proposed to be annexed to the City of Novato, and having any objections to the proposed annexation, may appear before the Council of the City of Novato and show cause why such uninhabited territory should not be so annexed to the City of Novato. The protest must be in writing, may be filed at any time before the hour set for hearing objections to the proposed annexation, and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of property affected and the description and area of such property, in general terms.

5. The City Clerk of the City of Novato is hereby authorized and directed to cause a copy of this resolution to be published at least twice, but not oftener than once a week, in the Novato Advance, a newspaper of general circulation published in said City of Novato and in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Marin, said publication to be complete at least twenty (20) days prior to the date set for hearing.

6. The City Clerk is directed to cause written notice to be given to such other persons as may be legally entitled thereto, in the manner required by law.

* * * * * * *

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the City Council of the City of Novato, Marin County, California, at a regular meeting thereof, held on the 11th day of April, 1966, by the following vote, to wit:

AYES: COUNCILMEN ADAMS, CANNON, MERRILL, WOMACK

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Science Finds Strange Link Between Color Vision, Cirrhosis

VAN DELLEN

Cirrhosis of the liver is an intriguing disease. It is brought about by drinking too much, eating too little, or both. Some people abuse the organ for years and for some unknown reason, escape without a scratch.

Physicians from a Santiago, Chile, hospital found that the color blind were more susceptible to cirrhosis of the liver than persons with normal color vision. A similar correlation could not be made with other hepatic disorders.

This may be significant because color blindness is hereditary. A sex-linked gene also may contribute to a form of weakness that makes the liver more vulnerable to the toxic effects of alcohol and malnutrition.

LAST YEAR we wrote about a similar statistical study involving the heart. Chronic alcoholics with cirrhosis of the liver were less likely to develop heart attacks than heavy drinkers without liver trouble. Our only comment was that drinkers with cirrhosis do not live long enough to develop coronary thrombosis.

This is only part of the story. The liver manufactures substances that help the blood to clot and when this process is malfunctioning, thrombosis is less likely to occur. In this regard, an ailing liver is a built-in anticoagulant machine that prevents clot formation in the coronary arteries. The organ also manufactures estrogen hormones that protect against atherosclerosis.

SEVERAL YEARS ago we wrote about another study in which someone noted that most men with cirrhosis have very little hair on the chest. Very little has been added to this concept. The alcoholic destined to develop cirrhosis has other tell-tale findings that are difficult to explain. These include redness of the palms and nose, spider veins on the face and upper abdomen, Dupuytren's contractures of the hands, and enlarged breasts in men.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

TROPICS DISEASES

Mrs. M. writes: What are the symptoms of tropical diseases?

REPLY

Books have been written to answer this question. There are hundreds of tropical diseases and each requires individual treatment. Malaria, African sleeping sickness, yaws, and yellow fever are only a few of the better known tropical diseases.

GASTRIC FREEZING

P. O. S. writes: I have heard about a frozen treatment to eliminate the pain of a stomach ulcer. I got an ulcer eight months ago. Is this an acceptable procedure?

REPLY

Acceptable perhaps, but the results after six months to a year are not good enough to warrant recommendation.

EGG SIPPING

J. O. writes: Is there any advantage in sipping one raw egg a day?

REPLY

There is no advantage to us but animal and bird nest robbers like their eggs this way. An egg is an egg and boiling, poaching, frying, or scrambling does not detract from its nutritional value.

APOPLEXY

T. F. writes: Are cerebral hemorrhage and stroke the same thing?

REPLY

Yes, although in many strokes a clot rather than a hemorrhage develops in a blood vessel and the brain is damaged by lack of blood in contrast to a hemorrhage in which the clot presses on the sensitive brain tissue.

Today's Health Hint—Wringers should have a safety release.

Stowaway Dies In Jet, May Have Fled Russia

PARIS (UPI) —Suspicion grew today the unidentified stowaway found dead in the wheel pit of a French airliner was a political refugee fleeing the Iron Curtain.

The dark-haired lightly-clad man apparently perished 30,000 feet over Eastern Europe in the freezing, cramped wheel compartment of an Air France jetliner.

Officials said the stowaway might have slipped aboard the Caravelle jetliner either in Moscow or Warsaw Sunday despite the heavy guard mounted on it in both airports.

The tiny compartment where he was found is under the right wing of the plane and when the wheel was retracted shortly after takeff forced him to bend double in seated position.

He was found with his face buried in his knees and two earplugs torn from his shirt stuffed into his ears. Pending publication of autopsy details it was believed he died of a combination of suffocation in his unpressurized prison and the minus 40 degree temperatures at high altitudes.

"He must have suffered terribly before he died," one medical source said.

The body was found early Monday by an Air France mechanic overhauling the plane after it returned from a busy weekend flying between Paris, Barcelona, Spain, and Munich, Germany, as well as Moscow and Warsaw.

By a process of elimination and local checks, officials said they have ruled out the possibility he got aboard the plane in the West.

New Portable Classrooms In Mill Valley

Seven additional portable classrooms were authorized Monday night by Mill Valley School District trustees, to bring the total number of portables to 14 when schools reopen in September.

Two are slated for Alto, three for Tamalpais Valley and one each at Strawberry Point and Marin Terrace schools. The rooms average about $2,000 per room per year and will belong to the district in seven years under lease-purchase arrangement if the district decides to keep them.

Mill Valley School District trustees also:

1. Agreed to include $35,000 in the fiscal 1967 budget for a development fund for experimental work in art, dramatics, elective offerings, music, library services, teacher aides, and assistant teachers.

2. Agreed to add a seventh school bus to the fleet and to replace a 1951 model.

3. Approved Principal Robert de Vilbiss' plans for a July 5-29 summer school session at Alto, Tamalpais Valley, Edna Maguire and Park schools.

4. Heard a request from Alto Parent-Teacher Assn. for improvements to the childrens' eating area at Alto School.

Cleaning up litter in the United States costs around $500 million annually, reports the National Automobile Club.

Fossil Fans Rush To Beat Freeway Job

IRVINGTON (AP)— A group of dedicated paleontologists are digging above the Hayward Fault for pre-historic fossils before they're buried beneath a freeway.

Near Irvington in southern Alameda County, they are working in a former gravel quarry where mammoth tusks and other relics from more than a million years ago have been found.

The freeway is to cross the site from the vicinity of San Jose Mission. Construction is expected to begin within the year.

Wesley Gordon, who has been digging at the pit — considered one of the richest fossil sites in western states —has become a recognized authority on remains found there.

The experts have been unable to explain why so many fossils are concentrated in one spot.

Chinese Quit Consulate Under Guard

JAKARTA (UPI) —Red Chinese diplomats evacuated their consulate under heavy guard today as 200 militantly anti-Communist students swarmed on the grounds and vowed to make it their headquarters.

The Chinese had been living at the rear of the consulate compound and were evacuated when yellow-jacketed members of the Indonesian Student Action Assn. KAMI took over the building. They were believed to have joined other Red Chinese diplomatic personnel at China's embassy compound. Demonstrators sacked the embassy Friday.

Today's takeover was peaceful, but yesterday KAMI demonstrators hauled papers and furniture out of the building and set them afire. The consulate was sacked in February by demonstrators protesting Radio Peking's anti-Indonesian propaganda broadcasts.

KAMI, the moving force behind demonstrations that 100-man cabinet, had been quartered in a small room at the Catholic Youth headquarters. The organization said they would formally take possession of the building and grounds in a ceremony later today.

Australian Troops Leaving For Saigon

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI) —Several hundred Australian troops will leave for Viet Nam from Sydney on Friday, Navy Minister Frederick Chaney said yesterday.

The soldiers and equipment will be part of an Australian task force being established to relieve the Australian 1st Battalion now serving in Viet Nam.

Johnson Asks Nugent To Take Radio Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) —With a prudent parental eye on the future, President Johnson has asked future son-in-law Patrick J. Nugent to work for the LBJ radio-television interests after he weds Luci in August.

Luci and her sister Lynda Bird will inherit the Johnson interests, including station KTBC-TV at Austin, Tex., some day and the President is said to believe Nugent should begin to learn the ropes.

According to informed sources, the 22-year-old Nugent was reluctant at first. He had lined up a job on the staff of the Senate Commerce Committee to go to when his tour of duty with the Air National Guard was completed.

But apparently the President's famous powers of persuasion won out. At least, Nugent has decided to turn down the Capitol Hill post.

When they arrived to spend Easter at the LBJ Ranch in Texas, Pat and Luci told reporters he had a job. They wouldn't say what it was, however, because he might not like it.

Nugent, a Marquette University graduate, has begun work toward a master's degree. He is taking a night course in business administration at the American University here.

State Aide Tells Red Ink Problem

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state spent about $400,000 more than it received in cash during the first nine months of fiscal 1965-66, State Controller Alan Cranston said yesterday.

The cash receipts of about $1.5 million were 10 per cent higher than for the same period in 1964-65, Cranston said. But he added that expenditures of about $1.9 million were 11 per cent higher than the 1964-65 period.

The cash balance in the general fund March 31 was approximately $7 million compared to about $15.3 million a year ago.

Farm Hiring Aide Resigns Under Fire

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State Employment Director Albert B. Tieburg said yesterday he has accepted the resignation of Norman V. Smith, a state Farm Labor Service seasonal interviewer who allegedly falsified work orders.

Tieburg dismissed Smith, a resident of Fresno, in January for allegedly reporting that farm workers had been hired and referred as the result of fictitious work orders. The resignation is effective Jan. 31, 1966.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Young And Broke? This Is For You

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Something strange may happen to network television entertainment next season. Despite the blockbuster effect of "Batman" shows about reasonably contemporary people — perhaps even slightly real—appear to be making a comeback.

Of course it's always questionable whether programs live up to network outlines, but it does seem in this case that there are actually some new series that will take note of the audience that has too long been ignored — the bright young adults trying to make their way in the modern world.

Surely the greatest influence on the networks in this area has not been their sudden awakening to the world around them, or any electric surge of creative thinking, but, as usual, the borrowing of imagination from another medium. Actually, it has not even been an entire medium that they are influenced by, but a single man —playwright Neil Simon, the hottest stage author in the nation in a commercial sense.

Mr. Simon, of course, wrote "Barefoot in the Park," among his other hits, and the fact that he has been so successful by dealing in a comedy vein with the attitudes of the young-and-upcoming generation has made him a sort of unmentioned higher power at the networks.

ABC-TV's new half-hour series, "Love on a Rooftop," for instance, is reported to be highly aware of the approach of "Barefoot in the Park." As described in a show business trade paper by a telvision executive, the two principals in the program are a young newlywed couple who are sized up like this:

"They are in love with each other and San Francisco. They get married, with no money at all. They live in a walkup apartment on Russian Hill, with a view overlooking the bay. It's a story of the comedic struggle of young marriage, from the emotional and financial level."

Also at ABC-TV, there will be another half-hour comedy called "That Girl," starring Danny Thomas' extremely talented actress-daughter, Marlo, as a young woman determined to make her way in the theater despite the problems of a conventional family that tries to look after her.

Over at NBC-TV, there is a half-hour comedy called "Hey, Landlord!" that will star Will Hutchins as a young fellow from the Midwest who inherits a converted New York City brownstone and must deal with its tenants. And the same network also has another half-hour comedy which, though it sounds too gimicky, could have possibilities in commenting humorously on modern life: "Occasional Wife" is its name, and Michael Callan appears as a young bachelor executive who needs a wife for business success, and enlists the aid of a girl who pretends for him.

Other potentially contemporary series, according to advance network summaries, include: The Tammy Grimes show, with the stage performer as an offbeat young lady; "The Rounders," half-hour comedy about a couple of modern-day bronc-busters; and "The Monkees," a half-hour show about a young, traveling rock 'n' roll quartet and the spirit of modern youth they allegedly will try to project.

Mays Ruins Leo's Debut In Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — It was a game made to order for manager Leo Durocher of the Chicago Cubs except that Willie Mays, whom he launched toward stardom 15 years ago, played for the other side.

The fabled Mays got four hits in five trips to the plate yesterday, smashed the 508th homer of his career and drove across a total of four tallies including one that pulled the San Francisco Giants into an eighth inning tie with the Cubs. Don Landrum then cracked a two-run double which provided the decisive markers in an 11-10 slugfest.

A total of 36 players got into the lineup. Durocher, who loves to manage a crowd scene, used 17. Giants manager Herman Franks, once Leo's pupil as a coach for the old New York Giants, rushed in 19. And 13 hurlers were consumed during the three hour and 25 minute battle of wits and wallops.

Home runs came by the bag full. Orlando Cepeda, a subject of trade gossip, hit his first of the year with a man on base for the Giants. Teammates Hal Lanier and Jim Hart connected after Mays's smash.

There also was power in the Cubs lineup with Randy Hundley, once one of the Giants' highest paid bonus acquisitions, and Byron Browne each belting one with two men on.

Mays now is batting .429 and has knocked in 11 tallies while

SEALS SHOOT FOR TIE IN PLAYOFFS TONIGHT

The San Francisco Seals try to pull even in their Lester Patrick Cup playoff series with Victoria tonight at the Cow Palace in the fourth post-season game between the two Western Hockey League teams.

Once again the Seals must go with fill-in goalie Marcel Pelletier, who also was the standby net tender last night when Vancouver played at Portland in the other semifinal series.

Pelletier is filling in for the Seals' injured Jack McCartan. John Henderson, one of three goalies San Francisco gave away before McCartan got hurt, mans the nets for Victoria.

San Francisco Coach Charley Burns, whose team is down 2-1 in the best-of-seven playoff, put his suqad through an 80-minute workout yesterday. Victoria worked out 20 minutes less.

National Stars In Marin Junior Swim

Some 450 youngsters from 29 swim clubs—including some fine stars who have nationally top-ranked times—will converge in Greenbrae Saturday and Sunday in the third annual Marin Swimming Championships.

The meet for Class A and B swimmers will be held in the Bon Air Recreation Center pool, under the sanction of the Pacific Assn. of the Amateur Athletic Union. Sponsors are Schultz Enterprises, Marin Pirates Swim Club and the Independent-Journal. Races will start at 9 a.m. each day.

Among the top Marin County swimmers who have entered is Robin Bachrach of the Marin Pirates, who holds a National Junior Olympics age group record time of 31.5 seconds in the 50-yard butterfly event. She's also quite a backstroker.

Other Marin swimmers entered who boast times in the "Top Five" national age group list are Marin Pirates Candy Beeler and Susan Carlisle, breaststrokers, and Roberta Shistar, a butterfly specialist. From the San Rafael Swim Club are Cookie Arrighi, Jo Ann Hislop, Kim Knudsen, Katie Parnow and Tom Panages.

Some top-flight visitors who have entered the meet include Darlene Jan of the Aquabears of Orinda who tied the national record for girls 15-17 when she splashed the 100-meter backstroke in 1:12.3; and Sue Jones of the Santa Clara Swim Club, national record holder in the 100-yard breaststroke, long course, 1:12.8.

Other top stars for the meet include Liz Close, swimming unattached, Paula Robison of the

Rusty, Dusty Kentfield Grid Stadium In The News Again

I SEE WHERE the much-maligned College of Marin football stadium in Kentfield was called another dirty name at the Marin Junior College District board meeting the other night.

Well, not exactly dirty; the word was "dusty." Board Prexy Elizabeth M. Deedy (Howdy, Deedy!) said she often wondered if the dust from the field is so bad that it reaches the spectators, how must it be for the boys playing down there. "It certainly couldn't be very healthy," she added with food for drought. Which is something to sneeze at, yes indeedy.

NOW, I DON'T see why the board has to rush into this dust problem. I think the dustees (I mean trustees) ought to sit down and give it a little more thought.

After all, it's been that way only since I played there, which was back around the time when the Tam Indians were for real, our quarterback carried a six-shooter, we formed our wagons in a circle at half-time and the stands were Custer's last.

SINCE THOSE days the college discovered grass seed and planted same, but that hasn't done much for the greatest dust bowl this side of the Texas Panhandle. You see, so many games are played at Kentfield—high school and j.c.—that the turf hasn't got any more chance of survival than a Maidenform salesman in North Beach.

THE TURF, in fact, usually wears out in late September, giving the gridders a good month or so to churn up the soil. Then, when the rains come, the turf becomes a surf and it's the birth of the ooze. (Cole Porter.) From dust to rust, grime marches on. (Cleats. I mean Keats.)

Anyone who saw the final games last season—played in a driving rain—knows what I mean. It turned out to be the biggest mud bath since the Jamestown Flood.

ANYWAY, THE trustees have been told the turf had been worked on during the Easter vacation and that it should be in better shape next season. I don't know if they reseeded it or merely equipped it with pontoons, so we'll just have to wait and see what happens.

ANOTHER ANNOUNCEMENT that was greeted with joy was that new restroom facilities will be available next football season. Did you ever visit that broken down biffy on the southeast side of the field? The one where you pulled the chain and then ran like hell. This an-cay made the Black Hole of Calcutta look like Maiden Lane on May Day.

I don't think they should destroy that glorified outhouse; just ship it to the Smithsonian Institute or, perhaps the American Can Co. for their Hall of Fame.

AS FOR the rest of the Kentfield grid stadium, it might not be a bad idea when the next heavy rains come to open the gates and let the whole undammed mess float down to Sausalito where they can use it for patty-cake tournaments.

In the maintime, let's build a big new football stadium on higher ground in Kentfield. Don't ask me how. That's up to the dusty, rusty trustees. (Burma Shave.)

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Drysdale's Costly Boner

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A minor boner by Los Angeles pitcher Don Drysdale loosed a four-run rally by the Houston Astros, giving them an 8-5 victory and putting Drysdale in the loser's column.

While 12,827 fans watched at Houston last night, Drysdale failed to cover first base on a routine grounder. It was his downfall.

The Dodger ace, seeking his first win of the season, had a 5-2 lead when the Astros filled the bases with nobody out in the fifth.

Wes Parker fumbled Joe Morgan's leadoff grounder. Sonny Jackson hit a single over Parker and Jim Wynn made a base hit to load them.

Rusty Staub's deep sacrifice fly scored Morgan. But when Bill Nicholson laid down a roller to Parker's right, Drysdale stood motionless on the mound instead of covering first base.

Explained Don later:

"Nicholson was slow getting out of the batter's box and I thought Parker could handle the ball."

Before Drysdale's relief Johnny Podres got the side out, Houston had four runs across and was ahead 6-5.

Jim Gentile singled the tying run and Nicholson came home with the deciding run on John Bateman's sacrifice fly.

Houston added two more in the eighth when Jim Wynn hit a two-run homer against Bob Miller, his second against the Dodgers.

The Astro's Cuban southpaw Mike Cuellar fanned eight batters, enough to get Houston manager Grady Hatton thinking seriously of giving Cuellar a starting assignment.

Drysdale was touched for six runs and six hits in 4 1-3 innings. He walked three.

He conceded he hadn't much stuff on the mound.

"I just didn't feel right," he said. "I was pushing the ball. My arm was moving fast but the ball wasn't. I couldn't generate any velocity."

The mound seemed to bother Don, too. He slipped several times walking into the soft clay and couldn't get his full power behind his pitches.

Pittsburgh remained tied with the Giants for the National League lead by pounding Cincinnati 7-3 for its fourth straight. Atlanta edged Philadelphia 4-3 and St. Louis trimmed New York 5-2.

The Pirates rocked Cincinnati's Sammy Ellis and two successors for 17 hits, Donn Clendenon leading the way with four singles. Winning pitcher Steve Blass, meanwhile, scattered seven hits, including rookie Tommy Helms' first major league homer. Blass also snapped Vada Pinson's carry-over hitting streak at 31 games.

Atlanta starter Wade Blasingame keyed a two-run rally in the third inning with a bunt single and reliever Clay Carroll checked Philadelphia on one hit over the last five innings. Blasingame's safe bunt, singles by Gary Geiger and Felipe Alou, a force play and Dick Groat's throwing error produced the deciding runs in the third.

Tim McCarver's bases-loaded triple in a four-run fifth inning rally shot the Cardinals past the Mets as rookie Larry Jaster outpitched New York's Jack Fisher, who has lost 10 straight.

Ex-Hamilton Fighter In Richmond Go

RICHMOND, (AP) — Middleweight Ralph McCoy, former Hamilton Air Force Base boxing star who bounced out of the amateur ranks to fight and win a scheduled 10-round main event in his first pro start, battles Rocky Montalvo tonight.

The Richmond belter stopped Jimmy Jackson in the eighth round and won his only pro bout so far. Montalvo, a San Francisco teamster, has a 13-3 record.

They meet at the Richmond Auditorium where the card also has two other 10-rounders.

Marin Tars Tennis Team Nears Title

College of Marin's tennis team took a gigantic stride toward the Golden Valley Conference championship by routing second place Santa Rosa 6-1 at Kentfield.

The victory, unbeaten Marin's seventh, put the Tars two matches ahead of Santa Rosa (5-2) with only three to go.

Greg Parkerson (M) d. Jerry Herrington (SR), 6-2, 6-2; John Zwieg (M) d. Dave Johnston (SR), 6-1, 6-3; Jeffrey Herr (M) d. Jerry Watson (SR), 6-4, 6-2; Ron Theisen (M) d. Dennis Henderson (SR), 6-3, 6-3; Bill Theircof (M) d. Bob Young (SR), 6-4, 6-0; Parkerson-Herr (M) d. Herrington-Johnston (S.R.), 6-3, 6-3; Watson-Young (SR) d. Theisen-theircof (M), 4-6, 10-8, 6-4, 8-10, 6-4.

Third Straight For Ben Burch

Marin Catholic pitcher Ben Burch continued to mow down enemy batters and his battery mate John Komo continued his heavy hitting as the Wildcats remained on top of Marin Athletic League standings yesterday with a 6-0 win over San Rafael High's Bulldogs.

Burch, the fire-balling right-hander, allowed just two hits, struck out seven and walked two in shutting out San Rafael over the seven-inning game. Komo upped his batting average to a blistering .600 with a double and single and walk for a perfect 2-for-2 day. His double knocked in two runs in the fourth inning and he walked in the third frame to force in a run, giving him three runs batted in on the day.

Marin Catholic scored all four of its third inning runs without the aid of a hit. San Rafael pitcher Bill Joost walked four batters, the Bulldogs made two errors, and two runners were moved along by sacrifices.

San Rafael got runners on second and third with one out in the top of the seventh, but Burch got the next two batters to ground out, one to third and the other back to the box.

It was Burch's third straight league shutout this season and with another 3⅓ innings of shut out ball in relief, it makes 24⅓ straight innings he has not allowed a run. Add to that his final 9⅓ innings of scoreless league ball at the end of last season, and a 33⅔ inning streak emerges. Now that's pitching at its finest.

Novato Spoils Tam Home Opener, 6-2

Home Runs By Dinkel, Dolinsek

Spoiling Tamalpais High School's first game on its new Mill Valley diamond, the Novato Hornets whipped the Indians 6-2 yesterday in Marin Athletic League baseball action.

Novato power - hitting John Dolinsek hit the first homer at the new field, and teammate Gary Dinkel followed suit with one of his own, the back to back jobs coming in the seventh inning, after Novato already had a 4-2 lead. Dolinsek's clout was blasted over the left centerfield fence, 340 feet from home plate, and Dinkel's was shot down the leftfield line, about 315 feet.

Winning pitcher for Novato, which is now 2-1 in league play, was Wayne Jones who was tagged for eight hits, including doubles by Russ Williams, Steve Woodward and Leroy Barrow. Gary Draper, Tam's starter who was yanked in the third inning, got the loss.

Other heavy hitters for Novato were Frank Perachiotti with a double and single, and Tom Corder and catcher John Sjoblom with a pair of singles apiece.

Woodward's double was good for one of Tam's runs, with first baseman Mike Einstein knocking in the other one with a single.

OUCH! COLLEGE NINE IS ROUTED BY PREPS, 13-3

Hurry back to school, Coach Ed Grimm. Your baseball players need you.

It was never more evident yesterday that the College of Marin baseball team is hurting without its coach who has been ailing at home this past week. The Tars were clobbered by Terra Linda High School's nine, 13-3. Ow!

The Trojans amassed 14 hits, including four doubles, with John Clifford, Ron Mustain, Fred Daniele, Steve Congdon and Dave Edson each getting two. And they were all off Marin front liners Jim Timmel and Ralph Garner.

Terra Linda coach Don Lucas used 19 players, including four of his five pitchers, but Marin couldn't get to any of them. Sharing the pitching duties were Ed Beckley, Mike Ainslie, Chris Calhoon and Gary Webb.

Redwood Baseball Team Finally Wins

Redwood High School's baseball team finally won a Marin Athletic League game, but the Drake Pirates will have to wait a little longer.

The Giants won their first league game in four tries yesterday by nipping Drake 4-3 in San Anselmo. The Pirates, on the other hand, have lost all four of their MCAL encounters.

Drake pitcher Bob Tobin threw a three-hitter and whiffed 10 batters, but he was betrayed by his teammates who committed five errors. None of the runs against him were earned. Winning pitcher was sophomore Mike Terry who gave up nine hits.

"The errors are just killing us," moaned Drake coach Bob Fitzhenry after the game. "Our pitchers deserve a better fate." Drake's Roy Bunt also lost a three-hitter last Friday when the Pirates were clipped 1-0 by Novato.

Russ Smith, Redwood leftfielder, got two of his team's three hits, and Drake third baseman Don Humphrey also got a pair of safeties. Both boys are all-leaguers. Bob Lopez drove in two of Drake's runs with a pinch hit single in the fourth inning.

TENNIS

San Rafael, Tam Tied For Lead

San Rafael High School's tennis team remained tied for first place with Tamalpais in Marin Athletic League standings yesterday when the Bulldog netters nipped Redwood, 3-2.

In other league matches, Terra Linda whipped Marin Catholic 4-1 and Drake edged Novato 3-2. Longest battle of the day came in the Terra Linda - Marin 'Cats match, when Jim Kinser and John Borzini of Marin Catholic outlasted Terra Linda's Richard Moran and Peter Shamray, 6-4, 14-12, in doubles competition.

GIANTS

closing in on Mel Ott's all-time National League home run record of 511.

Bob Shaw, who downed Houston in his debut and last start, faced the Cubs' Bill Hands today in the second of the three-game set as the Giants went after their fifth straight triumph. It was sound relief pitching by Hands, another former Giants possession, which helped the Cubs hang up a 9-4 win over San Francisco last Thursday for their only victory of the year against six reversals.

After hitting a pair of singles his first two times up, Mays bombed his 508th blast in the fifth with Jay Alou on base. Then he gained first on an error when Browne muffed his fly ball in center and followed this by singling Alou across with the tying run in the eighth.

Gaylord Perry hurled 2 2-3 innings in relief to be credited with the victory, his first of the year in as many decisions. Ted Abernathy of the Cubs, the fourth of five hurlers to be used by Durocher, sustained the loss and now is 0-2.

GIANTS KEEP BUSY IN CHICAGO

With Willie Mays sliding safely back into first base on attempted pickoff play (left photo), and Orlando Cepeda crossing home plate after crashing home run, it was a busy day in Chicago yesterday for the San Francisco Giants. They managed to outslug the Cubs 11-10 in a wild and woolly marathon game. (UPI Telephotos)

S.F. 'Scoop' Kills Cepeda Deal

CHICAGO (AP) — Forget about that Orlando Cepeda for Dick Ellsworth baseball deal.

It would have been a trade which possibly might have benefited both the San Francisco Giants to the point of winning the pennant and the Chicago Cubs to where they might have acquired a slugging star.

But it's all over now according to managers Leo Durocher of the Cubs and Herman Franks of the Giants.

Why? No less reason than the fact a couple of enterprising reporters went on the limb and wrote that such a deal was in the works.

Jim Enright, who covers the Cubs for Chicago's American, previously wrote that such a deal was in the making. And Harry Jupiter of the San Francisco Examiner wrote yesterday of the possibility of such a deal.

It was Jupiter's story that really blew the lid off. When Horace Stoneham read the story yesterday, he immediately phoned Franks in Chicago before the game between the Cubs and Giants and said "Cepeda is not to be traded."

After the Giants had outslugged the Cubs 11-10, Franks said "Mr. Stoneham does not like to have newspaper reporters make deals for him."

"Sure, we had been talking about a deal," said Durocher "and we might have made it but you guys couldn't sit tight. Everybody wants to scoop everybody else."

Cepeda, the slugging Giant outfielder-first baseman, played against the Cubs yesterday and hit one of four homers by the Giants. Ellsworth, a nifty southpaw, could be the answer to the Giants' hopes of a solid fourth starter.

But there will be no deal, according to Franks. "Did you see that guy hit that home run? Why would anybody want to trade a player like that?"

Somehow, one couldn't help but feel that both Durocher and Franks would love to have made the trade.

But as Durocher said "newspaper stories killed the deal."

There were statements of "broken confidence" and "I told him not to print it" and one wag ended it all by saying "it's a heckuva way to run a railroad."

Terra Linda Whips Drake Swim Team

Terra Linda High's swimming team won every event in Marin Athletic League competition yesterday, dumping Drake High School's Pirates in the Trojan pool, 77-17.

Mike Cass was a double-winner for the Trojan mermen, registering a 23.8 in the 50 free and a 1:01.1 clocking in the 100-yard butterfly.

Redwood's splashers defeated Terra Linda in Class B action, 55-30, with Ken James notching a pair of wins for the Giants' lightweight team.

A GREAT DAY FOR BURCHES ON MOUND

Ben Burch's 6-0 shutout victory over San Rafael yesterday was a duplication of what his big brother did against St. Mary's College the same day.

Frank, older brother of the Marin Catholic ace, pitched University of San Francisco to a 6-0 win in half of a doubleheader played yesterday in San Francisco.

Frank Burch, a graduate of Marin Catholic, outdid his brother by striking out 13 St. Mary's batters. Ben fanned seven San Rafael players.

Flying Fins, San Lorenzo, Lynn Vidali, San Francisco Park and Recreation, and Susan Fitzgerald, Peninsula Tigers of Redwood City, all freestylers who are listed among the Best Five in the nation.

Heidi Ross of the Aquabears, who won the 100-meter butterfly event at the Maccabiah Games last year, is another strong contender in the girls 17 group.

Cindy Stewart, a backstroke specialist for the Aquabears, and Gayle Benty, breaststroker for the Del Norte team of Sacramento, are two more Pacific Assn. record holders who will be competing.

Among the boys, Bob Trethric of Arden Hills, Jeff Passegi of Stockton Swim Team, Tom Belfanti of Aquabears, and John Collier of the Santa Rosa Neptunes have won a bucketload of medals. Other boys who will win their share next weekend are Steve Power of Del Norte, Steve Snyder of Modesto Swim and Racquet Club and John Metz of Arden Hills.

Teamwise, the Aquabears seem to have the best chance to nab the team trophy for first place.

Drake's Mermen Nip Tam

Drake High School's mermen nipped Tamalpais in an action-packed Marin Athletic League swimming meet, 48-47, yesterday in the Pirates pool in San Anselmo.

Both teams are now 2-2 in MCAL competition.

The Tam Class Bee squad extended its record to 4-0, handing Drake's lightweights their fourth consecutive league defeat, 60-19.

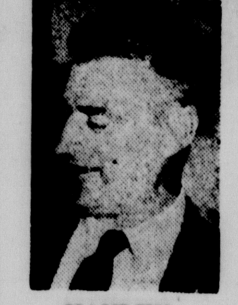
Hands, A Flop With Giants, Could Succeed With Chicago



HANLEY

CHICAGO — Nothing delights a baseball player more than having a good year after being traded. At the moment Bill Hands is very happy although the 1966 season still is an infant. He got quite a play in Chicago sports pages when he beat the Giants last week in Candlestick Park by blanking them in a strong 4⅓ inning relief performance during which he struck out five and walked none.

Chicago columnists still are writing about Hands. After all, such little sports dramas as Hands vs the Giants make readable copy. It isn't often that a rookie pitcher wins his first major league game against the team that gave up on him as the Giants did Hands last season.

Hands was right when he said in Candlestick following his victory that the Giants didn't have any confidence in him. He was wrong, however, when he said that the Giants didn't give him a chance after six years in their minor league farm system.

HANDS WAS summoned on May 29 last year from Tacoma after he blazed through the opening weeks of the 1965 Pacific Coast League campaign with an 8-0 record and 0.50 ERA that included 61 strikeouts and only 10 walks in 71-⅔ innings, seven of them being complete games.

He made his major league debut in the kind of game that is tailor made for a rookie's big time tuneup. On June 3 in Milwaukee he pitched two scoreless innings in the fourth and fifth when the Braves were leading 10-1.

HIS FIRST pressure test came three days later in Cincinnati. He started June 6 against the Reds who kayoed him in 4-⅔ innings on six hits and four walks that added up to four runs.

Hands was given a second start on June 11 in Pittsburgh against the Pirates who greeted the rookie with a couple of opening singles and then a triple. Hands got only one Pirate out in his brief ⅓ inning against them.

IT CERTAINLY looked at the time that major league hitters were too much for Hands to handle so he was sent back to Tacoma on June 14. At least, Hands hadn't done much in his two chances to inspire confidence in his pitching regardless of his 8-0 PCL record.

NEVERTHELESS, Hands was called up again near the end of the season and was given a third chance on Oct. 1 in a game that was meaningless except for him. The Dodgers already had put a lock on the pennant and the Reds were leading 11-2 in the Oct. 1 game when Hands was sent to the mound in the eighth inning. The Reds whacked him for four runs on four hits.

THE GIANTS may be completely wrong about Hands but they couldn't cut the rookie open like an apple to analyze his makeup. They could only make a decision on w h a t Hands' record showed. And it wasn't very impressive. So when Lindy McDaniel, a calm veteran of many years of bullpen work became available, the Giants didn't hesitate in dealing Hands and Randy Hundley to the Cubs for McDaniel and Don Landrum.

Celts Square Series, Move To Laker Domicile Tonight

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics move on to Los Angeles for a meeting with the Lakers tonight in a determined bid to regain the edge in quest of an eighth straight National Basketball Assn. championship.

The Celtics evened the best-of-seven title series 1-1, overpowering the Lakers 129-109 with a sharp-shooting attack and a tight defense last night before a sellout crowd of 13,909 at the Garden.

"I'm not happy yet," Boston Coach Red Auerbach said. "They still have an edge on us because the next two games are in Los Angeles. And we're not going to be deluded into thinking things are going to be easy out there."

The Celtics, who blew an 18-point lead and lost 133-129 in overtime in the opener, took the cue from Auerbach, but hopes were high.

"We've got to get one, but we want both," high-scoring John Havlicek said. "We beat them twice on one trip out there during the regular season, so we have a good chance of doing it again."

Larry Siegfried, who scored 16 of his 20 points in 8½ minutes of the second period as Boston roared to a 71-47 halftime lead, called the Celtics' defense the key in the Los Angeles games tonight and Friday.

"If we play strong defense, we can win them both," Siegfried said. "All you need to play defense is guts. And the name of the game is defense."

Capt. Bill Russell, who celebrated his selection Monday as the Celtics' 1966-67 coach to succeed the retiring Auerbach by scoring 19 points and grabbing 24 rebounds, thought only of the third game.

"I'm not thinking about Friday," Russell said. "The danger of thinking about two games is that if you get behind in the first you may say 'what the heck we'll win the second.'

Los Angeles Coach Fred Schaus was an angry man after the Lakers' whipping. He refused to talk to writers, claiming he was unhappy about stories written after the first game in which the Celtics alleged poor officiating.

The Lakers' Jerry West and Elgin Baylor were cooperative, though — despite the fact they were held to 18 and 13 points, respectively, after combining for 77 in the opener.

"Boston picked up the loose ball the way we did in the first game and Russell was fantastic," West said. "We have an edge in Los Angeles, but the home court advantage doesn't mean too much in a championship series."

Baylor, who was a rookie eight years ago when the Celtics began their string of NBA titles, admitted moments of frustration.

"It's going to be tough for us to win because the entire Boston team is hot," Baylor said. "And the team certainly proved its ability in defeating Cincinnati and Philadelphia in the Eastern Division playoffs."

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, April 20 the 110th day of 1966 with 255 to follow.

The moon is in its new phase; the morning star is Venus; the evening star is Jupiter.

Roman Emperor and philosopher Marcus Auerelius was born on this day in 121 A.D.

On this day in history:

In 1861, Col. Robert E. Lee resigned his commission in the U.S. Army with the intention of offering his services to the Confederate forces.

In 1889 Adolf Hitler was born in Austria.

In 1903, Andrew Carnegie donated $1,500,000 for the construction of the Hague Peace Palace in the Netherlands.

In 1959, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro was given a red carpet welcome in New York City.

A thought for the day — Roman orator Cicero said: "He removes the greatest ornament of friendship who takes away from it respect."

The fuel cell, in which fuel and oxygen convert directly into electricity, was invented in 1938 by Sir William Grove, an English physicist.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Trump Return Lets Bridge Players Follow Doctor's Order On Harm

The basic rule for medical students is:

First, do no harm.

William Root and Larry Rosler taught this rule to all kinds of students in one of the hands they constructed for the recent Intercollegiate Bridge Championships.

Opening lead — ♣ 6

West leads a low spade and East takes the ace. East returns a spade and ruffs the third round. So far, so good.

WHAT TO LEAD?

The big question is what to lead back. Dummy's weakness is diamonds, but a diamond return will cost a trick—violating that rule of medicine.

If East returns a diamond, South plays low and West wins with the king.

Sooner or later South gets to dummy and leads the jack of diamonds for a finesse through the queen.

The defenders thus get only one diamond trick. They need two diamonds to defeat the contract.

HARMLESS RETURN

After ruffing the third spade East should get out of the lead without doing any harm. For example, he can safely lead a club.

South takes his two club tricks and leads a trump. This would work wonders if an opponent had the blank ace of trumps because he would be unable to make a safe return.

Actually, West can take the ace of trumps and can get out of the lead without doing any harm—by returning his other trump.

JACK LEAD

Now declarer must lose two diamond tricks. He leads the jack of diamonds from dummy, losing to the king.

West returns the nine of diamonds and East plays the queen only if dummy's ten is played.

South must lose a second diamond either to East's queen or West's eight.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened with one heart, and partner responds one spade.

♠ Q J 3
♥ K 9 7 5 3
♦ A 5 4
♣ A 10

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

The knowledge that you have trump support may be all partner needs to bid a game.

If partner makes a try for game, you can afford to cooperate, since you have slightly more strength than your bidding has thus far shown.

Strawberry Store Brings Marin New Source Of Artificial Posies

A new artificial flower shop has made its appearance at 619 Reed Boulevard in the Strawberry Town and Country Village—known as Alberta of Marin.

Owner Alberta Brooks previously operated Handcraft Cottage in Carmel, has displayed miniatures and flower containers for the past 20 years at the California Spring Garden Show in Oakland, and owns another plastic flower shop in Ghiradelli Square, San Francisco.

For the past 10 years she has taught the creation of Christmas decor, and at one time helped the Girl Scouts with their booths at the Marin Art and Garden Show.

A NEW STORE called Discovery will be opened next Wednesday in San Anselmo, occupying quarters on the boardwalk side of the Cheda Building at Tunstead and San Anselmo Avenues.

Discovery will combine interior decoration work with the sale of antiques and imports. It is a project of Mrs. Marjorie Von Staden of Woodacre and Mrs. Ann Anawalt of San Anselmo. This is their first official venture into business, but both have an art background and have collected antiques and sold to dealers.

Hours will be from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays.

NEW FIRM moved into Dreyer-Wilson's Lincoln Maple Building, San Rafael is Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co.—a district office covering Marin County. Manager is Donald Anzalone, now living in Cotati. He has been with the company about two years.

CONTINENTAL BAKING CO., baker and distributor of Wonder Bread and Hostess Cakes, has relocated its Marin County depot from 730 Francsico Boulevard, San Rafael to an Antonioli building at 176 Paul Drive, Northgate Industrial Park.

The company has eight wholesale routes in the county and is establishing a route to serve restaurants and hotels. Tony Acebo and Hal Suhrke are the Marin district sales managers. Art McIntosh of Dohemann and Co. handled the lease transaction at Northgate.

MRS. SALLY MEAD has reopened Moderne Hairdresser at 5 Mary Street, San Rafael. She closed it down about a year ago when she moved to Petaluma. Associated with her is Katherine L. Prior of San Rafael.

SEVEN Marin antique dealers will be among exhibitors at the annual Marin County Antiques Show and Sales tomorrow through Sunday, held in the IDESST Hall, Sausalito.

Participating are Ruby Cook, Jeanne Davis, Mary G. C. Downes, Nowell's Antiques and Kay Sheridan - all of Sausalito; Cellar's Antiques, Larkspur and Noma's, San Rafael. The show is open from noon to 10 p.m. (6 p.m. on Sunday).

GEORGE SLEVIN of Santa Venetia, loan officer at Lincoln National Bank in Santa Rosa, has been promoted to a vice president. He is to manage Lincoln's new branch office on Fourth Street, San Rafael when it opens later this month.

ROSS ALAN SMITH of San Rafael has been elected a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He is associated with the San Francisco office of the accounting firm, Ernst and Ernst.

RENE A. HENRY JR. of San Anselmo, publicity director of Lennen and Newell, Inc., San Francisco, will be a featured speaker at the annual First Industries Marketing Conference at the University of Oregon June 15-16. He will talk on "Forest Products Advertising Comes of Age."

Housing Starts Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Housing starts and permits for future construction increased in March. The March rate was 4 per cent above a year ago and 13 per cent ahead of the abnormally low February pace.

COAT CHECK AUTOMATION

Chicagoan Phyllis Jones demonstrates the newly marketed invention that bids fair to do away with the traditional checkroom girl and her plate for tips. The coin-operated clothes checker, displayed last week at the Chicago International Franchise Exhibition, operates when the customer inserts a dime, pulls chain through coat sleeves, padlocks it and pockets the key until ready to don the coat again.

Finnish Metal Trade Increases Reported

NEW YORK (UPI) —Finnish metal industry exports increased 38 per cent during 1965 to a total of $294 million.

The increase is being interpreted by the Finnish American Chamber of Commerce here as evidence of the success of a Finnish drive to diversify sales abroad.

Market Up Strongly With Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today in heavy trading.

Blue chips were in gear with glamor stocks to push market avearges to one of their best gains of the year.

The ability of the market to hold above a recent support level, stopping Tuesday's decline, was one reason cited for the advance by brothers.

Volume for the day was estimated at 10.5 million shares compared with 8.82 million yesterday.

The Dow Jones industrial average at 2 p.m. EST was up 10.53 at 952.17.

Buying interest mushroomed to many of the sedate blue chips as well as to the volatile electronics - color -TV - aerospace-airline group.

Du Pont climbed nearly 5 points, General Motors and Chrysler more than a point each, Anaconda, New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad and Baltimore and Ohio 2 each.

Sperry Rand was pacing the list on volume, rising fractionally.

Boeing, down 5, was outstandingly weak in its group. Selling stemmed from reports about cracks in the tail section of Boeing 707 jets and also for plans to issue 2 million shares of stock.

Up about 3 were such stocks as Emerson Radio, Amphenol, Carborundum, Delta Airwas, Fairchild Camera, Zenith, KLM and Texas Instruments.

Braniff Airways leaped nearly 5.

Gains of around a point or better were made by U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Jones and Laughlin.

Oils and utilities produced a string of fractional gains.

Up a point or so were United Aircraft, General Dynamics, Eastman Kodak, Studebaker, Control Data, Eastern Air Lines, Pan American Wrld Airways, Chicago Great Western, Xerox and U.S. Smelting.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mostly bonds declined.

Gulf Buys Refinery

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Gulf Oil Co. announced it has agreed to buy a refinery, 2,300 retail outlets and 546 bulk gas stations in the Midwest from Cities Service Co. for $50 million.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Big Spenders Barely Feel Impact Of Inflation Trend

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) —Rising prices are giving an unexpected glow to the economy. Is it the glow of health or of fever?

The three big spenders—consumers, business and government—all have been paying out more dollars. But about a third of their increased outlays is due to higher price tags and only two-thirds represents buying of more units of output.

NOT LIKE KDREA

Still, the rate of increase is larger than at any time since 1950 when consumer panic buying at the outset of the Korean War sent the economy soaring—in terms of dollars if not of health.

The unexpected gain this year hasn't been due to panic buying. It has been due more to affluence. The spenders—consumers, business and government—all have had more dollars to spend.

Consumers have more dollars because there are more jobs this year than last, because many wage scales have risen, and becaues in 1964 and 1965 federal tax rates were cut with the aim of promoting prosperity and cutting unemployment. It worked. The nagging question now is if it worked too well.

BUSINESS NEST EGG

Business has more to spend this year, partly because it too enjoys lower tax rates than a few years back, but mainly because sales and profits have been soaring to record heights.

Government has more to spend because the larger incomes of individuals and corporations have produced big tax collections even at lower rates. And also the government debt has risen, meaning Uncle Sam has borrowed to get the dollars for larger expenditures, both at home and in Viet Nam.

Efforts to curb spending all along the line may check the economy's faster pace a bit in the current April-June quarter.

President Johnson has urged all hands to go slow, to put off some planned outlays, to shun products and services on which prices have been rising faster than the average.

CUTBACKS SOUGHT

Top business executives have promised to cut back some of their record expansion plans for 1966. The president has asked federal departments and agencies to trim government spending, or at least to postpone some of it. Total consumer spendable income will be clipped somewhat by larger tax withholding from pay checks of those in higher income brackets.

But few expect the rate of the growth in the economy to be chilled much.

Six Counties' Builders Plan Seminar

Government officials and building contractors from six counties, including Marin, will meet in Santa Rosa for a daylong session Saturday on financing and bidding for public projects, uniform building codes and planning.

The North Bay Counties Construction Industry Conference is sponsored by the North Bay Council of Builders Exchanges and the North Coastal Counties Supervisors Assn., according to E. Douglas Roberts, executive manager of the Marin Builders Exchange.

Those from Marin who will participate in panel discussions are Supervisor Thomas T. Storer; Donald R. Frost, county director of public works; Hans J. Berge, the county's chief building inspector; Niels Schultz Jr., member of the Marin County Planning Commission and Robert Lagle, Novato planning director.

Also on panels are Richard Zollner of Zollner Construction Co., Ernie Friberg of Goheen Construction Co., Carl S. Brown of Marin County Homebuilders Assn., contractor Charles J. Hendricksen of San Rafael, electrical contractor Art Bresnan, painting contractor John Kunst, contractor William Keener, electrical contractor Oliver H. Mauch, Hollis Sciallo of the Redwood Empire Assn. and Roberts.

Automation No Sure Trimmer Of Payroll

NEW YORK (UPI) —Automation doesn't necessarily cut down the number of business office employes.

According to the Institute of Life Insurance, a government survey shows that after insurance companies convert to automation the number of their office employes rises, but at a slower rate.

Auto Anniversary

NEW YORK (UPI) —Bavarian Motor Works, one of the world's oldest automotive firms, marks its 50th anniversairy in 1966 by a major introduction of its line of German cars in the American market.

Bagley Bill Would Allow Public View Of Documents

Legislation to insure the public's right to inspect records of public agencies is but another facet of the continuing battle for the right of the people to know what their elected representatives are doing.

In the forefront of the campaign to update old statutes on public inspection of documents (dating back to 1872) is Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Last year, Bagley and Assemblyman Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, introduced AB 3015, a bill to insure the public's right of access to public records.

Some state agencies objected to portions of the bill, and the Assembly Committee on Government Organization is in the process of ironing out the objections without losing the intent of the legislation.

It was back in 1963 that Bagley introduced a resolution calling for a study of this question of access to public records. This resulted in the Bagley-Marks bill of last year.

Although that bill failed, Assemblyman Bagley hopes to reintroduce it at the general session next year.

In the meantime, he is working with various state officials including the attorney general's office on an acceptable redraft, which hopefully will pass the Legislature next year.

"We do want to make some progress now so that we can have another Committee (on Government Organization) hearing on the revisions before June," said Bagley.

We laud Assemblyman Bogley's efforts toward much-needed reforms in this field of access to public documents, despite the long and tedious work that is involved.

All too often, public agencies and officials, especially when they operate in the dark, classify public records as confidential and thus attempt to thwart the people's right to know.

The aim of the Bagley-Marks bill is to open to public inspection all public records except those that clearly constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy and records specifically exempted from disclosure by statute.

We fully agree with the concepts of the Bagley-Marks bill and look forward hopefully to its enactment in 1967.

Subscribe Now To Concert Series

"The world's best in music and ballet at low admission prices."

They said it couldn't be done three decades ago when a group of musically minded women in Marin first started the Marin Music Chest with the above goal in mind.

But today, the Marin Music Chest's summer concert season is headed for its 32nd successful year. The quality of its presentations has won the Marin Music Chest such a reputation that its performances now draw music lovers from throughout the Bay Area — Sonoma, Napa, East Bay, San Francisco and the Peninsula.

This year's Music Chest subscription drive is now under way, and will continue through May 4, with county headquarters at Hoy's TV and Music Store in San Rafael.

We urge you to support the Music Chest, not only for your own pleasure, but also for the scholarships that your support provides for aspiring young musicians. More than $35,000 in music scholarships have been awarded by the Music Chest, and many of the young recipients have gained pre-eminence in the world of music.

Subscribe now for the 1966 season. This year's schedule offers William Warfield, great American baritone, on June 19; Fiesta Mexicana on July 31; piano team of Yosette and Yvette Roman on Aug. 14; and Jennie Tourel, famed mezzo soprano on Sept. 11.

Waldie Legislator Salary Bill Still Has Conflict Loopholes

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO—A bill raising salaries of state legislators to $18,000 per year from the present $6,000, also incorporating provisions against conflict of interest on the part of senators and assemblymen, has been introduced by Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie, D-Antioch.

The bill, if passed by the legislature and signed by the governor, would not go into effect if the people fail to adopt a proposed amendment in November which allows legislators to fix their own salaries.

Waldie, who is a candidate for Congress, and thus will not participate in the advanced salary provision, said his measure "is entirely consistent with the needs of California for full-time legislators."

HERETOFORE, legislators have been selected from representative citizens of the districts in which they reside. They are permitted to continue their business operations, and there is no provision in the law preventing a legislator from engaging in practices which might be termed in conflict with their duties as legislators.

Under the Waldie bill, no legislator would be permitted to act on any measure in which he has a financial interest, unless he states his interest in the assembly daily journal.

In addition, all legislators would be required to devote the majority of their time to legislative service. The legislator could not accept employment that would impair his independence, or incur obligations which would be in substantial conflict with the proper discharge of his duties.

NEITHER COULD he accept employment which would induce him to disclose confidential information nor could he disclose confidential information.

The measure would stop the procedure of legislators appearing before state boards and commissions which regulate professional activities, nor could a member of his law firm engage in such activities.

It also would provide that the legislator could not receive compensation for any service related to the legislative process, but the measure says nothing about receipt of campaign funds.

Actually, the provisions relating to conflict of interest matters are somewhat weak, considering the increase in salary provided, and full of loopholes.

On the salary provision features, the measure cuts back some of the fringe benefits the legislature has voted itself over the past few years to take the place, as it advertised, of the low salary provisions in the constitution of the state. The levels of fringe benefits, Waldie said, will no longer be necessary when legislators receive full-time pay.

AMONG THE fringe benefits cut are the flat 15c per mile travel reimbursement, and if the bill goes into effect, mileage would be paid on the basis of actual expenses incurred.

Retirement benefits would be curtailed. At present, legislators have one of the best retirement systems ever enacted.

Unwritten Law Needs To Be Written Soon

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Isn't it about time we took a good long look at ourselves — where we are and where we are going.

Greed, selfishness, intolerance, crime, carnage on the highways.

Surely this is the time to emblazon in the hearts of men the one unwritten law — "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you!"

Will history write that this nation was the first to put a man on the moon while standing knee deep in garbage?

Really Taken To Cleaners!

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Citizens arise! With the hope that small business proprietors of Marin County become alert to the dishonest and devious means of professional "conmen" I dedicate this letter.

A gray haired man of paunchy stature and extremely abrasive personality entered my business establishment to conduct a normal business transaction. (I presumed). Leaving his garments for cleaning, and altering, he also acknowledged the fact he would return within the alloted time to pick them up . . .

One half hour passed. Gray haired, paunchy crook breathlessly enters shop with these famous last words. "How good is your faith in humanity"? This is followed with a tear jerking scene relating his misfortune to become the victim of a flat tire, without wampum to pay for its replacement, since his wife ran off with his wallet to purchase a TV set. Since he is on his way to work a telephone call from him will swiftly bring his spouse to your shop within the hour to repay the loan of $16.35, IN CASH.

Witless merchant succumbs to persuasive pathetic tale upon receiving fictitious address, and worthless signed "IOU," reasoning that he has to return for garments left for service.

Two hours later the poor (by $16.35), stupid shopkeeper realizes she has been swindled, and rushes to inform the local gendarmes, who are very sympathetic, but not very helpful in appeasing outraged citizen. Further investigation by shopkeeper reveals the fact that neighboring cleaning establishments in area have also been taken to the "cleaners" with similar story, but were too embarrassed to notify the police.

Believe me I was too, but I sincerely hope my confession will save some other small business proprietor, $16.35!

Overdose News Is Not Needed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Did anyone see Mrs. Patricia Leonard's wonderful letter to the editor on March 30, 1966? The title to the article was "Why Overdose News Needed." In her letter she states, "Any patient this despondent or depressed will have plenty of problems adjusting to their return to society without friends and neighbors being informed by the newspapers."

How terribly true; yet, the "yellow journalistic" practices were continued not more than two days later (April 1, 1966) in a "great article" entitled "Woman 'Fair' in Apparent Try at Suicide."

How "progressive" can a paper get to peddle papers?

The great, great County of Marin boasts of having a progressive Community Health Center (mental) which is about as effective as "water in a gasoline tank"—(Marin County still commits more people to those "savage" public state hospitals than almost any other county) and yet this practice of desecrating a person's reputation, chances of a new future and life are still permitted to go on by our progressive Marin services and agencies.

Mrs. Leonard happens to be a nurse who sees tragedy and heart breaks every day and who is a most wonderful character herself.

Sports Car Racing Unduly Criticized?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On April 7 a column by Jim Murray appeared in your sports section concerning . . . the fatalities of sports car racing, and its general lack of merit. Not only is Mr. Murray uninformed concerning sports car racing but it can be assumed he has come no closer to this sport . . . than his nearest newspaper. . . .

Racing is a strictly controlled exacting sport. . . . It is the culmination of a high degree of training both mental and physical, much practice, and a particular attitude and desire to conquer time.

Racing is in no way suicidal nor is it intended to be a weapon of death, rather it is a demanding sport. . . . If Mr. Murray would check the statistics he would find that more accidents and subsequent deaths occur in the home than in the automobile.

. . . Few true sports cars are produced in the United States. . . . Europe is far ahead of this country with the exception of a few American sports car producers in the incorporation of safety features as standard equipment in its sports cars—disc brakes, anti-sway bars, vastly improved tires, independent rear suspension, seat belts, impact absorbing structures and steering columns. . . . These and many more innovations are the direct result of auto racing and not the "chrome fins, natural mahogany dashboards, two-toned tires, mother-of-pearl steering wheels, monogrammed glove compartments, and Princess telephones" that Mr. Murray cites as representative of "the ultimate in safety design" after "60 years of auto racing."

As the public becomes better acquainted with sports cars and their high merits, especially the safety features, they will be spared a great injury or loss of life with constant and religious use thereof.

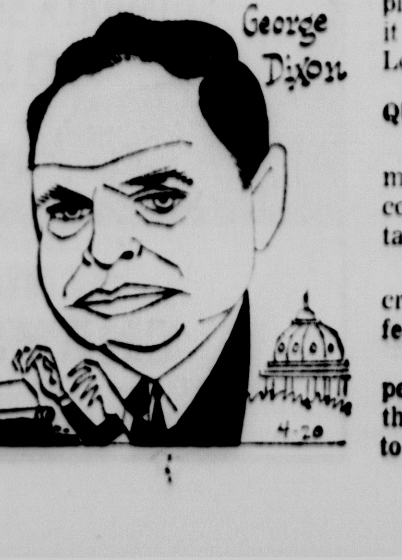
BENNETT CERF

THE LATE George Dixon covered the Washington scene for over twenty years, and both shocked and delighted big shots from Presidents down with his irreverent reports of their frolics and peccadilloes. One of his most famous columns (syndicated in over 100 newspapers) contained the story of a distinguished four-star general's wife who playfully pinched a senator's derriere, and when he wheeled around, she murmured, "Oh, pardon me! I thought you were Mr. Justice Felix Frankfurter!" Justice Frankfurter chuckled appreciatively. The senator did not.



IN AN ITALIAN restaurant, one of the husbands in a party called across the table to his wife, "Say, honey, how do you pronounce that Italian dish I'm so crazy about?" She replied tartly, "You pronounce it just like it's spelled: Gina Lolo-brigida!"

Maybe Viet Strife To Lead To Stable Rule By Civilians

WASHINGTON—Those who have been saying that only the worst could happen in Saigon—collapse of the government and a defeat-laden withdrawal by the U.S.—may well be wrong.

The way is beginning to open so that the worst can be averted and possibly the best can be achieved—an elected, civilian government with enough stability to enable the military to defend the nation singlemindedly and without a crumbling base in Saigon.

This prospect rests on two developments which seemed perilously beyond reach only a few days ago:

1. An unequivocal decree by the military directorate providing for a general election "in three to five months."
2. The apparent decision of the Buddhist and Catholic leaders that this meets their demands. The fact that the Buddhists turned their scheduled "protest march" into a "victory march" suggests that it is a firm decision.

IF PREMIER Ky had kept delaying the elections much longer, there can be little doubt that political confusion would have turned into political chaos.

If the Buddhist and the Catholic leaders had all insisted upon their demand for the immediate overthrow of the Ky regime before the elections, there very likely would have been no agreement, no elections—and maybe no government.

This could be the rational compromise: An earlier date for the elections and the generals to remain in charge until the voting after which they are committed to yield to civilian rule.

AND WHAT does this mean? Unless there is some unforeseen miscarriage, it means that Premier Ky has proved himself more flexible than many expected and that the Buddhists have proved themselves more powerful than many thought possible.

There is no doubt that South Viet Nam was on the brink of irreparable deterioration and it was entirely reasonable that members of Congress should begin saying that, if its leaders are willing to throw their nation into the lap of the Viet Cong, the U.S. cannot and does not intend to defend South Viet Nam against its will.

But both the government and its powerful critics have stepped back from the brink. With much of the countryside still under Viet Cong domination, the elections will have to be limited to the secure parts of the nation and cannot, therefore, be as meaningful as they would be if delayed until more of the country was freed.

BUT THE DEMAND for civilian government chosen by as many South Vietnamese as are free to vote is politically healthy. It rests on long grassroots experience with self-government. It is in no way artificial. The nation's 48 provincial and city councils are all popularly elected. In none of them is there any trend toward the Viet Cong or the neutralists.

The protests demanding that military rule be replaced by an elected government have understandably had anti-American overtones. Many South Vietnamese could only see the U.S. hand-in-glove with the military in Saigon.

But we could only work with the government that existed. The U.S. will welcome the opportunity to be the staunch ally of its elected successor.

On such a basis the alliance would be healthier and the war effort would be stronger.

More Coordination On Poverty Sought

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—There is too much "tension and conflict, rather than coordination and cooperation," in the administering of the numerous and immensely costly Great Society programs.

This critical shortcoming extends from top federal to state and local officials. That is the blunt conclusion of a strong supporter of these programs.

In a comprehensive study Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Me., chairman of the Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations, cites a long list of weaknesses, faults and failings among federal agencies on one hand and state and local authorities on the other as seriously impairing the effectiveness of public administration and the objectives of new undertakings.

Among the cited defects—based on a two-year survey—are:

FEDERAL — "Empire building, too many competing and overlapping programs, outright hostility on the part of administrators to coordinate programs within and between their agencies."

STATE AND LOCAL—"Serious understaffing, personnel unimaginative and lacking in quality and experience, subject to negative political and bureaucratic pressures, variety of restrictions, basic reluctance to plan at all levels, haphazard proliferation of local governments and special districts which (are becoming) a genuine threat to effective program coordination and democracy at the lower levels."

"During the past five sessions of Congress we have developed the most impressive package of federal legislation since the depression to attack poverty, ignorance, economic distress, urban blight, discrimination and other human problems.

"BUT THE SUCCESS of this legislation is only as good as the machinery which carries it to the people in the fastest, most efficient way possible. We have concentrated primarily on the substance of government; now the spotlight must be turned on the procedure. Intergovernmental relations lies at the very heart of our rapidly changing system of government."

Two main Great Society creations, the Office of Economic Opportunity (anti-poverty agency) and the Department of Housing and Urban Development, are singled out by Muskie as graphic illustrations of his critical findings.

Senator Muskie's detailed analysis charges the two multi-billion-dollar agencies with disregarding express provisions of the law designed to strengthen their administrative effectiveness.

Concerning the OEO, he states that a three-month survey "of the opinions of over 40 top-ranking people working in this important endeavor" disclosed that lack of coordination and cooperation is seriously handicapping the war on poverty.

"If there was one complaint which we heard more than all others," reports Muskie, "it was that federal resources are not being effectively marshaled to zero in on hard-core areas of poverty."

MUCH OF THE blame for this major shortcoming is attributed to the failure of OEO to make the most of an Economic Opportunity Council created by the law. The act provides that the EOC "shall consult with and advise the OEO director in carrying out his functions, including the coordination of anti-poverty efforts by all segments of the government."

The council is made up of the director, the attorney general, and departments of defense, agriculture, commerce, labor, interior, HEW, HUD, and various agencies.

Tiburon Tests Diversification When It Hires Plannng Firms

Should a city put all its eggs in one planning firm's basket?

Tiburon City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose thinks it should not. Under his aegis, Tiburon (pop. 6,090) presently has seven consulting firms investigating and formulating various aspects of the city's development.

TIBURON RESIDENTS are sensitive to planning issues. The need for planning was a big reason why the city voted to incorporate almost two years ago. Many feared that without local control, the quiet village might grow into a Marin Fisherman's Wharf.

Today, some critics say that the city has too much planning. They aver that not only are there too many cooks around the Tiburon planning cauldron, but that their recipes vary and occasionally conflict. Besides, they contend, too many cooks, even if part-time, are expensive.

Rose contends, however, that "It is not how many firms are involved, but the projects being done." There is, he says, "no difference between seven things to be done by seven people, or having seven things done by one person."

THERE IS the danger, he says, that if the city had picked one planning firm, that firm would, in effect, become the city's planning directors. "Instead of reflecting the city's point of view, the city might physically reflect the firm's," he said.

Choosing individual firms for special projects also allows the city to select specialists, Rose said. Not all planning firms do good drainage studies, for example.

Rose also believes that using individual firms is cheaper for the city. The city avoids the cost of continuous overhead of one large firm during lulls, but accrues the advantage of smaller firms competing for projects, he said.

At present, Tiburon has two consulting firms studying the city's general development. Williams, Cook and Mocine of San Francisco are drawing up the general plan and Copple and Foreacker of San Rafael were recently chosen as consulting civil engineers.

STUDYING particular projects are: Callister and Payne, who are drawing up the downtown development plan; H. Morgan Noble, a harbor and coastal engineer who will report back to Callister and Payne; Wilbur Smith and Associates, whose traffic study should be finished in June; McCreary - Koretsky Engineers, who are studying watershed drainage problems; Arthur J. Philbert, who is preparing a financial feasibility report on the widening of Tiburon Boulevard; and Anthony Guzzardo, a landscaping architect who will develop newer sections of Tiburon Boulevard.

Since Tiburon has no planning director as of now, who sees that all these planning pieces interlock? The city manager initially, Rose says.

He views the problem "as a jig saw puzzle" in which, for example, the downtown plan of Callister and Payne fits into the general plan of Williams, Cook and Mocine.

Copple and Foreacker will see that the studies on widening Tiburon Boulevard and the watershed interlock, Rose says. Zoning administrator Leslie Gross, who has resigned effective April 2, and his replacement, will coordinate the work of the other planners, according to Rose.

BEHIND THESE overseers are the city's planning commission and the city council, Rose said. For each part of any plan to become operative, Rose points out, the city council must vote the funds. For any part of the general plan to work, both the city council and the planning commissions must hold public hearings on rezoning.

Affirming his methods, Rose said, "A community is made up of different opinions, and this way is better for the community to impose its ideas."

If Rose's concept fails, or if Tiburon's planning becomes muddled, there are those residents who would jump in and try to return Tiburon to a quiet county charge flouting a burgeoning Marin County.

Grit Your Teeth For Gut Issue; Inscrutable Guts Acting Up

WASHINGTON—There have been constant allusions in the press lately to "the Gut issue." Every time a spokesman from the State Department or the Pentagon makes a statement, he always refers to the "Gut issue."

The Gut issue first came into being when John Foster Dulles was Secretary of State. A young State Department officer kept referring to the Gut issue and finally Mr. Dulles in exasperation said, "What the devil is the Gut issue?"

Not wanting to admit he didn't know, the young officer replied, "It has to do with the country of Gut which is located in Southeast Asia. It has a population of 25,567 people and is ruled by seven air marshals and a Buddhist monk."

"Very interesting," Dulles said. "What kind of soldiers do they have?"

"THEY HAVE real Gut fighters, sir. They're tough and they fight dirty."

"It sounds like an internal problem," Mr. Dulles said. "But anybody with that kind of courage should have American support."

"Exactly what I was thinking, sir."

"All right, let's send in some military advisers and beef them up. From now on we're going to have a pro-Gut policy. By the way, what seems to be their problem at the moment?"

"Communists, sir. The place is lousy with them."

Dulles made the first commitment—small but fast. When President Kennedy was inaugurated, one of his first problems was what to do about the issue which just wouldn't seem to go away.

HE CALLED in his adviser, Gen. Maxwell Taylor.

"Isn't there some way we can clear up this matter once and for all?" he asked.

"It will take a lot of intestinal fortitude, Mr. President."

"Well, let's do it and get it over with."

The commitment was escalated and before we knew it we had 20,000 men in the country.

Then President Johnson inherited the problem. He called in his advisers and said. "What's happening out there?"

"Our policy is being Gutted," McGeorge Bundy said. "We're going to have to send in more American troops."

"You see, sir," Dean Rusk said, "the Chinese just don't believe we have any you-know-what. We've got to do something to prove to them we mean business."

"All right," the President said, "we'll see who has the stomach for this—me or Mao."

THE PRESIDENT upped the commitment to 300,000 American men.

In the meantime, while the Americans were fighting with Guts in the countryside, the Guts in the cities were demonstrating against the Americans.

The U. S. Cabinet was called into session and a re-evaluation of the issue wah made.

One of the President's advisers explained, "I know this is going to come as a surprise to you, sir, but Communists have as much Guts as we do."

"What happened to our Guts?" the President demanded.

"We still have some, but the issue has become a political, not a military, problem."

"We've been hit below the belt," the President said.

"Exactly, sir. That's the way Gut people are."

Worshipers Construct Churches In Variety Of Styles

Story and Photos
By ELLEN BRY

You can't tell a church by it's cover.

Used to be, a church looked churchly. Today in Marin a church looks like a house to fit in with a residential neighborhood, is constructed in a shopping center, does not necessarily have a cross or other religious symbol, follows architects' fads (mansard roof), and often is an architectural show piece.

Parishioners and neighbors many disagree on whether they "like" the church, and the adjectives applied to its design may be "unusual" or "interesting" rather than "inspiring," but the architect is given a moderately wide range within which to design a place of worship.

The architect is usually hemmed in by a tight construction budget and the varied wishes of a church design committee, parishioners who may override the committee's decision, the pastor's ideas on how "his" edifice should look, and church hierarchy.

There was the case of one Marin church with an architectural committee which approved a moderately different design from the run-of-the-mill ones for which the sect was known. Parishioners and pastors approved, but church hierarchy, who had to approve a loan from church district funds for construction, turned down the design as too out of the ordinary.

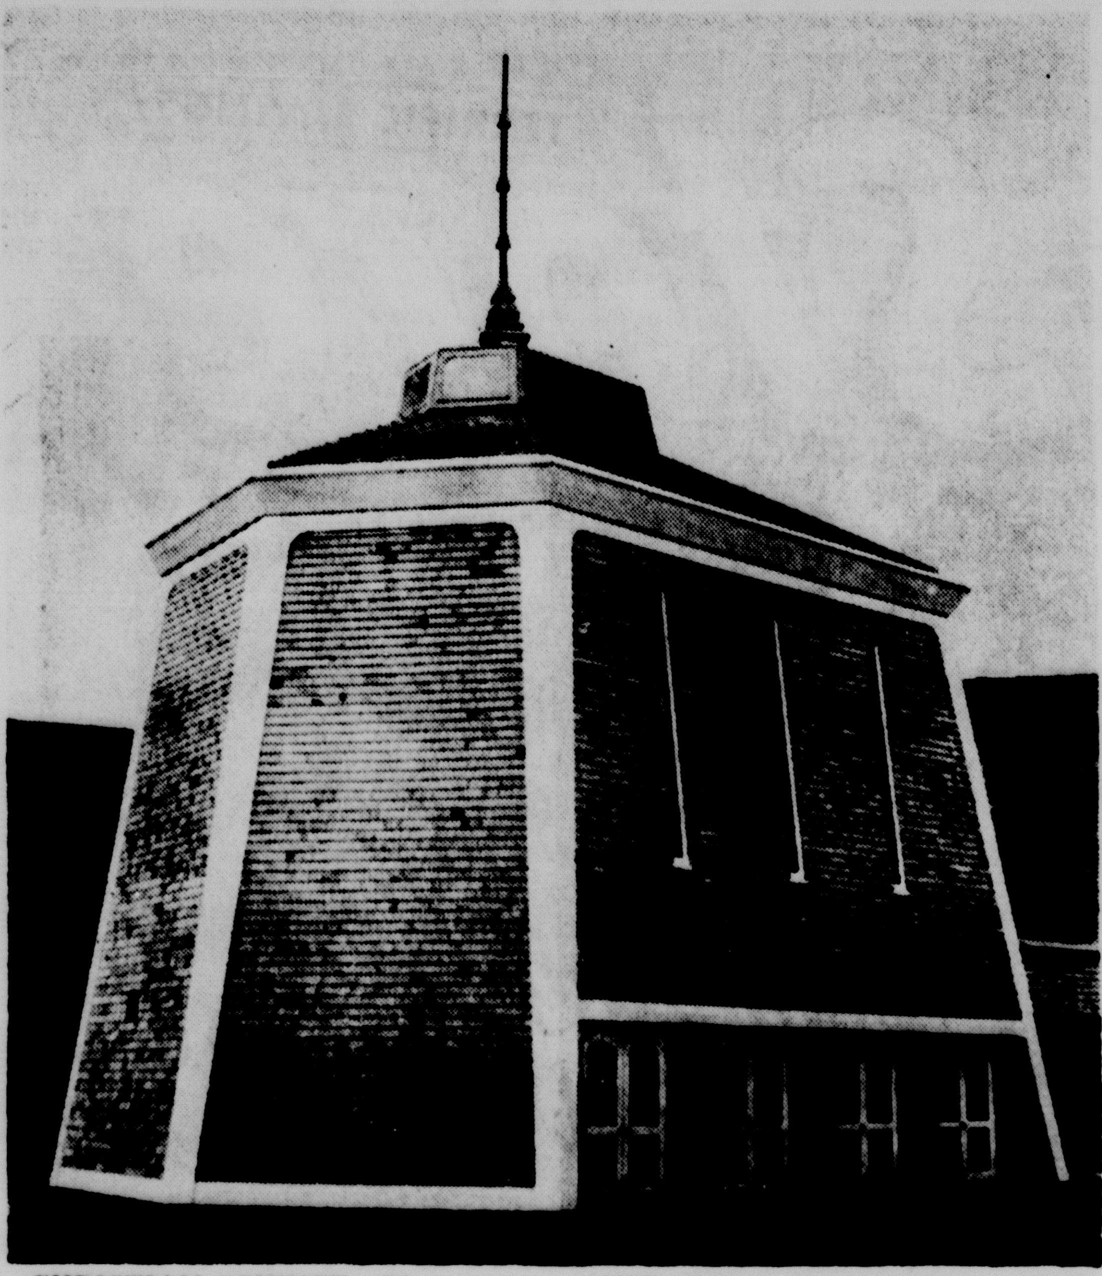
Today's church not only has a large worship space, but usually provides classrooms for a nursery and religious school, perhaps a crafts room, pastor's office and other offices, a kitchen and teen-age center-dining hall-all purpose room.

Architects must not only design a central, eye catching building for worship, but fit it with the additional rooms now required by most churches. In many churches this has meant designing a central structure and the apearance of tacking rooms on to it.

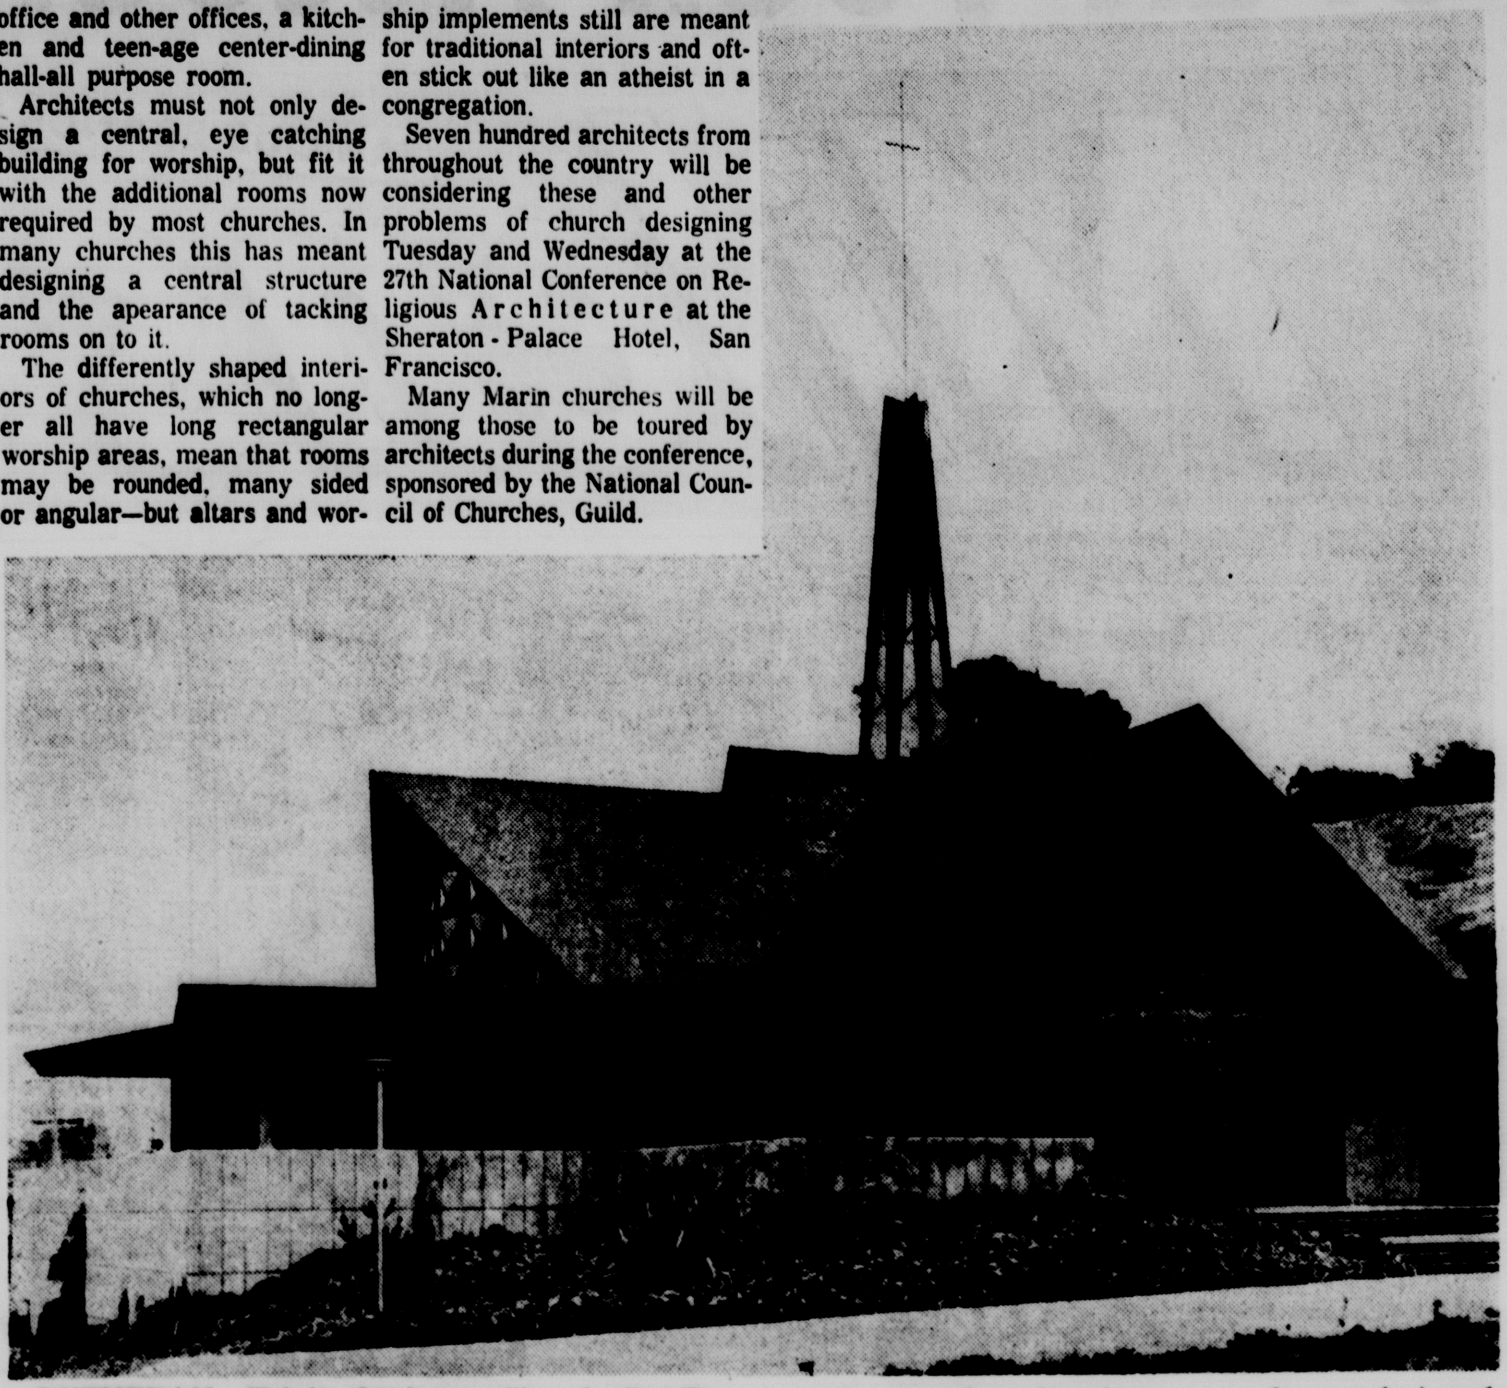
The differently shaped interiors of churches, which no longer all have long rectangular worship areas, mean that rooms may be rounded, many sided or angular—but altars and worship implements still are meant for traditional interiors and often stick out like an atheist in a congregation.

Seven hundred architects from throughout the country will be considering these and other problems of church designing Tuesday and Wednesday at the 27th National Conference on Religious Architecture at the Sheraton - Palace Hotel, San Francisco.

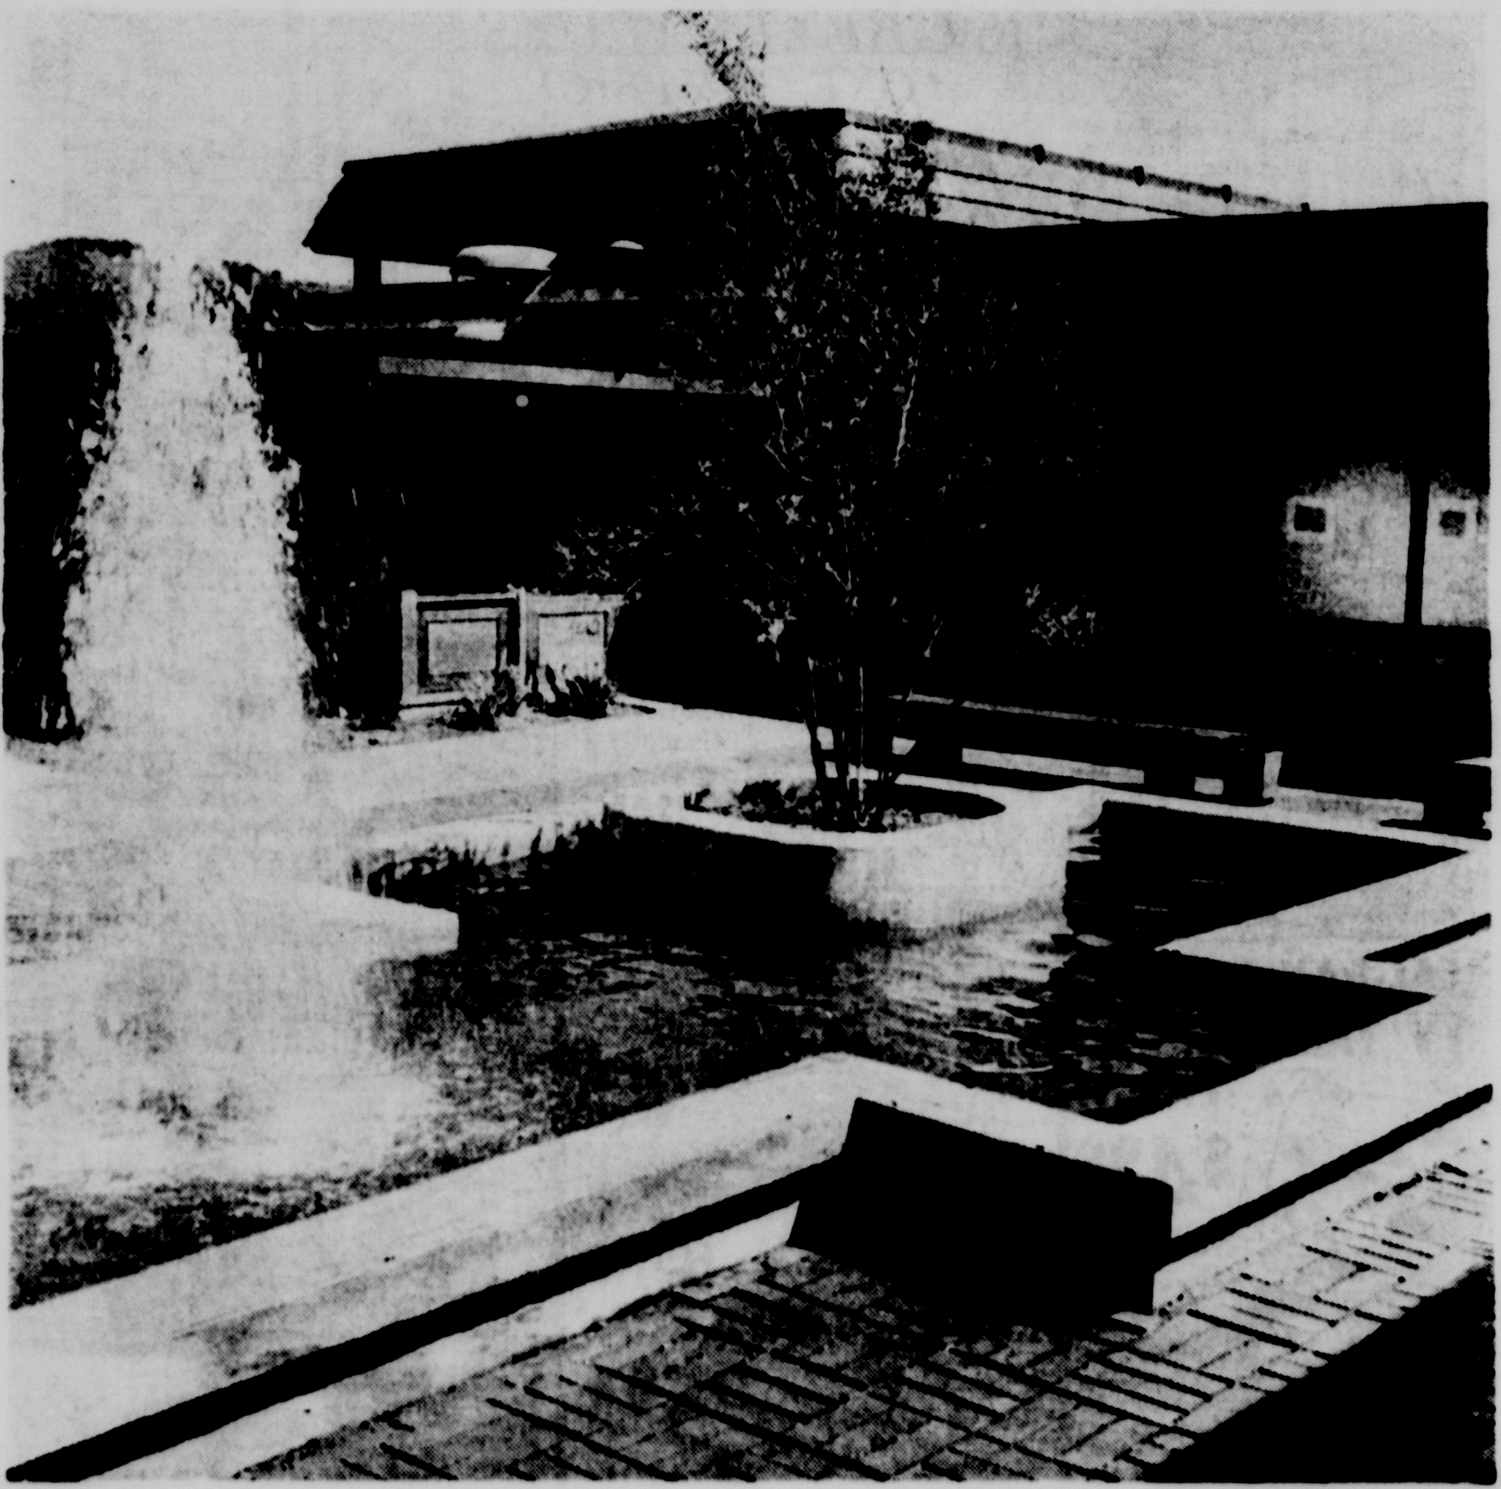
Many Marin churches will be among those to be toured by architects during the conference, sponsored by the National Council of Churches, Guild.



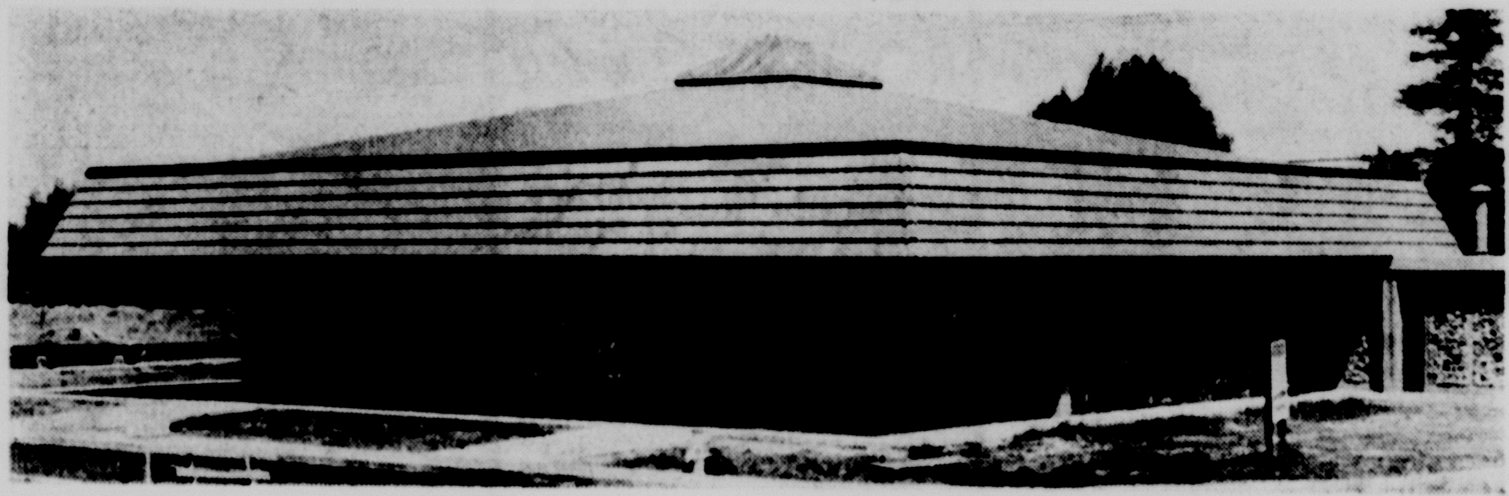
CHRISTIAN SCIENCE—The greatest innovations in church design seem to be made, in Marin, in Christian Science churches. This one in Mill Valley has slanting, wood-shingled sides, a skylight on the roof. Callister and Payne, architectural firm, Tiburon, designed the building.



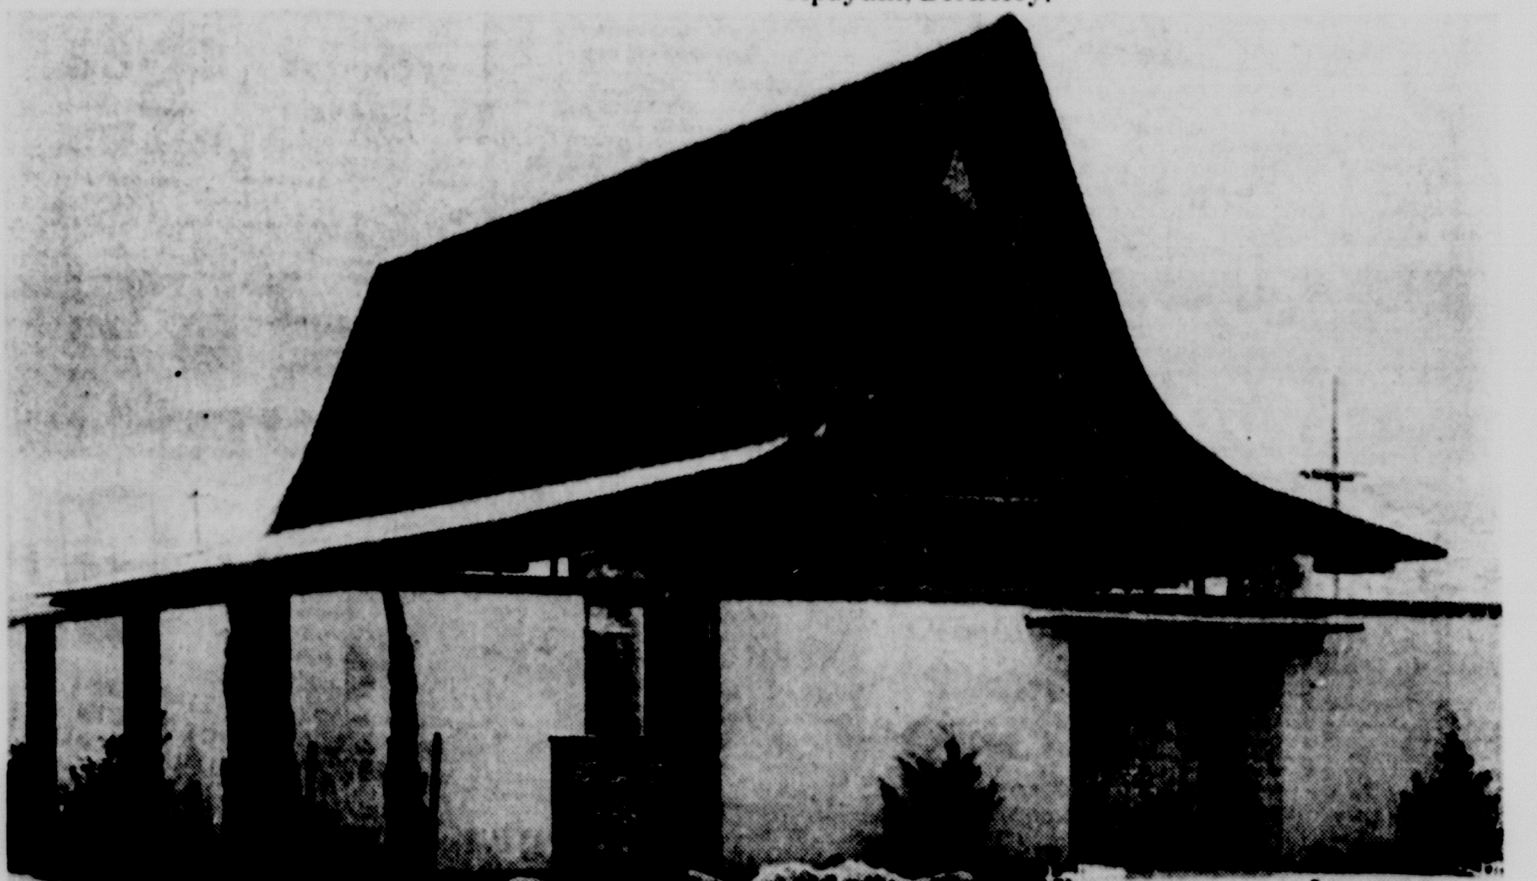
LUTHERAN—Trinity Lutheran Church, San Rafael, has darkly tinted glass set in the gables. Exterior is redwood and concrete. It was designed by architects Donald Powers Smith and Bert Smith, San Francisco.



UNITARIAN—The Unitarian-Universalist Church Of Marin, built on a hilltop above Highway 101 north of San Rafael, is a one-story structure with predominantly redwood exterior. Windowed hallways allow views of the courtyard fountain. Architect Stephen M. Heller of San Francisco designed the church.



EPISCOPAL—Only a sign proclaims that this mansard roof building is The Church in Ignacio, constructed in a corner of what will be Pacheco Plaza Shopping Center. The heavy-appearing exterior hides a lightened interior with skylight and rounded worship area. It was designed by Kaya Apaydin, Berkeley.



BAPTIST—The fly-away roof of the First Southern Baptist Church of Novato is surrounded by walls which seclude the church interior from sidewalk and nearby homes. Architect was Gordon A. Phillips, San Rafael.

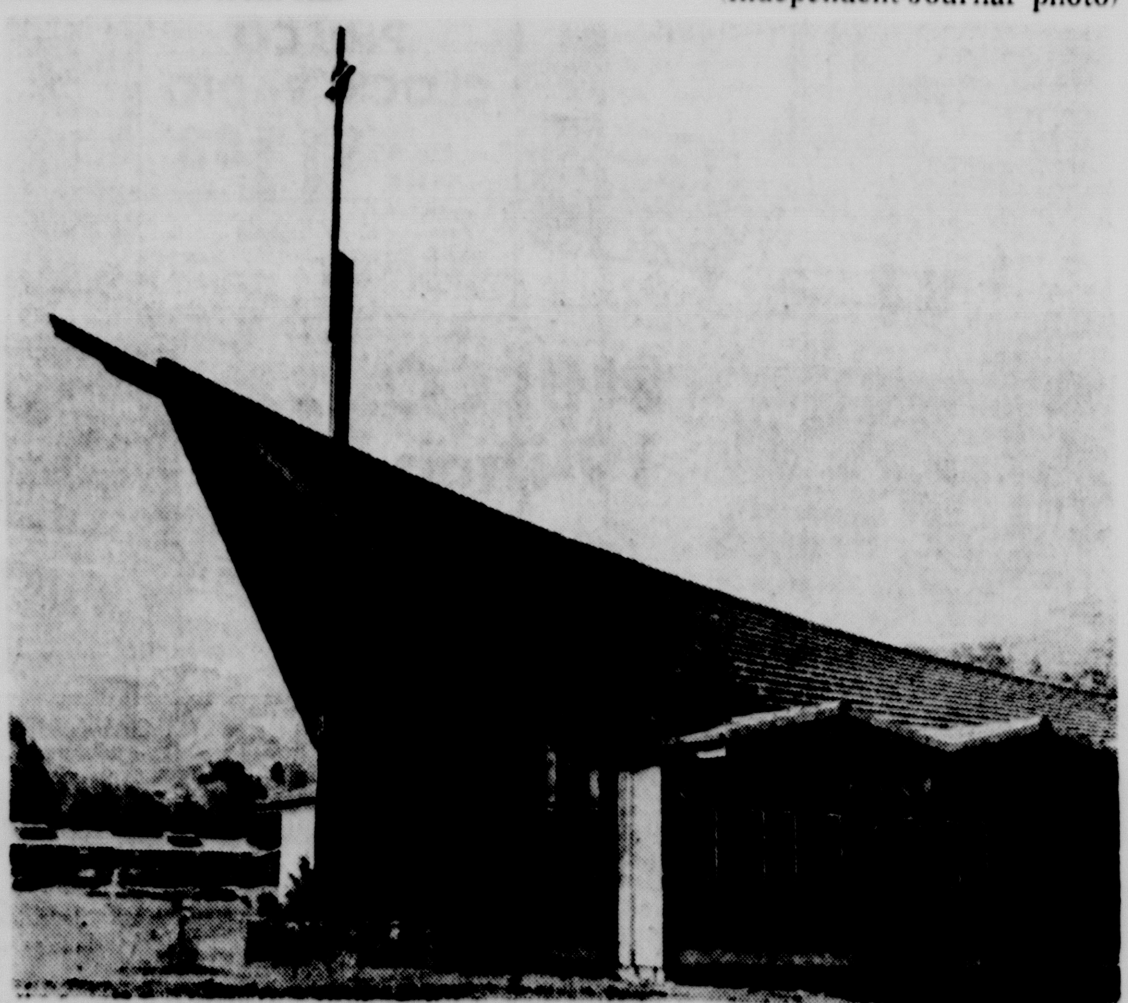
CHRISTIAN SCIENCE—The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Larkspur, designed by Donald Powers Smith, San Francisco, draws attention by its flowing roof. An auxiliary building in the rear houses offices, a method used in synagogue Rodef Sholom in San Rafael and in other churches to make one building the focal point of the site.



PRESBYTERIAN — St. Andrew Presbyterian Church, Marin City, has a roof flaring upward, flowing into the remainder of the building which houses other rooms. Wayne Osaki, San Francisco, was the architect.

Council Refuses To Endorse Bonds

County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, seeking endorsement of the proposed $4,300,000 county park bond issue, ran into a stone wall in the guise of the San Anselmo City Council last night.

One by one, the councilmen reported, sometimes emotionally, that their property had just been reassessed, that the city had more serious needs than recreation, that they felt an obligation to the already overburdened taxpayer.

Their response was so vehement that Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro finally interrupted angrily and said:

"I am ashamed for myself and my fellow councilmen. Supervisor Kettenhofen is not on trial and I don't think he should be hauled on to the carpet like this. We owe him an apology."

John M. Reichmuth, newly elected mayor, said soothingly: "I think what we've had here is just a good heated discussion and Mr. Kettenhofen is used to those. . . . I think we'll have to leave the decision on this bond issue to the voters."

Capurro, still angry, moved that the council endorse the bond issue, but the motion failed for lack of a second.

Reading from a statement written before Kettenhofen made his presentation, Councilman Duane C. Ragan led off the attack on the bond proposal:

"I am a firm believer in parks and recreation, but at the moment problems face San Anselmo which overshawod the need for parks. I campaigned saying I would do all possible to keep a low tax rate. We just can't add another tax to an already overtaxed community."

Councilman Arthur W. Smith reported that he had just received notice his property has been reassessed "and I don't feel I can vote council endorsement of this bond issue. It must be left up to the voters."

Councilman Robert M. Scott sadi he learned last weekend that San Anselmo police are using substandard equipment. "I can't understand the relevansy of parks and recreation when we cannot protect our police officers."

After Capurro's motion to endorse the bond issue failed, Kettenhofen departed, saying:

"Just because we have other pressing problems, that does not mean we should ignore our park and recreation needs."

Drunken Driver Gets Jail Sentence

Charles Landon Pierce, 30, of Meadowsweet Motel, Corte Madera, was sentenced to 15 days in county jail yesterday in Marin Muncipal Court for drunken driving on private property.

He was arrested Sunday by San Anselmo police on a shopping center parking lot.

School Board Faces Probe On Meeting

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today he has assigned an investigator to study a charge by a Mill Valley resident that the Mill Valley School District Board violated the Ralph M. Brown Act last Saturday by filling a board vacancy in closed session.

Carl Hepp, 115 Elm Avenue, has alleged that although Joseph Bodovitz was officially named to the post at a Monday night meeting over three other candidates—including Mrs. Hepp—the actual decision was made at the 7 a.m. Saturday meeting closed to the public.

He contended this violates the Brown Act, which with certain exceptions requires open meetings by legislative bodies.

Swim Pool Fee Hike Is Asked

The Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission last night agreed to recommend a $5 increase in the swimming pool membership fee for the summer season.

The commission urged that the swimming program start by next month, with the pool open after school and on weekends.

The recommendation that family membership for residents of the district go from $35 to $40 will go to the Marinwood Community Service District Board at its meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Youths Are Preparing Cooperative Action

Marin County teen-agers reported progress yesterday in their effort to build a bridge of understanding and cooperation between youths and adults in the county.

Some 60 representatives of Marin Youth for Action met in the new offices of the county superintendent of schools in Corte Madera. They gathered to present reports of committees organized at the March 19 conference of the group at College of Marin, attended by nearly 1,100 young people.

The committee on education suggested that action group members in each of the county high schools form organizations to affiliate with the Parent-Teacher Assn.

The "You and the Law" committee reported a series of meetings being planned with officials of the juvenile court system to gain understanding of its policies and functions.

The human relations committee called for organizing exchange visits among various youth organizations in the county.

The jobs committee advisor, Robert Beebe of the State Department of Employment, called on Youth for Action members to urge students wanting summer jobs to list their names with his department.

The ways and means committee said. it was arranging for membership cards and small membership fees as a start toward a formal structure for the action group.

The continuation committee, whose concern is to insure that the group not wither and die when its many high school seniors graduate this June, asked each senior to bring two undergraduate replacements with him to the next meeting at 7 p.m., May 3, in the school superintend's office.

At that meeting the constitution and by-laws committee will present the proposed new constitution for Marin Youth for Action.

Eureka-Willits Trains To Run

Passenger service on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad's line between Eureka and Willits, discontinued after the Christmas week storms of 1964, will be resumed Friday on order of the California Public Utilities Commission.

The schedule, on Daylight Savings Time, shows a train leaving Eureka at 10:05 a.m., and leaving Willits at 1:45 p.m. A train arrives at Willits at 3:37 p.m., and at Eureka at 7:20 p.m.

Trains will run south from Eureka to Willits on Sundays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and will return on the northbound trip Mondays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

American Valley Votes Merger

Voters in the tiny American Valley Elementary School District yesterday overwhelmingly voted to merge their district with the Tomales Bay School District.

The vote was 39-2. The 17 pupils in the one-room school of the American Valley district will transfer to the school in Tomales in September, even though the merger will not legally take effect until July 1, 1967.

The Tomales Bay School District board will meet at 8 p.m. today to canvass the vote.

Nightmare Drug Ban Bill Killed

SACRAMENTO (AP)— Strong doubts about its punitive approach have helped kill a Senate-passed bill providing criminal penalties for illegal possession or sale of LSD and DMT, two powerful hallucination producing drugs.

The bill, backed by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch and other law agencies, could muster only three favorable votes yesterday in the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

Two members voted against, and the chairman didn't vote. Four members were absent, thus depriving the measure of any chance for the six votes needed to clear the committee.

Youthful Killer Judged Insane

OAKLAND (AP) — A judge ruled yesterday that George Blockman, 19, is insane and committed him to Napa State Hospital in the slaying of an Oakland High School track star.

Blockman was convicted of stabbing to death Perry Washington, also 19, on June 3.

Judge Folger Emerson pronounced sentence at the end of the sanity phase of the trial. Three psychiatrists said Blockman was not sane and a fourth said he was sane but with diminished mental capacity.

Negro Is Named Mayor Of Milpitas

MILPITAS (AP)—Santa Clara County has its first Negro mayor today—Ben Gross, an auto factory employee who was appointed by the Milpitas City Council.

He led all seven council members in the April 13 election and was appointed by councilmen last night.

Bell Ringing Requires Timing And Control

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—Every Tuesday and Sunday for 30 years, E. W. Izard has climbed the 72 spiral steps in the bell tower of Christ Church Cathedral.

He is a master bell-ringer, in charge of the belfry at the cathedral, one of only five churches in Canada which regularly has its bells rung by hand.

On Tuesdays—practice days—and Sundays, he stands with seven other bell-ringers in a circle to practice the complex, fascinating art of ringing church bells.

Bell ringing has fascinated him for more than 60 years. He took it up in England in 1901.

He has trained a son, a daughter and five grandsons to ring bells, and there are five Izards among the cathedral's 11 bell-ringers.

There are seven tons of bells in the tower and they are considered "rung" — in the technical sense — when swung through the complete arc from mouth-up to mouth-down position.

A sound may be obtained from a bell hanging mouth down, by moving it enough to get the clapper to tap the side, but this is known to ringers as "chiming."

Chiming does not extract the full sound of a bell but ringing does.

Tunes played on the huge bells are called changes, and can only be played if each of the eight ringers counts carefully and has full control of his bell.

Lack of rope control on the part of a ringer may lead to something as minute as a bell rung a fraction of a second off time, which will set the hearer's teeth on edge.

Or it may lead to a ringer being hoisted up in the air 25 feet by his rope, possibly to crack his skull on the ceiling.

A full peal of bells involves 5,040 changes—each ringer must pull his bell that number of times in a different order each time.

It has been done only once at Christ Church Cathedral, in 1936, and took three hours.

There were no mistakes. It would not have counted as a peal had there been any.

"The bells of course add something unique to the cathedral," says Dean Brian Withlow.

"There is a great deal of tradition attached to them, particularly around Christmastime.

"At the new year, the old year is rung out with the change called the Nine Tailors, traditionally played for a death.

"Then the bells will be rung to welcome in the new year."

Beer Keeps Them Cool Through Fire

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Five fire companies answered the call when a fire started in a stove vent and spread to an overhead fan pouring smoke through a Lincoln tavern.

Despite the smoke and fire-fighting activity two patrons sat calmly quaffing their beer until a policeman finally asked them to leave.

Reader Aids Tourists

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Foreign delegations to the recent Warsaw International Biochemical Congress paid $5 per guest for a cocktail party, and each was served only a couple of vodkas, coffee and cigarettes, a reader complained in a letter published by the government-owned newspaper Warsaw Life. The writer said "foreigners thus leave our country with the impression that Poland is very hospitable but also very expensive."

Critic Says To Trust Own Judgment

BERKELEY — "Trust your own judgment" — that phrase, as well as any, sums up the critical philosophy of Brooks Atkinson, for 35 years drama critic of the New York Times and currently Regents' Lecturer in Journalism and English on the University of California Berkeley campus.

"When it comes to the appreciation of art," says Atkinson, "every man is king. He cannot accept anyone else's opinion. He can only judge for himself. There is only one way in which he can find out what he thinks: Does the art move him?"

The distinguished Pulitzer prize-winning journalist feels that "the golden age" will come when men and women everywhere understand and love art as naturally as they love and understand their friends.

"That is why people must judge art for themselves," he says. "It is for you and me — not for committees, not for panels of critics, not for schools and colleges, not for institutions of any kind. The artist is appealing to us as individuals."

Ruin Sites Found

LIMA, Peru (AP) — A retired army captain says he has pinpointed more than 2,000 ruin sites in Peru. Jose Lopez Guillen says he has spent 25 years in his off time seeking out archeological sites and has compiled a map which shows more than 2,000 such spots.

Large Family Doesn't Mean Happy Life, Publisher Says

SAN FRANCISCO — "Life is not necessarily joyous in a large family," said George J. Hecht, publisher of Parents' Magazine, at a recent conference on over-population held at the University of California San Francisco Medical Center.

On the contrary, Hecht contends that "children do not necessarily benefit from belonging to a small herd; that the only child is not necessarily sad and lonesome; that six children are not better than one."

The population problem in America is of such importance, according to Hecht, that a Presidential task force of top scientists and economists should be appointed to determine a "population timetable" for this country.

"The average American woman has 2.5 children," Hecht said, "and if growth continues at the present rate, our population will double within the next 43 years." To stabilize the U.S. population the American woman should have an average of 2.2 children, he said.

Hecht described the function of the Presidential task force as outlining the rate of population growth best for the economy of the country and for the health, welfare, education, and happiness of the American people. "This group would also make recommendations on building schools, hospitals, and highways and supplying doctors, nurses, teachers, and social workers to keep pace with the increasing population."

The publisher also urged a change in the majority viewpoint as to what constitutes the ideal family. "As long as the 85 per cent of our population in the reproductive age bracket regards the three or four child family as ideal, rather than a one, two or three child family, we will not be able to check our dangerous population growth," he concluded.

Menon Decries Funds

BOMBAY, India (AP) — V. K. Krishna Menon, the acid-tongued ex-defense minister, says India should reject the $200-million Indian-American Foundation for Educational, Scientific and Academic Development as proposed by President Johnson. During Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's recent visit to Washington, Johnson suggested the foundation could be started with U.S.-owned rupees. Menon said in a speech the President should have given the money outright and that India should not permit foreign "control" of education.

Publishers And State Financing Work On Old Newspaper Building

The reconstruction of the Columbia Gazette building, pioneer newspaper started during California's Gold Rush, is scheduled for completion next month.

Reconstruction of the two-story structure is a joint project of the California Newspaper Publishers Assn. and the state.

In a statewide fund campaign directed by James A. Wood, assistant general manager of Peninsula Newspapers Inc., CNPA raised $12,500 to match a state appropriation. The state added another $8,000 to make a total of $33,000 available for the project.

The traditional turning of the first soil took place on a site between two other reconstructed landmarks in the living Gold Rush community — The Fallon House Theater and Eagle Cottage.

At ground breaking ceremonies, Jack Craemer, then CNPA president, of the Independent-Journal; Harvey C. McGee, publisher of the Sonora Daily Union Democrat, fund drive chairman, and Donald I. Segerstrom, of Sonora, credited with first proposing the reconstruction effort as a CNPA project.

Representing the state were Fred Jones, director, California Department of Parks and Recreation; State Sen. Stephen Teale of West Point; Orvel Johnson, reconstruction expert with the division of architecture; Buck Nelson, division of architecture supervisor at Columbia; Clyde Newlin of Stockton, district supervisor for beaches and parks; and Neal Power, Columbia park superintendent.

Craemer stressed the project's importance as recognition of California's colorful newspaper history.

"This reconstruction and the historic materials the building will house, will add to the heritage of our state and to the Gold Rush town as it stood when pioneers were coming in."

Wood said that completion of the building will be marked by a dedication ceremony.

Plans call for a two-story structure with the upper floor—at street level — housing the pioneer newspaper plant, authentic in design, equipment, and furnishings. Antique printing equipment will be displayed in a museum on the lower floor.

Policemen Need More Lessons

NEW YORK (AP)—Some New York cops could stand a few lessons from Sherlock Holmes.

Fifteen of them recently were invited to watch a new movie, "Ten Little Indians," based on the Agahta Christie mystery classic, and to try to guess who the murderer is. They marked their guesses on a card during a 60-second "whodunit break" just before the movie's climax.

The results: With two suspects to choose from as the murderer, eight of the cops guessed wrong.

LITTLE CAR, BIG JOB?

No, the owner of this little sports convertible isn't towing around that towering trailer that seemingly is hooked to the car's top. Dave Irwin, a Gary, Indiana electrician, working on a federal building project, took one look at the parked trailer used by the contractor for supplies and tool storage—and decided it makes a dandy garage for daytime hours. Jumbo Jets On Drawing Boards May Revolutionize Airlines

By ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Boeing 747 . . . Douglas DC10 . . . . Lockheed L500.

They are jetliners. They aren't flying yet and may never get farther than a drawing board. But if they ever get into the blue yonder, they could revolutionize commercial aviation.

They are the "jumbo jets"—monsters capable of carrying 350 to 900 passengers. That is a payload which to an airline would mean lower operating costs, and to a passenger lower fares.

Theoretically, a jet like the 747 or DC10 or L500 could carry a passenger across the country for $50 or across the Atlantic for $75. Today's Boeing 707's and DC8's break even when they're about 45 per cent full. The jumbos could make money flying with as little as 25 per cent of capacity.

At least two airlines, TWA and Pan American, are known to be seriously considering the purchase of king-size jets. Many factors will go into their decision, starting with the inherent disadvantages of such a huge plane. For example:

Loading from 350 to 900 passengers on a single flight presents mammoth problems in baggage handling, ticketing and central airport facilities such as lounge waiting space before boarding.

There could be passenger resistance to the "flying subway" accommodations. One of Boeing's experimental cabin configurations in the 747 calls for 10-abreast seating, five seats on each side of the aisle. Would passengers accept such crowding in return for lower fares?

There are some safety problems involved in a jet that could carry double or triple today's loads. The Federal Aviation Agency requires a maximum of two minutes for evacuating any airliner in an emergency. Could a 500-passenger jet be emptied in that time? Many experts doubt it. Boeing, in fact, is said to have abandoned plans to make the 747 a double-deck, two-level transport because of the difficulties of evacuating the top deck.

The cost of a "super-jet" will be about double that of present jets. The L500, which would be the civilian version of Lockheed's C5A military transport, would carry a price tag of about $16 million. An airline would have to weigh the lower operating costs of a jumbo against its probable less-frequent utilization.

How big a market is there for several daily transcontinental or transatlantic schedules using a 500-passenger jet?

The decision to build or to buy the monsters hinges largely on a choice between speed and economy. In other words, the supersonic transport vs the jumbo jet, which won't be any faster than today's jets.

It has been conceded that in the first years of supersonic operations, passengers will pay premium fares. Would a three-hour luxury trip across the Atlantic at extra fare be more attractive than a six-hour flight in a crowded plane for, say, only $75? Would a king-size subsonic jet divert business from the supersonics? Or vice-versa?

These are some of the questions the airlines are trying to answer before committing themselves to the concept of the "super-jet."

Some Drivers Don't Mind Few Drinks

LONDON (AP) — More than half of Britain's seven million drivers see nothing wrong in having "a drink or two" despite government propaganda tot he contrary, says an Automobile Assn. club report just issued.

The AA, which has more than three million members, reports that a survey shows that about 13 per cent of British drivers don't drink because they are abstainers and 37 per cent make a point of abstaining when driving.

Of those who do drink and drive, says the survey, a third estimate that three drinks is a safe consumption, one in 10 do not know and the remainder reckon that up to six drinks is reasonable.

Nearly half of all car owners consider that the "rule of three"—three half pints of beer or three single whiskies — is reasonable, one fifth think drivers should not drink at all.

Paris Double-Deckers

PARIS (AP) — Double-decker buses are coming back to Paris streets. Transport officials said the 115-passenger modern Imperials should be running by August. The first two-horse Paris Imperial appeared in 1866. The last ran between the Madeleine and the Bastille in 1906-07.

Whittler Pleases Crowd With Knack For Beauty

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—Woodcarver George Hartwig showed his unique set of carvings during a hobby show and attracted no little attention.

He carves unusual shapes and colorful pieces from the limbs of the diamond willow to make floor lamps, candlesticks and planters.

"The natural colors I bring out of this limb," he said, "will be burnt orange, brown and white."

Hartwig, a retired metalurgical welder, enhances his carvings by following the natural outlines in the grain and knots of the limbs to emphasize the knarred beauty of the wood.

While on a trip to Alaska, he discovered the diamond willow which has three colors in one piece of wood.

Canada To Lead Shipping Tonnage

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Canadian ships soon will be carrying more cargo on the Great Lakes than U.S. ships, says John M. Drewry, the chief counsel of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries.

Drewry told the Lake Carriers Association that Canada already is operating three times as many ships over 24,000 tons as the United States.

Scientist Peers Into Ants' Efficient Brains

LOS ANGELES — The brain of an ant, once described by Charles Dariwn as "one of the most marvelous atoms of matter in the world, perhaps more so than the brain of a man," is the focus of attention in a UCLA laboratory.

Darwin went on to say that "the wonderfully diversified instincts, mental powers and affections of ants are notorious, yet their cerebral ganglia (brains) are not so large as the quarter of a small pin's head."

This tiny brain is an efficient "computer," effectively processing the information the insect needs to find its way to and from its nest in its foraging activity for food, according to Dr. Stephen Bernstein, assistant professor of psychiatry in residence. Bernstein is studying a small ant, the "Formica rufa" at UCLA's Neuropsychiatric Institute under an award from the National Institutes of Health.

The small ants range up to several hundred yards from their nest in quest of food. They don't have the elaborate means of communicating the location of food that bees do, Bernstein notes, but they are nevertheless efficient in locating food and getting it back to the nest by the quickest route.

Because the ant brain isn't as complex as that of higher animals it may be a more effective tool for exploring the basic process of information handling, he adds.

Ant nests have been transferred from the Sierra Nevada and San Gabriel Mountains to the laboratory. Mazes of plastic tubing lead from the nest toward food sources. An effort has been made to correlate the size of the ant brain structures and the insect's efficiency in learning to run the maze.

In some of the ants, microscoping structures in the brain are destroyed to determine their role in processing information. These ants are identified by special daubs of paint.

Bernstein has also developed a technique for sectioning the tiny brain for microscopic study and mapping.

Britians Still Like Going For A Drive

LONDON (AP)—Despite jam-packed roads only one in 10 British motorists gets no pleasure at all out of driving, according to a report by the British Automobile Assn.

After a detailed survey over the last year, the AA says even the overwhelming majority of the motorists still claim a certain zest out of driving. Britain now has seven million drivers.

Dixie Residents Shun Memorial To Sherman

By HAMILTON GREGORY

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —A Civil War memorial to the Yankee most hated in the South, Gen. William T. Sherman, is a lonely, unvisited spot — except at night, when teen-agers gather for informal recreation.

Plans are in the works, however, for the rehabilitation of the 50-acre Sherman Reservation, which marks the place on Missionary Ridge where Gen. Sherman broke through Confederate lines, clearing the way for his unforgettable march through Georgia.

All but a small area is covered by foliage. The National Park Service says there are 4 cannons, 10 stone monuments, 33 cast iron markers and 9 bronze tablets on the reservation.

John O. Cook, superintendent of the Chickamauga-Chattanooga National Military Park—of which the Sherman Reservation is a part—says the Interior Department has a long-range goal of establishing a contact station and a full-time ranger at the place within five years.

A group of Chattanooga businessmen, headed by Owen Smith, has been urging such a project.

Smith described the park as "a jungle, a hangout at night for teen-agers.... I would be willing to estimate there have not been as many as 50 tourists on the reservation for the past 20 or 30 years."

Sherman's soldiers, so eager they charged up Missionary Ridge without waiting for orders, helped to break the Confederacy's natural defense line in one of the most crucial battles of the war.

Even in war, the scenery on Missionary Ridge was beautiful. In describing the battle later, Sherman wrote that despite the carnage and noise he stopped "to look across the vast field of battle to admire its sublimity."

Computer Program May Help Cut Loss Of Donated Blood

BERKELEY — Thousands of pints of blood may be saved by U.S. hospitals each year as a result of a computer program devised by a young engineering professor on the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

The computer program—which essentially provides a rapid inventory system—has already cut losses from outdated blood by 50 per cent at a local blood bank.

The system is the creation of Willard H. Wattenburg, assistant professor of electrical engineering. His computer is the giant Lockheed computer in Sunnyvale.

The problem of substantial losses of donated blood resulting from overlong storage was brought to Wattenburg's attention by two physicians on the staff of Alta Bates Hospital in Berkeley, Dr. Dexter N. Richards Jr. and Dr. David Singman.

They pointed out that blood stored for more than 21 days is no longer usable for transfusions.

Keeping track of the ages and types of whole blood for transfusions is a complex and time-consuming process, and under traditional control procedures, much of it may become outdated before it can be used. A central record is kept at the blood bank, but the blood is stored in the area's hospitals.

Even a group of hospitals in a relatively small area, such as the 28 hospitals in the two counties surrounding Berkeley, has a major blood inventory problem, since there are several blood-types, each of which may be either Rh positive or Rh negative. Moreover, individually cross-matched pints of blood are reserved for each patient who may need transfusions.

Wattenburg, along with colleagues at Lockheed, tailored a computer program to meet the specific needs of the Blood Bank of the Alameda-Contra Costa Medical Assn.

By establishing a more efficient and faster means of keeping tabs on the available blood in the area, the new program has reduced outdated blood losses by half. In the two-county area alone, the savings amount to more than 1,000 pints yearly.

"From the dollar standpoint, this saving could pay for the normal operation at many blood banks," said Wattenburg. "But more important than dollars is the availability of fresher blood to the patients."

Lockheed has offered the use of its giant computer to any blood bank in the nation. The unique design of the program will enable the company to provide service over ordinary telephone lines for even the largest cities in minutes.

How Much Blood Can An Individual Lose?

NEW YORK (UPI) —Most people can lose up to two-fifths of their blood and not die, says the Encyclopedia Americana.

Since one's blood weight represents about one-tenth to one-twelfth of the total body weight, a person weighing 150 pounds could lose up to three quarts of blood and still survive with a transfusion.

Not All Minorities Bow To Problems

BERKELEY—Does an ethnic group faced with prejudice, intolerance and the denial of its elementary rights necessarily become a "problem minority"?

Not in the case of the Japanese Americans, according to William Petersen, professor of sociology on the Berkeley campus of the University of California, and author of "The Politics of Population."

"The history of Japanese Americans challenges all our generalizations about ethnic minorities," says Dr. Petersen, "and for this reason alone deserves far more attention than it has been given.

"Barely more than 20 years after the end of the wartime internment camps, this is a minority that has risen above even prejudiced criticism. By any criterion of good citizenship that we choose, the Japanese Americans are better than any other group in our society. They have established this remarkable record, moreover, by their own almost totally unaided effort."

Automobile Tires No Longer In Black

Radio Helps Scientists Map Their Universe

BERKELEY — "We are beginning to outline and define some of the structural features of our own galactic system—the Milky Way—and to learn more about the larger aspects of the system than anyone would have dreamed possible only 15 years ago."

So reports Harold F. Weaver, director of the Radio Astronomy Laboratory and professor of astronomy on the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

The use of radiation from hydrogen as a tool to study the structural properties of the galactic system is just 15 years old this year, Weaver notes.

"The first and largest aspect of the structure of the Milky Way galaxy," says the distinguished radio astronomer, "is that it is a spiral system, and we are now able to locate moderately well the run of the spiral arms throughout the entire extent of the galactic system."

Nutty Package Ripped Open

LYNDON, Ky. (AP)—Obviously annoyed, a women entered the post office to complain about the mishandling of a package sent to her home.

The package, containing assorted nuts, had been ripped apart and the contents spilled outside the mail box.

After an investigation, the post office reported the following:

The box was intact when left at her home but a squirrel, on the prowl for winter provisions, entered the mail box and helped himself.

It Was Long Road To Master's Degree

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Robert W. Schonert estimates she drove 27,000 miles for the sake of acquiring a master's degree.

She has been commuting from home to the University of Illinois, Champaign, for three years, from one to six times a week.

New Bridge Has Jam Of Traffic, Not Open

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — The new bridge was made impassable by a traffic jam before it was even officially dedicated.

Officials opened the new Braga Memorial Bridge across the Taunton River, then piled into cars for the ceremonial drive across. An antique auto at the head of the parade stalled at an approach, delaying the motorcade for about 15 minutes.

Spain Tourism Gains

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Tourists visiting Spain in March numbered 23 per cent over the same month in 1965, the Cabinet announced. The March 1966 total, it said, was 738,372.

At A Certain Age, It Doesn't Matter

NEW DELHI (AP)—Laughter erupted in Parliament when a member addressed speaker Hukam Singh as "madam."

Silencing the laughter, the 71-year-old Singh, a sikh who wears a full beard and turban, declared: "A man of my age does not feel concerned about such things."

Relations Among Top Religious Groups

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Protestant church leader says relations among America's major religious groups have never been better.

Dr. Sterling W. Brown, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, said, however, that "religious groups should mobilize their full resources to extend full rights to Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Mexicans, Orientals and disadvantaged citizens."

ANDERSON GETS A NEW HOME

The heavyweight champ of all snakes born in the United States, an 18-foot python named Anderson, has taken up residence in a special display cage in the Bronx Zoo. He was moved there from Cranston, R.I., in a special insulated van, after a fond farewell from his original owner (above), music teacher Wayne N. Farr, who thinks Anderson's nature is gentle because he's always led a sheltered life. Scientists say other snakes in the U.S. are longer, but none heftier. (UPI Telephoto)

Man Is Modifying His Weather, Raising Temperature Slightly

LOS ANGELES — Man has been modifying his weather unintentionally for the past century, and greater changes are ahead as cities grow and supersonic planes whiz through the stratosphere.

Heavy burning of fuels, triggered by the industrial revolution, has increased the amount of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere by 10 to 15 per cent over the last 60 years, estimates Prof. Gordon J. F. MacDonald of UCLA.

The double effect, according to rough calculations, has been a slight rise of about four-tenths of a degree Fahrenheit in the surface temperature of the earth, accompanied by a drop in stratospheric temperatures of about four degrees.

In the next 60 years, such unplanned changes may develop into real problems, warns MacDonald. The youthful professor, chairman of the UCLA Department of Planetary and Space Science, recently completed a two-year review of weather and climate modification as chairman of a National Academy of Science panel.

He cites three man-made developments which are likely to affect the heat balance and dynamics of the atmosphere in the next decades.

1. Increased burning of fossil fuels throughout the world.

2. Growing urbanization. Cities are known to have slightly higher temperatures and rainfall than surrounding countrysides, although the primary cause is still unknown.

3. Pollution through rocket and supersonic transport flights, spewing exhaust chemicals into the atmosphere.

"About 400 supersonic aircraft flying four flights a day on intercontinental routes can be shown to affect surface temperature on the same level as adding carbon dioxide to the atmosphere," says MacDonald. "We can thus tentatively expect about a four-tenth degree increase in the average surface temperature if SST's are put into large-scale operation."

Model's Slacks Unseen In Court

NEW YORK (AP) — When fashion model Phyllis Jaffe appeared in a Manhattan traffic court, the court attendants winked at each other.

But Judge Evelyn Richman, who believes women who appear in court should be properly attired, didn't even raise an eyebrow. Apparently all she saw was a pair of trim legs under a blue fox coat.

Forewarned, Miss Jaffe, 24, had rolled up her heavy slacks above the knee — and held them in place with rubber bands.

Filipino Optimistic On Stopping Commies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jesus Vargas, Filipino secretary-general of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, says he is optimistic that allied nations can halt the thrust of communism in Asia.

Vargas, who is on his first visit to the United States, said "the efforts being made by the United States ought to be fully appreciated — particularly by Asians and generally by the free world."

Sewer Lid Art Shows City's Unrealized Design At Feet

By BOIS BOSKOVIC

BELGRADE (AP) — It had to happen: first pop art, then op art, now sewer-top art.

The pioneer is Lillian Petrovic, a 23-year-old sloe-eyed brunette who finds beauty in manhole covers.

She searches the streets of Belgrade by night, when traffic is down to a minimum, armed with paper, roller and a bucket of black paint. When she spots a good sewer lid she lathers it with paint, slaps on paper and rolls off a printed impression.

Lillion regrads the result as a "very spontaneous graphic art" capturing the essence of a functional aspect of city life. She finds that manhole covers are different in character and different in every city.

"If I ever have the means I will go to cities around the world to make paintings of their sewer covers," she vows. "I would like to go to Paris, London, Moscow, New York and Tokyo. Later I would donate the pictures to the United Nations to make an exhibition."

At first Lillian's nocturnal prowlings in search of subjects caused some confusion among the policemen and the occasional passer-by who happened to see her on the darkened streets.

But Belgrade, always more receptive to modern art than other Communist capitals, takes her in stride now and is rather proud of her.

Lillian studied at Rome's Art Academy for two years.

"I got the idea for sewer art four years ago. But I could not decide how to realize it. Last year in Rome I intended to start with Rome sewer covers. However I changed my mind. I wanted to start in Belgrade where the idea first came to me.

"The sewer covers are functional," she says. "In my own way I am giving people the opportunity to discover marks of their city which they never note."

Adams Descendant To Seek Senate Seat

BOSTON (AP) —Thomas B. Adams, a descendant of the presidential Adams family, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Adams, a newcomer to politics is a retired business man, and a noted author and lecturer. He said he agreed to become a candidate if friends could raise $100,000 for a campaign. They did.

Catholic Leader Says Needn't Prolong Pain

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — The physicians and the patient are not morally bound to prolong a life of excessive pain through extraordinary means, says the executive director of the Catholic Hospital Association.

"When death is imminent and inevitable," said the Rev. John Flanagan of St. Louis, Mo., "it is neither scientific nor humane protract the life of a patient."

Church Press Chief

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The Rev. Alfred P. Klausler has been named full-time executive secretary of the Associated Church Press.

TVA Chief Quits Job To Try Campus Care

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP) — Arnold R. Jones, director of the Tennessee Valley Authority, says he is leaving the government agency to become a college teacher.

He said he plans to join the faculty at the University of South Florida at Tampa.

'WOMEN OF RUINS'

A monument has been raised in West Berlin to the women who worked after World War II using picks and shovels, lugging bricks to clear away ruins of what had been buildings. The monument was financed by a club of the women, called "truemmerfrauen" (women of the ruins).

Schools Report Litter Problem

NEW YORK (UPI) — Schools have a litter problem, too.

Keep America Beautiful (KAB) sampled a cross-section of schools nationwide to determine if school children are litterbugs.

The national anti-litter organization got an affirmative answer and at the same time found that the young scholars have well defined litter habits.

The most littered spots at school, the survey showed, are playgrounds, washrooms, and sidewalks. Lunchrooms and locker rooms are runners up. The school room itself isn't exempt.

KAB recommends that schools take on anti-litter programs. The survey showed that schools with good anti-litter programs don't have serious litter problems.

50-Mile Jaunt In Nine Hours

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Exercise in moderation is one thing but then there's a man named Jack Cory.

A 65-year-old former marathon runner, he ran 50 miles yesterday—from East St. Louis to Waterloo, Ill., and back—in nine hours and 22 minutes.

Cory, treasurer and manager of a credit union, ran the same distance three years ago in subzero weather in 10 hours and 20 minutes.

Physicians' Numbers Increasing In U.S.

CHICAGO (AP) — The number of physicians per capita in the United States is increasing, the American Medical Association says.

At the end of 1965 there was one physician for every 681 persons, compared with one for each 737 persons in 1960, the AMA said.

Many Of Today's Toys Stifle The Imagination

SAN FRANCISCO—A modern child's dream toy is more likely to be the product of the country's top technologists and advertisers than a creation of the child's world of fantasy.

"Our children are being brainwashed to demand gimmicky toys," says Dr. John I. Langdell, assistant clinical professor of physchiatry at the University of California San Francisco Mediical Center.

The child psychiatrist notes that many of today's toys tend to stifle the imagination instead of stimulating creativity, leaving the child with nothing to do after he has "pushed the button."

Although there is a controversy regarding the effects of toys on children, Dr. Langdell feels that children who have simpler toys are more likely to become creative adults.

Trinidad Is Becoming A Teen-Age Society

SAN FRANCISCO—Trinidad, the Caribbean island famous for steel bands and calypso, is becoming—literally a teen-age society.

The population of this newly independent nation will soon approach an average age of only 15—about half that of the United States—according to Dr. Jerold Lowenstein, Assistant Clinical Professor of Medicine, University of California Medical Center, who recently toured the island with a group of UC students.

For example, Trinidad recently introduced universally secondary school education. "This means that half the population of 800,000 will be going to school instead of contributing to the economy," Dr. Lowenstein, Assistant Clinical Professor of Medicine, said.

The economy, which does not show it at present, cannot help but feel the strain when this happens. "Trinidad has one of the highest birth rates in the world," he commented.

Missourians Ship Goods To Viet Nam

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP)—More than 1,000 pounds of candy, clothes, soap and toiletries have been shipped from here to South Viet Nam.

The goods were requested by a resident of Cape Girardeau, Navy Yeoman Norman Golden, stationed near Da Nang, for the 1,300 residents of My Thi.

Leaky Faucet Can Be Costly To Homeowner

DUBUQUE, Iowa (UPI) — "Little drops of water"—wasted—can make a might ocean, indeed.

The usual leaky faucet will average between 30 and 60 drops per minute—an average waste of 80 gallons a month, or 960 gallons annually, according to researchers for the A. Y. McDonald Mfg. Co., makers of products for the plumbing industry.

And, if the faucet is leaking hot water, in addition to the water waste, the homeowner is footing a cost of $1 a month for having heated it.

McDonald found that, along with leaky faucets, leaky underground pipes are the biggest wasters. In the average underground water supply pipe, a hole only one-sixteenth inch in diameter will waste 970 gallons daily. Should the hole be one-eighth inch, the daily loss will be 3,600 gallons—enough to fill the daily water needs of 60 persons.

Plastic Builds Body

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) —One of the miracles of modern plastics is its use as a body rebuilding material. Sutured over wounds in the body wall, tissues interlace a plastic called Marlex Mesh like vines and form a new wall so strong that it repairs even massive hernias. The plastic is a development of Phillips Petroleum Company.

Baboon Finds A Meal In Hamper Inside Car

JOHANNSEBURG, South Africa (AP) — When you drive through a game park in Africa, it's a good idea to keep your car windows up and the doors locked.

Otherwise you're likely to find your self with a baboon sitting on your lap eating your lunch.

This happened recently to two women who stopped near a river in South Africa's Kruger National Park game reserve to see if they could sight any game.

Before they knew what was happening a large baboon appeared from the bush and climbed into the front seat.

"This huge and horrible baboon jumped on to my lap, then on to my sister's lap," said Miss Jeanette Kardux. "Then he noticed a bag of oranges in the back of the car and climbed over my sister's 20-month-old baby, asleep on the back seat, to get at them.

"When he couldn't pull the oranges out of the bag he returned to the front seat and got into our food hamper."

The two women grabbed the baby and fled. The baboon, taking its time, finished off the food in the hamper, stole a packet of biscuits (cookies) and then disappeared into the bush.

Next day the two women returned to the same spot. The baboon, remembering his feast, made a beeline for their car and tried all the door handles. But the women had learned their lesson. The doors were securely locked and the windows up.

Top Pupils Not Always Happy

CHICAGO (UPI) — You might think academically successful students like school better than their less successful friends.

But that's not the case, accoring to two University of Chicago educators who say that a study they undertook shows that success in the classroom and satisfaction with school are not linked. Philip W. Jackso and Henriette M. Lahaderne found that teachers tend to believe their successful students like school. But the students themselves—in this case, sixth graders—give different answers.

Jackson and Lahaderne suggest that a student who likes school and does well may have his enthusiasm bridled because he runs the risk of being called a "teacher's pet" by his fellow students.

Prisoners Give Blood For Time

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP) — A donation of a pint of blood each has earned 213 male prisoners at the adult correctional institutions a total reduction of 1,065 days in their sentences.

The prisoners gave the blood under a 1965 state law which gives a five-day sentence reduction for each pint donated. This was the third time the prisoners had donated since the law was passed, a prison official said.

Statue Inspires Girls To Passionate Kisses

RAVENNA, Italy (AP) — The passionate kisses of modern women were proving ruinous for a goodlooking man who lived more than four centuries ago.

It got so bad that authorities of the Fine Arts Institute at Ravenna had to rope off the white marble statue of Guidarello Guidarelli to keep off swarms of women wanting to kiss it.

Everything else had failed. For a while the institute tried covering the handsome stone face with a glass box. It soon became so heavily covered with lipstick that the face was hidden from view.

Guidarelli was a warrior in Cesare Borgia's armies. But the legend of his stony allure didn't begin until 1937. That year the Ravenna Institute sent the statue to Paris for display in an international exhibition.

When the statue, depicting Guidarelli reclining in full armor with helmet visor open, was returned, its face bore the traces of lipstick.

Word got around that hundreds of girls and women at the Paris exposition had kissed the statue.

Then occurred an episode that put the seal on the statue's fame. An American woman visiting Ravenna came to the Institute and spent some time near the statue.

Agide Poggiali, custodian of the Institute, recalls:

"A month later that American woman, whose name I don't remember, sent me a letter saying that she was getting married, thanks to Guidarello who had brought her good luck. From then on the Institute was a kind of Mecca for thousands of Italian and foreign women."

They came here with the same aim: to kiss Guidarello.

But so much kissing began to damage the stone face. After the attempt to protect the face with glass failed, Institute officials two years ago attached a heavy cord to four columns around the statue to keep the women out of kissing distance.

Guidarello came to a nonheroic end in 1501. He and Paolo Orsini, another warrior serving Cesare Borgia, clashed because they both wanted to wear the same rich gold embroidered shirt to a ball. In the scuffle Orsini stabbed Guidarello to death.

Orsini was beheaded on orders from Cesare Borgia.

Guidarello's widow, Benedetta del Sale, ordered Sculptor Tullio Lombardi to make a statue of her slain husband.

The Gentlemen Must Be Really Flattered

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — Housewives here formed an organization called "Women Against High Prices Committee."

The few men who joined, reports Mutual Broadcasting System, have been listed as "honorary women."

MONTGOMERY WARD

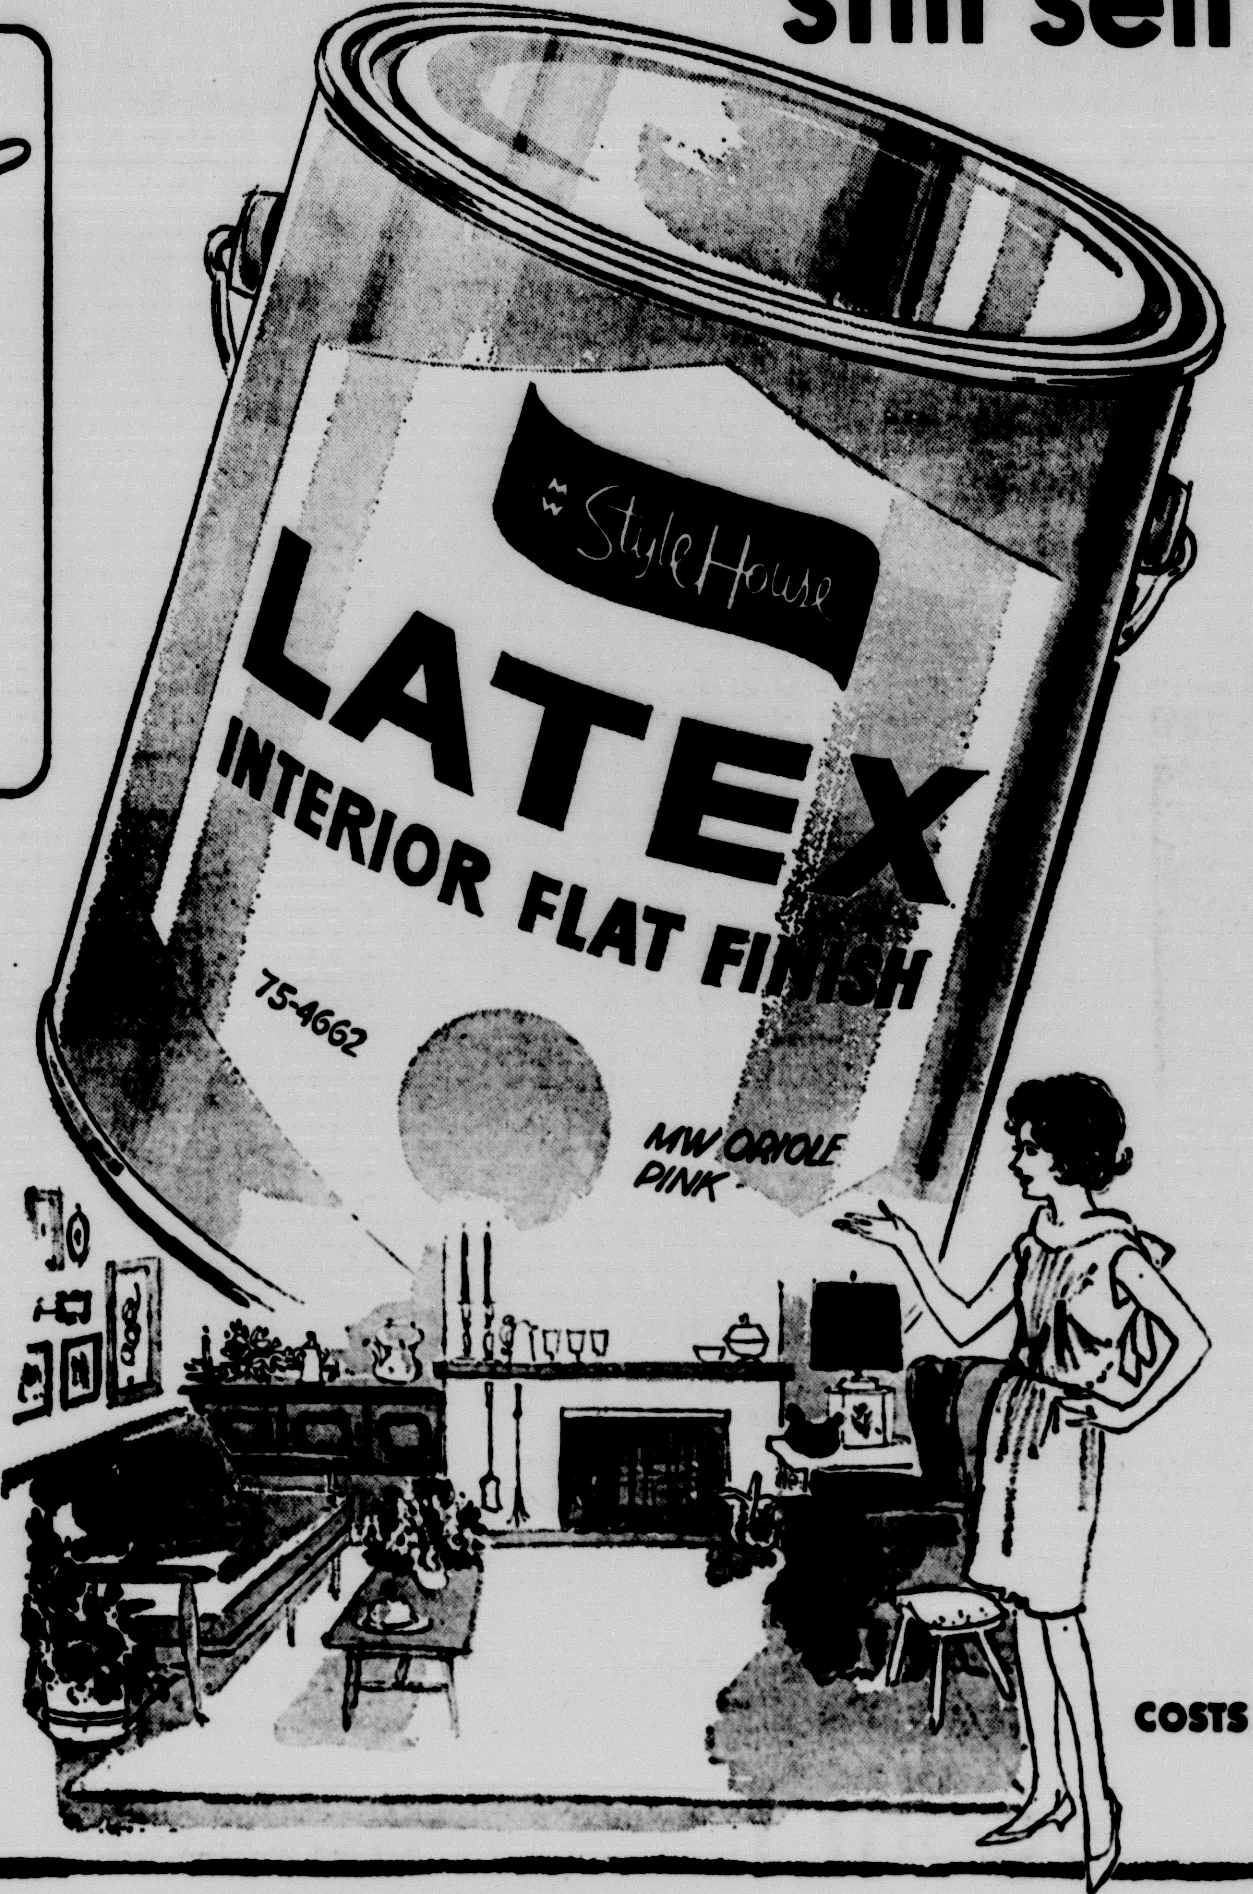
Here's how we can put more quality paint in the can and still sell it for only...

2^{66} PER GALLON



Paint is like a doctor's prescription— composed of a number of ingredients, each intended to perform a specific job. Some give the paint hiding power, color stability, washability, adhesion. These are the quality ingredients—the ones that work for you! There are other ingredients—they work for the paint. They give it body, thickness, liquidity. Wards gives you more of the ingredients that work for you, the quality ingredients.

How can we afford to give you more quality for your money? Well, there's a lot more room in the can for quality when the middleman's profits are gone . . . and Wards eliminates them. We formulate the paint ourselves, building in from the start the features you've asked for.

We manufacture and test the paint in our four giant factories across the country. We distribute and sell it ourselves, thus removing the middleman's profit. The extra money goes where it belongs . . . into the paint.

This extra quality means more "real" paint, better paint for lower prices. For instance, our economy interior latex. It glides onto walls smoothly, odorlessly and then dries in just 30 minutes to a soft, washable matte finish. Find out today what extra quality looks like on your walls . . . try Wards interior latex at this special price!

WOULD YOU PUT ANY OTHER PAINT THAT COSTS SO LITTLE ON YOUR LIVING ROOM WALLS?

Did You Know?

Skilled chemists develop new, advanced products in Wards own modern paint factories. For example, they have developed a process in which alkyd oil is added to an acrylic latex base to produce Acrylic Latex 401—the only paint we know of that promises 1-coat coverage over any previously painted chalking surface—without priming! 401—an example of Wards continual quest to develop the best, through research . . . then better it.
